WASHINGTON—Sept. 17.—The census bureau today issued statistics giving the population of the following cities:

Holyoke, Mass., has 57,730 people, an increase of 12,018 or 26.3 per cent. as compared with 45,712 in 1900.

Lowell, Mass., has 106,294 people, an increase of 11,325, or 11.9 per cent. as compared with 94,969 in 1900.

Pittsfield, Mass., has 21,121 people, an increase of 10,315 or 47.6 per cent. as compared with 21,766 in 1900.

New Orleans has 330,075 people, an increase of 51,871 or 18.3 per cent. as compared with 287,104 in 1900.

TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

Alone Responsible

The Board Discovers a Typhoid Carrier Employed in the Milk Business and Has Him Discharged

Four new cases of typhoid fever were reported at the office of the board of health today. This brings the total up to 69, and the board has traced 43 of the 69 cases to the milk delivered on one milk route.

Some one raised the alarm that the water was infected and the board of health and the water department were queried relative to the report and were asked if there was any foundation in fact for it.

From Milk to Water

Dr. Huntress was asked what he thought about it. "In the present case," said Dr. Huntress, "there is nothing that points to the water. The water was responsible for it. It would not be able to connect more than 60 per cent. of the total number of cases to one milk route. I am not surprised, however, that the question has been asked, but if 100,000 people were drinking typhoid water the total number of cases would be more than 60, and the board of health would not be able to connect 60 per cent. of them to one milk route."

said the water is analyzed every few weeks and the last examination, which was only a few days ago, showed that the water maintained its usual purity. "There is nothing the matter with the water," he said.

A Typhoid Carrier

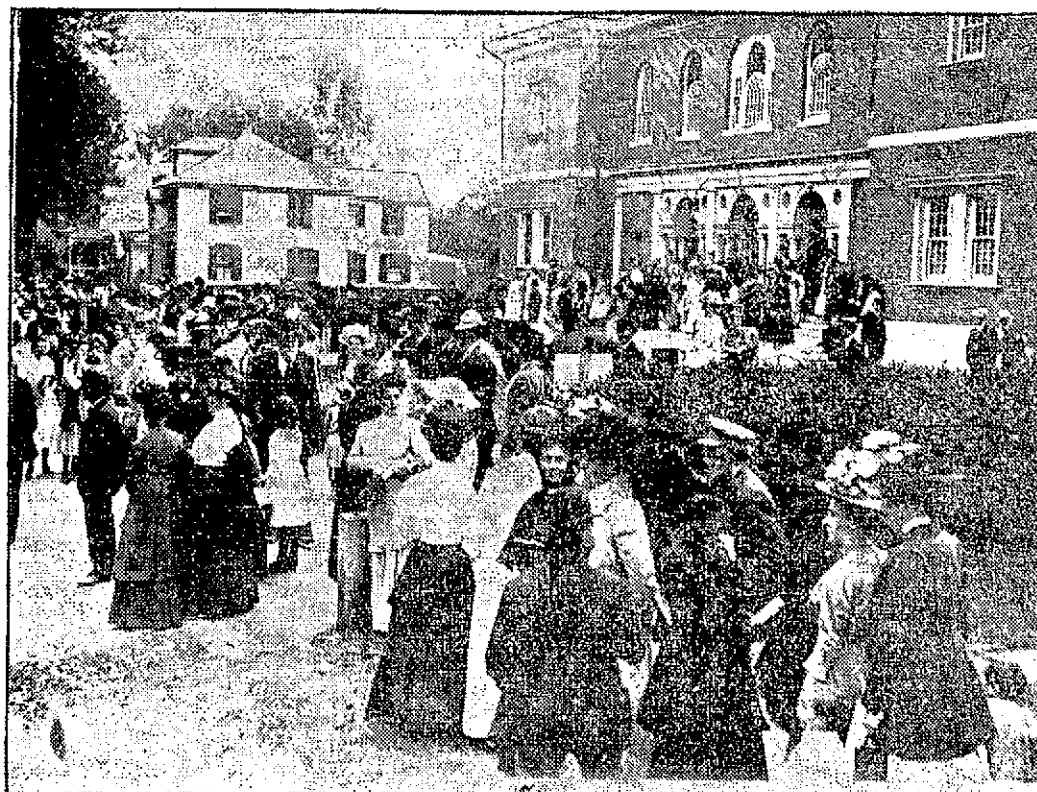

The board of health has discovered a typhoid carrier: a man who shows no symptoms of the disease but in whose blood the germ lurks. In discussing this particular man, today, a doctor stated that the case was not an unusual one. "It was not so very long ago," he said, "that you read in the papers about a girl who carried typhoid fever from place to place. Everywhere she went the disease would show itself and, after the story had been told the doctors got together and decided that she was a typhoid carrier. She showed no symptoms of the disease at all, but when it came to a test of her blood the germ was found there."

"I presume that the milkman's case is a similar one. A blood test has been made and it proved positive. The man does not show any symptoms of the disease, but it is in his blood just the same, and he ought not to be allowed to engage in a way in the milk business."

Dr. Huntress said today that the board would not allow the man to engage in the milk business in any capacity and the man has been so warned. He called at the office of the board yesterday and registered a kick because the board had ruled him out of the milk business. He was told that because of the blood test the board would have to stick to its decision and he was advised to find some other line of business.

VIEW OF THE CROWD IN FRONT OF THE TOWN HALL

At Billerica a Great Success—The Dinner, Ball and Prize Winners

The annual fair of the Middlesex North Agricultural society and Billerica Grange which came to a close last night proved to be one of the most successful events ever held in this vicinity. While in years past the attendances have been larger than they were this year the fair just closed, however, was rather out of the ordinary inasmuch as it was a financial success.

From 10:30 o'clock in the morning until the close of the ball last night there was something going on all the time.

The first thing on the program was the trial of horses at 10:30 o'clock.

These tests were held in River street where carts and drags filled with stones were in readiness and the first prize was won by the heavy draught horses owned by the town of Billerica. Second prize went to T. G. Messer's horses, also, of Billerica, and third to the team driven by T. C. D. Tutin of the same town.

There was also a contest for light teams and single horses which resulted as follows:

Light team—Wilson, Chelmsford. First: Kimball, second: Tutin, third: Single hitch—Upton, first: Tutin, second.

One of the features of the day was the farmers' dinner which was served at noon to over 500 people. There were three dining rooms, one in the town hall, one in the Odd Fellows hall and the third in the vestry of the Unitarian church.

President George W. Trail of the society presided at the after-dinner speeches.

Senator Frank P. Bennett of Saugus gave a very interesting speech as did Rev. Mr. Williams of North Billerica. The other speakers were Rev. S. W. Cummings of Lowell; Rev. J. Harold Dale of Billerica; Senator Joseph H.

THE HIGH SCHOOL

Attendance This Year 1229—Examination for Evening Teachers

Yesterday the number of pupils at the High school numbered 1229 as against 1170 on the corresponding day last year. There are 116 non-resident scholars this year as against 99 last year, and if all of the 116 should remain the whole year the city would receive nearly $7000. There are three terms, $20 a term or $60 a year.

Following are the places that the non-resident pupils come from: Draught 39, Tewksbury 25, Tyngsboro 17, North Chelmsford 4, Westford 3, Collinsville 9, West Chelmsford 2, Billerica 1, Wameet 4, Dunstable 3, Chelmsford Centre 1, North Tewksbury 4, East Draught 2.

War Veteran Lost His Money on Jeffries

Alvin C. Lovering, an old pensioner, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on two counts of illegally removing baggage from boarding houses in this city and admitted to the court that one of the reasons why he could not pay his bills was because he had bet all the money he had on Jeffries when the latter fought Johnson in Reno and because Jeffries failed to come back he lost his roll.

Elizabeth B. Ricard, who conducts a boarding house at 34 Webster street, said that Lovering and his wife board at her house and ran up a bill of about $75 and that they left her place on June 11th and took everything that belonged to them. Later they went to the boarding house at 42 Tyler street conducted by Annie Coleman and after running up a bill of $8 left that place. Lovering admitted that he was indebted to the two women and promised to liquidate his indebtedness if the court would give him a chance to do so. Judge Hadley placed the matter in the hands of the probation officer.

Nelle Alberta Huntley of Draught was found guilty of being a stubborn child and was sentenced to the women's prison at Sherborn.

Charles McGillion, a parole man from the state farm, will be returned to that institution. There was one drunken offender who was fined $2.

FUNERAL NOTICES

GUYTON—Miss Margaret T. Guyton, aged 69 years, an old and much respected resident of St. Patrick's parish, died last night at her home, No. 159 Mammoth road. She leaves one brother, Patrick H. Guyton. The funeral will take place Monday morning at 8 o'clock from the house and at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem will be sung at St. Patrick's church. Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

SHIELDS—The funeral of the late James Shields will take place Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from his late home, No. 106 Coburn street. Monday morning at 8 o'clock there will be a high mass of requiem for the eternal repose of his soul at St. Michael's church. Friends invited. Funeral in charge of undertaker James W. McKenna.

MGR. BALDOMERO ARRESTED

LISBON, Sept. 17.—According to today's papers, Monsignor Baldomero, superior of the Aldeia Ponte friars, was arrested as he was entering the Spanish monastery. The monastery was recently closed by an imperial decree and its occupants were expelled and threatened with arrest if they returned to the country.

SHERIFF ARRESTED

ABERDEEN, S. D., Sept. 17.—Sheriff Perry of Corson county was arrested yesterday by T. E. Brents, the United States Indian officer, on a charge of furnishing Indians on the Standing Rock reservation with intoxicating liquor, taking them before a mock court and having them "fined" for being drunk. Perry is in jail in default of $1000 bail.

FUNERALS

BRODERICK—The funeral of Mary Broderick took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the undertaking rooms of John P. Rogers, 445 Gorham street. Burial was in the Edison cemetery.

KANE—The remains of Thomas Kane were consigned to their final resting place in the Catholic cemetery this morning. The little boy, who was just beginning to be a comfort to his mother and a ray of sunshine to the home, will be greatly missed by the bereaved parent. The esteem in which the boy was held by all who knew him was evidenced by the large number of people who visited the house since his death and also the large attendance at the funeral this morning.

The funeral took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from the home of his mother, 6 Griffin street, and proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where at 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. James T. McDermott, O. M. I. The choir rendered the Gregorian mass. At the offertory "Pie Jesu" was rendered by Mrs. Adelaide A. Muldoon and as the body was being borne from the church "De Profundis" was rendered by the sanctuary choir. The choir was under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide A. Muldoon and she also presided at the organ.

There was a profusion of beautiful and appropriate floral offerings, the following being the most prominent: large pillow of roses, carnations and asters with the inscription "Our Darling," from the mother and brother; spray of white asters from the grandniece, Mrs. Bridget Kane; spray of pink and white asters with ribbon inscribed "Cousin," Gleason family; spray of white asters with white ribbon with the inscription "Cousin," Bert and Thos. Kane; spray of white asters with pink ribbon inscribed "At Rest," from the aunt, Miss Lizzie Angelo; spray of pink carnations from Aunt Miss Ella Angelo; mound of roses, asters and ferns with the inscription "Cousin," from O'Neill family; spray of white asters and maidenhair ferns, Mr. and Mrs. Cavanaugh; spray of white asters, Miss Minnie Connors; spray of pink asters, Mr. Fred Pidgeon; spray of chrysanthemums and maidenhair ferns from the Misses Gladys and Helen Freeman; spray of pink and white asters, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sharkey; spray of white asters from a friend. There were several other sprays from friends.

The casket was borne from the church to the house by the following bearers: John Kennedy, James Kennedy, Daniel Sullivan, Harold McKenney, William McMahon and Frederick Gleason. The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's cemetery, burial being in the family lot where the last sad rites of the Catholic church were read at the grave by Rev. James T. McDermott, O. M. I. The funeral was largely attended and under the direction of undertakers Higgins Bros.

DEATHS

GUYTON—Miss Margaret T. Guyton, a domestic employed at 11 Fourth avenue, dropped dead at the residence of her employers last night. Her death came entirely unexpected, as she was apparently in fairly good health.

Dr. A. G. Dennett of Yarmouth avenue was hastily called and pronounced the death due to apoplexy. Medical Examiner Briggs was notified and the usual procedure in such cases was gone through.

Miss Guyton was 69 years old and her home was at 159 Mammoth road. She leaves one brother, Patrick H. Guyton of this city.

HUNTER—Winfield S. Hunter, aged 63, died suddenly at his home, 12 Cambridge street, yesterday morning. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of death.

Mr. Hunter and his wife were preparing to visit relatives in Springfield and deceased was walking down stairs when he fell unconscious and died soon after. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ellen J. Hunter, and four children, Mrs. Irene Long of Springfield, Mrs. Edith Moore of Athol, and Arthur and Frank Hunter of the west.

Mr. Hunter was an old soldier, having served in Company E of the 33d Massachusetts regiment. WILLIAM—On Sept. 11, in Schenectady, N. Y., occurred the death of Mrs. Louisa Welch, whose death made her home the past few months. Mrs. Welch was the widow of the late Dr. Selim N. PRESIDENT TAFT

Says He is Ready to Take a Renomination

BEVERLY, Sept. 17.—The publication of a story in certain newspapers yesterday afternoon purporting to come from Beverly, and announcing that President Taft had decided to step aside as a presidential candidate in 1912 to make way for Col. Theodore Roosevelt, brought many inquiries yesterday. For a time an official denial was considered, but it was decided not to dignify the story, which is reported to have been without any foundation whatever, with a statement. It can be stated that there has been no change in President Taft's attitude toward a second term since he told a number of friends a few months ago that he would accept a second nomination if his party desired to tender it to him and if that portion of the American people represented by his party seemed to want him. The president, it is said, is not considering his chances for a second term one way or the other at this time. From the first he has said that he would devote himself to carrying out as nearly as possible the pledges of the platform on which he was elected for a four-year term. Mr. Taft, it is pointed out, does not know how to play politics, and he has been quoted as saying that he would not do so if he could. The fact that he has often in his speeches referred to the fact that he has only the remainder of his present term to serve, means, it is stated here, that Mr. Taft does not feel that he can nominate himself and that he will not make a political bid for the nomination. If at the end of his term his party feels he has been true to his trust and has carried out its pledges insofar as he possibly could, it no doubt would be very gratifying to the president to have his administration indorsed. That, he feels, is for the country and his party to decide, not himself. Beverly's busy season is about at an end. Sec. Norton left yesterday to pay a flying visit to his family. The president starts for Cincinnati Sunday night. Mr. Norton will join the party at New Haven. Grahame-White, the English aviator, called on the president at Burgess point yesterday afternoon.

SUNSETS SHINE

Held Successful Dancing Party Last Night

Associate hall was the scene last evening of a very pretty dancing party, the affair being the third annual social of the Sunset campers. That this organization has made many friends and attained wide popularity during its season was attested last evening, for when the affair started, one of the largest crowds that ever assembled in the hall was present. Though the crowd was large, dancing was quite comfortable and all present thoroughly enjoyed the program furnished.

The affair opened at 8 o'clock. A concert program was given by Kittredge's orchestra. At 8:30 o'clock dancing was started and continued until midnight.

JAMES FORSYTHE
Floor Director

When the strains of the last waltz had faded away all pronounced it a grand success and were loud in their praise for the officers who had charge of the affair.

James Burns acted as general manager and he filled the position in a most acceptable manner. He was ably assisted by the following:

NOT A CANDIDATE

LUCIUS TUTTLE WILL NOT RUN FOR PUBLIC OFFICE

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Lucius Tuttle, who has just retired from the presidency of the B. & M. railroad, last night told a reporter that he would induce him to enter any contest for a public office. This statement was made over the telephone from Mr. Tuttle's summer home at Magnolia.

Thursday a representative of the railroad unions in this state asked Mr. Tuttle to become a candidate for governor this fall. Mr. Tuttle's reply is as follows:

"I have carefully considered this matter and nothing would induce me to enter a contest for any public office, even if I knew in advance that I should be unanimously elected. I have no desire to enter politics in any way whatever."

UP TO THE CABINET

To Decide Whether Ballinger Will Remain or Not

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Whether Richard A. Ballinger's resignation as secretary of the interior will follow immediately upon the meeting of the cabinet September 26, to attend which he is now en route from Seattle, or whether he will retain his position indefinitely—at least until after the delivery to congress of reports of the committee which investigated his stewardship of the public domain—depends now on the attitude of his cabinet associates.

Mr. Ballinger is coming to Washington, his friends here insist, wholly unconscious of any act on his part either of commission or of omission for which he should be condemned, and has determined to force his chief and his official colleagues to be in effect his judges. If they concur in the view at present attributed to Mr. Taft that the accused secretary shall be sustained as an innocent and persecuted man, he will retain his position; if they fail so to back him up he will resign forthwith. That this, in substance, is Mr. Ballinger's present position, was learned here yesterday upon authority hardly to be questioned.

At the first meeting of the cabinet after the summer recess, Secretary of War Dickinson, the democratic member, will not have returned from the Philippines and will therefore be saved the embarrassment of participation in what is regarded largely as a problem of republican policy. The meeting is expected to last three days and the president expects to clear up a number of important matters; but it will surprise nobody here if the Ballinger case occupies a large part of the time.

Rumors have been constant and decidedly definite during the past few days that Mr. Ballinger's resignation would be one of the first developments of the cabinet meeting; but his friends, including his associates in the interior department, have refused to believe that he would retire "under fire," and have cited his oft-repeated declaration to the contrary, and the recent statement attributed to him, that he would resign only on the specific request of the president. But some of these yesterday admitted that they and the secretary were alive to the fact that the department must soon be situated unless this important branch of the public service is to become hopelessly demoralized.

Nobody here doubts that a majority—all but one of the republican members—of the so-called Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee will sustain Secretary Ballinger in their report to congress. The views of that majority, which consists of Senators Nelson, Sutherland, Root and Flint and Representative McCall of Massachusetts, Olmstead of Pennsylvania and Denby of Michigan to that effect are well known; but Secretary Ballinger and his partisans here were greatly disappointed that the absence of Senators Root and Flint from Minneapolis left the pro-Ballinger portion of the committee in the minority and permitted the democrats and the insurgent republican members to put forth reports condemning him, which for many weeks will stand before the country as the true findings of the investigating committee, whereas he had relied on the majority for a vindication.

It is this failure of the committee to take final action which, it is said, has determined Secretary Ballinger's course. It was said here yesterday by a close friend of the secretary that had the majority of the committee been ready to report at the Minneapolis meeting, he would then have tendered his resignation to the president and urged its acceptance on the ground that the dissensions to which he has been a party were detrimental to the public interest. When the committee failed at Minneapolis to take action as a whole, and when there was no quorum at the subsequent meeting in Chicago, it became apparent that no decision could be looked for practically for several months. This situation is said to have convinced Mr. Ballinger that his position, despite the continued support of the president, has become untenable. Unable as he sees it to resign as either vindicated or condemned by the committee, he has decided, it is said, to demand of his superior and his cabinet associates either vindication or condemnation. Several days ago it was announced that Secretary Ballinger would arrive here September 24. He left his home in Seattle Thursday, however, and will reach Washington several days in advance of the cabinet session. His purpose in thus expediting his return is believed to be to consult with his immediate subordinates and to gain their assistance in preparing for his demand from the cabinet of the "show down."

SUPREME COURT

Will Decide Matter of Closing Roads

The Lowell Automobile club is desirous of having the International Grand Prix race here next September, but before going ahead with plans is determined to find out how it stands relative to closing the roads for the race.

William H. Wilson, attorney for the club, is preparing to go before the supreme court relative to the right of the legislature to give the city of Lowell the privilege to close its roads during certain hours of certain days. Edward J. Tierney will appear against him, contending that the legislature has not the right to do this. Until some decision is handed down on the question the governors of the automobile club will take no definite action concerning the plan to have the most noted auto drivers in the world compete here.

AGED PASTOR

REV. DWIGHT SPENCER OF NORTH ADAMS IS DEAD

NORTH ADAMS, Sept. 17.—Rev. Dwight Spencer, 83 years old, died at the home of his son, Rev. J. H. Spencer of Church street, yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock after a short illness. He had been in his usual health up to about three weeks ago, when he began to fail, and because of his age the end came quickly.

He was a Baptist minister and his last charge was the Baptist church in Cheshire, to which place he went March 2, 1906. Mr. Spencer was born in Mansfield, Conn. His early life was passed on a farm and in teaching schools in the winter. In 1851 he moved to Brooklyn, where he worked for a year as a book-keeper and later entered business for himself.

In November, 1851, he married Miss

CHIMNEY FIRE

Called Firemen to West Fifth Street

An alarm from box 232 at 9:03 o'clock this morning summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze on the roof of a building at 32 West Fifth street belonging to Mrs. Jennie Cram. The fire was caused by a spark from a chimney and was speedily extinguished by the firemen. The damage was slight.

GRATEFUL MOTHER TELLS OF LITTLE SON'S SUFFERING

With Sores All Over Head, on Neck and Face, Cries Kept Parents Awake Through Long Nights. Hands in Gloves to Prevent Scratching. Used Cuticura Remedies. Cured in Less than Three Weeks.

As a grateful mother, I feel it my duty to thank you for the cure of my little son who was afflicted for about eight months with sores all over his head, back of his neck and nearly all his face. We tried all kinds of remedies without any relief. We even employed a good physician and I am sure he tried his very best to cure my poor suffering little boy. But, alas! instead of getting better he went for the worse. His head was literally covered with scabs and ugly sores and his cries kept us awake throughout the long night. I had to keep his hands in gloves to prevent his scratching his head, as he was doubtless suffering from a burning and itching sensation and was constantly trying to put his hands where it hurt.

At last when he was about three years old, we saw an advertisement of Cuticura and I decided to try the virtues of the Cuticura Remedies. I bought one cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. I used them according to directions and I am happy to tell you the little sufferer was cured in less than three weeks. This was over a year ago and now his head is covered with a fine growth of luxuriant hair. Strange to say, all those unsightly sores did not even leave a scar.

CLEVER RACING

Sarah Ann Patch Won Big Event at Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 17.—The last day of the Grand Circuit races at the New York state fair grounds brought out a big crowd and developed some good racing.

The 2.15 pace had four starters. The first heat proved easy for Sarah Ann Patch. There was a good fight for place. Direct Adair capturing it, Charles being third and Oakland Son fourth.

The second and final heat also went to Sarah Ann Patch. Although she held the field only by a length to the stretch, she drew away as she pleased, rearing the wire. Oakland Son captured the place, with Direct Adair third.

In the first heat of the 2.11 trot Melva J led around to the far turn; then there was a great race down the stretch. Bervado challenged Melva J, and then up came Justo with a rush. Melva J was first in the rush for the wire until the final moment, when Justo, by a magnificent spurt, passed her. Bervado was third.

The second heat was a hot one. Justo led all the way to the stretch and in the race to the wire Melva J, Bervado and Startle took after him. The finish was so close that it left the spectators in doubt as to all of the first four horses except Startle, who won. The judges gave second place to Melva J, third to Bervado and fourth to Justo.

Justo and Startle proceeded in the third heat to give one of the real sensations of the entire meet. After Startle had led to the stretch, with Justo a length back, McDonald challenged. The finish was so close that it left the spectators in doubt as to all of the first four horses except Startle, who won. The judges gave second place to Melva J, third to Bervado and fourth to Justo.

Locust Boy took the 2.11 pace, although dropping the second heat to Dr. Fox. Peter Dorsey won the 2.15 trot in straight heats. The summary:

WRESTLERS WHO ARE NOW THE SENSATION IN LONDON AND SCENE IN A RECENT CONTEST

SCENE AT BOX-LENN CONTEST

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The strenuous wrestling game seems to have taken a firm hold on the sporting public here. Several big matches have been held, and more are scheduled to take place. The promoters are making every effort to bring together all the crack mat artists of Europe before the holidays. George Hackenschmidt, the Russian Lion, and Ivan Padouny, the Russian Giant, are expected to arrive within the next few weeks. Among the stellar wrestling lights here are John Lemm, the Swiss champion; Zhyseo, the Polish champion; Iman Box, the Sultan of Turkey's favorite, and the Indian Gama. The latter is one of the best mat artists that have appeared here in some time. Among those he defeated are: Dr. Roller, one of America's best wrestlers, and John Lemm. His most recent bout was with Zhyseo. After wrestling with the latter for two hours and a half the referee stopped the contest owing to darkness. The pair are to meet again for a gold belt and a side bet of $1,500. Gama is so sure that he will defeat Zhyseo that he has announced he would set sail for America to seek a match with Frank Gotch, the world's champion. Gama claims that he has good backing for a contest with the title holder.

INDIANAPOLIS RACES
Sept. 17.—Minor Heir yesterday established a world's record for pacers without the aid of a wind shield by doing a mile in 1.58.

Minor Heir, by pacing in 1.58 on Monday, had apparently set an impossible mark to shoot at on the last day of the fair. A mile right at two mins. would have been considered phenomenal under the circumstances, for it was the third time inside of five days that he had been asked to pace to his limit. On Monday he paced in 1.59; on Wednesday under favorable conditions he won a race in 2.00, and yesterday he capped the climax by pacing the fastest mile in the history of the light harness horse.

Den Patch's time with a wind shield was 1.55, made in 1908. Minor Heir was accompanied by a runner. He went to the quarter in 20.4. The 2d quarter was at exactly the same notch, the half being reached in 59.3. The great crowd began to realize that Minor Heir stood an excellent chance to hit the mark he was shooting at. The question was, had the previous recent extreme efforts taken too much out of him? His answer to that was to step the fastest quarter of the mile, the third one, in 2 seconds, reaching the three-quarter pole in 1.28. Then came the great test of his stamina, the final two furlongs. Naturally it was the slowest of the four quarters, but it was at a two-minute gait, the distance being paced in 30 seconds, with the great crowd cheering the game station to the echo.

The racing program at the state fair was ended yesterday and with the exception of the free-for-all pace the winners made it straight heats. In this event Gift Line, a grand circuit winner, broke at the three-quarter and refused to pace, being distanced. The summary:

WANTS INJUNCTION

Frank Mallorey Holds Up North Chelmsford School

FRANK A. MALLORY.

JAMES P. DUNNIGAN.

Claims Money Was Illegally Appropriated at Recent Town Meeting and Objects to Proposed Site—Attempt Will be Made to Have Another Vote On the Matter

While there are more school children in North Chelmsford than there are school accommodations at the present time necessitating an overflow room in the fire house, which is said to be an improper place for school purposes, a big fight is on over the building of a new school house and although a special meeting of the voters of the town voted $17,500 for a new school on the McNally lot, action has been held up by Frank Mallorey, representing himself and other citizens, and there is a possibility of litigation before the school shall be built despite the great need of it. Mr. Mallorey and the others admit the need of more school room but they object primarily to the manner in which the recent town meeting was conducted and incidentally to the McNally lot as the site of the proposed new school.

The recent town meeting was presided over by Capt. J. Adams Bartlett, who has been moderator over every town meeting held in Chelmsford in the past 25 or 30 years and who is an authority on the laws governing town meetings, and this meeting voted to appropriate $300 for the purchase of the McNally lot for a site for the new school and $17,500 for the construction of a school building on that lot.

The day following the meeting Mr. Mallorey and a delegation of citizens of North Chelmsford employed as counsel Messrs. Tierney and Farley of this city to institute injunction proceedings restraining the town from proceeding with the work of building the school on the ground that the money was voted illegally; first because the moderator illegally refused to entertain a doubt of the vote on a motion to use the check lists in voting on the question of appropriating the money, and secondly because the vote itself where the money was appropriated was illegal by reason of the fact that several men voted who were not legal voters of Chelmsford but who reside in Carleton or some other neighboring town.

Mr. Tierney who has years of experience as moderator of town meetings in his native town of Westford before coming to Lowell, explained that injunction proceedings would not be in order under the circumstances but that the court might be petitioned to hold an inquisition on the methods employed at the meeting relative to their legality and suggested that the committee request the selectmen to call a special meeting and have the matter reconsidered and acted upon in a manner over which there could be no question. Meanwhile he notified the town treasurer, town clerk and chairman of the board of selectmen that a protest against the action of the meeting would be formally filed, and requesting them to so notify any persons of whom they intended to borrow the money thus appropriated. It is understood that those who protest against the action of the town meeting are now circulating a petition for another special town meeting for the purpose of rescinding the action of the previous meeting.

Mr. Mallorey further claims that when the vote was announced several men doubted the vote but that Moderator Bartlett refused to entertain the doubt and declared the motion lost. When the vote was taken a two-thirds vote being required to borrow money, the ayes had it by one vote and it is claimed that among those who voted for the appropriation were men not legal voters of the town who would have been discovered had the check lists been used.

Capt. Bartlett when seen by a reporter of The Sun today said: "I haven't heard of any protest and I can't see where there is ground for any. The statute says that if seven voters doubt a vote the moderator must entertain the doubt. When the motion to use check lists was put and I declared it carried some one cried: 'Doubt the vote.' I then announced: 'Do seven men doubt the vote? If so, they will rise.' Only one man stood up and hence I did not entertain the doubt.' To those who are familiar with political conditions in North Chelmsford an amusing significance is placed upon the fact that the man who made the motions to appropriate the money for the school on the McNally lot was ex-Secretary James P. Dunnigan, while the principal objector is Frank Mallorey, the two having been at loggerheads politically for some years.

GREAT SUCCESS
"TOM" MCCRANN HAS BEEN EXPERIMENTING WITH KITES
Mr. Thomas McCrann of Pleasant street, who has been spending his vacation in New Hampshire, has written to his friend Henry Dunham, that on Wednesday he made the ascent of Mt. Washington following the path always taken by the members of the Appalachian club. His purpose in making the trip was to experiment with kites, he having taken with him several different types of flyers. He writes that he has succeeded in building a kite that he expects will be accepted as the finest pattern ever presented. When he returns home he will make further experiments from Fort Hill park and Pine Hill. He is anxious to compete with the young O. M. I. cadet who is so successful in his experiments with kites and their construction.

PRESIDENT TAFT DISCOURAGED BY POLITICAL SMASHUP

President Taft, it appears, is seriously discouraged at the political outlook of the present hour. He has changed front in regard to the insurgents. He now states that during the last stages of congress he felt it his duty to withhold patronage from certain senators and congressmen. On that point he has changed his mind, and he now feels that it is his duty to treat all alike, whether they are insurgents or stand-patters.

It is reported on what seems to be reliable authority that President Taft is seriously considering whether he should withdraw from the contest for the presidency in 1912. He feels that ex-President Roosevelt is seeking the nomination, and he has decided that if this be so he will not in the slightest degree oppose the nomination of the ex-president. He will simply treat his campaign with silent contempt.

Whether President Taft be sincere in this declaration or not, it is likely to draw from Colonel Roosevelt some statement as to whether he is a candidate for the nomination for president.

He has not as yet made any declaration on that point, although his speeches and the general trend of his conduct since his arrival from Africa would justify the conclusion that he means to be a candidate in 1912.

The country is turning very seriously against Roosevelt, and the republican party holds him responsible for the present state of demoralization and the reverses with which it is threatened.

If Taft should retire from the field the contest would come between Colonel Roosevelt and some democratic candidate. In that case we believe the democrat would be triumphantly elected. The republican party after being smashed into fragments by Roosevelt is not likely to turn around and elect him.

In every way the situation can be viewed, the outlook is favorable to the democratic party if it exercises good judgment in the selection of candidates.

THE DEMOCRATIC OPPORTUNITY

The democratic party in some of the eastern states has shown excellent judgment in the selection of candidates. Maine led off with the nomination of Plaisted; Connecticut nominated a good man in Baldwin, and now New Jersey nominates for governor Princeton Goodrow Wilson of Princeton university.

Prof. Wilson is one of the most eminent men who could be selected, and his nomination reflects great credit upon the good judgment of the democratic party in New Jersey.

The democrats of Ohio in electing Harmon have set an example worthy emulation by other states. Harmon may be the next democratic candidate for president.

The state of Massachusetts should follow the example of the states mentioned in choosing an eminently strong and fit candidate for governor. That is the only way to score a sweeping victory on election day. The victory that has been won in Maine can be duplicated in Massachusetts, in Connecticut, in New Jersey and in Ohio by the simple method of nominating the right men and then fighting vigorously for their election.

EXAMPLE TO BE EMULATED

The city of Springfield benefits by the will of one of its prominent residents, a Miss Lombard, member of a family that has already done much to help the city. Miss Lombard bequeathed $100,000 to the Springfield hospital, and an equal amount to the Springfield Home for Aged People.

It is well to encourage among the possessors of large fortunes the custom of bequeathing to them amounts that will put them upon a solid financial basis. Money so used goes to benefit humanity, whereas to bequeath a large fortune to a young man or woman is one of the worst things that can be done. It leads to excess, to reckless living and removes the necessity to work, which is often a blessing in disguise. The example set by the late Miss Lombard of Springfield is worthy of emulation.

We might suggest also that any person in possession of a large fortune, with no needy heirs anxiously awaiting it, might initiate the very generous and philanthropic act of Freeman B. Shedd who did not wait to cross the Styx before he gave to Lowell what will be one of the best parks in the country.

NEW AEROPLANE DEVICE

It has remained for an Italian, one Ferdinando Bernasconi, to invent a flying machine that cannot fall. That is the kind nobody will be afraid of. It is apparently lighter than air, and in one of its early trials it was dropped from a height of one thousand meters and floated twelve miles before it reached the ground. If the aeroplanes can provide some safety device of this kind their popularity will be greatly increased.

As a result of the Boston aviation meet, it is likely that the tendency will be towards monoplanes and biplanes. The triplane sold to the Harvard Aeronautical society by an English inventor proved an utter failure. It was trundled out but twice during the meet, and on the second occasion was smashed to pieces in a feeble attempt to fly. The Harvard Aeronautical society evidently knew but little of aeroplanes when it purchased the triplane.

ROBBING THE GOVERNMENT

A clerk in the sub-treasury at Chicago has been arrested on the charge of stealing $173,000. We may next hear of some government official starting a mint for his own private benefit. When the inmates of a state prison start coining money, the crooks who are at large must feel that they are not making the most of their opportunities. Where are all the sleuths that look out for Uncle Sam's interests?

We are not satisfied with the estimate of our population given out by the census bureau. There must be a mistake this time as last. The count should be at least 5,000 more than estimated. Perhaps the final figures will do us justice.

"Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines" is a popular song thirty-five years ago. It was first sung in this country by William Horace Lingard.

This Mr. Lingard, whose right name was William Thomas, was an Englishman, and had met with much success in the music halls of his own country as a comic vocalist and mimic.

He made his first appearance in America at the Theatre Comique in New York on April 6, 1868. The following day the newspapers devoted much space in praise of his art and the catchy airs of his songs were everywhere whistled.

His popularity was thus assured and his engagement was long and successful. He sang impromptu songs of men of the day (one of them being of Gen. Benjamin F. Butler), and he sang popular songs in costume. The first song was entitled "Blister Beer."

Then followed "On the Beach at Long Branch," "A Brighton Valuing Down Broadway," and "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines." During his engagement the first songs were replaced by others, but "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines" was always retained in his repertoire.

Mr. Lingard was also a capable legitimate actor, as he demonstrated when his wife, Alice Dunning Lingard, and her sister, Dickey Lingard, came to America a few months later. Mrs. Lingard, who was a vocalist and actress, appeared with her husband in farces. In 1889 Mr. Lingard became manager of the Theatre Comique in Boston and produced the burlesque of "Pitts." For a time he was on the road with a play called "The Tutor," which had previously been presented under the title of "Baby."

The song of "Captain Jinks" had been forgotten for many years when on Feb. 4, 1901, a play with that title, written by Clyde Fitch, was brought out at the Garrick theatre in New York, with H. Reeves Smith as Capt. Jinks, and Ethel Barrymore as Madame Tong.

W. Howard Edwin Stevens, Mrs. Thomas Whitford, Danny Addison Pitt, and Sydney Covey. The next year Miss Barrymore appeared here in the play at the Museum. The former popular song was introduced in the present generation, as Fitch's play still keeps the stage.

SAILING AT DAWN

One by one the pale stars die before the day now.

One by one the great ships are stirring from their sleep.

Cables all are rumbling, anchors all are being now.

Now the fleet's a fleet again, gliding toward the deep.

Now the fleet's a fleet again, bound upon the old ways.

Splendor of the past comes shining in the spray.

Admirals of old time, bring us on the bold ways!

Souls of all the seadogs lead the line to-day!

Far away behind town and tower are dwindling.

Home becomes a fair dream faded long ago.

Infinitely glorious the height of heaven is kindling.

Infinitely desolate the shoreless sea below.

Now the fleet's a fleet again, bound upon the old ways.

Splendor of the past comes shining in the spray.

Admirals of old time, bring us on the bold ways!

Souls of all the seadogs lead the line to-day!

The frost of years is upon my head.

The bloom of youth and youth's desire forsake me.

I would that I had seen these things before.

Their knocking sounded at my falling door.

CHANTICLEER'S SALUTE TO THE SUN

Thou who driest the tears of tiniest grasses.

Who makest a dead flower a butterfly living.

When, stripping off their leaves like leaves of fate, one sees

Beneath the wind of the Pyrenees Roussillon's almonds fluttering.

I worship thee, O Sun! O thou whose aureole

To hallow each forehead, mellow each cheek, forsake me!

Like mother's love divides and yet remains a whole.

Entering every flower-soul And into every cottage home.

I sing thee, and thou mayst my ministry ordain.

Who visitest the tub where dawns blue soap, blue sky,

And many and many a time chooses, when thou art fair

To vanish, a humble window-pane To launch therefrom thy last goodbye.

Thou bidst the sunflowers turn within the rectory.

Upon the stoop bidst my golden brother shine.

And when among the times thou stealest with mystery,

Ridest dance on earth such tracery, One dare not walk, it is so fine.

To enamel thou changest the pitcher's glaze instead.

When drying a dish-cloth a flag thou dost unfold.

Sir Hayrick, thanks to thee, has gold to hood his head.

His little sister, HIVE, has spread Her riding-hood about with gold!

Praise to thee on the fields! Praise to thee in the vine!

Against the castle-gate, among the grass, all hail!

Upon the wings of swans, and in the lizard's eye!

O thou who drawest the grand outline, And fillst in each small detail.

This thou who dost detach the twin mysterious man

That shambles and stretches below that's glittering:

To double all that charms thine is the art, O Sun.

A shadow giving everyone Often more charming than the thing.

I worship thee, O Sun, that hidest midnight's glittering.

WOMAN MAY DIE

SHE USED KEROSENE IN MAKING A FIRE

PITTSFIELD, Sept. 17.—Mrs. Herman Lang, more than 80 years old, after trying for seven hours with probably fatal results in her house in Pittsfield, was late yesterday afternoon carried to a hospital.

Mrs. Lang used kerosene yesterday morning in starting the fire. An explosion took place and her cotton garments were covered with burning oil, which consumed the clothing on her body, leaving her head, body and arms and legs a mass of burns.

Charles Knowles, a neighbor, went to the Langs yesterday afternoon, when he heard screams. He found the woman on a lounge, so burned that she could not speak. Mr. Knowles drove his automobile to Pittsfield and took Dr. George E. Reynolds to the Langs house. The burns were so serious that the surgeon ordered Mrs. Lang taken to the hospital, but her aged husband objected, the men say, and because of a vigorous dog in the house the men did not take Mrs. Lang away; but

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Former Lieutenant Governor John C. McKinley of Missouri, has filed his declaration as a candidate for the United States senate on the republican ticket to succeed Senator Warner.

Mrs. Gertrude Newhall of Lynn, prominently identified with women's clubs of the city, is to make a trip around the world and will start next week. She expects to reach Japan in time to enjoy the chrysanthemum season and will linger for a while there.

Paul Bourget, once the busy novelist, scene writer and in his fifties, committed to the drama. Last year, in Paris, one of the theatres acted his play of capital and labor, "The Barricade," a year before Gullity tried his "Emigre," and before that and for the beginning of his note as a playwright, stood "Un Divorce." Now, for the new season, the boulevard is announcing "Le Tribunal," comedy in four acts by M. Paul Bourget.

An old portrait of Byron B. Johnson, the first mayor of Waltham, was presented to the city at a meeting of the board of aldermen.

The donors were Mrs. B. B. Johnson and her son, Melvin B. Johnson. The presentation was made by the latter and the acceptance was by Mayor Edward A. Walker.

Miss Dorothy Johnson, a granddaughter of Mayor Johnson, unveiled the gift. The portrait is hung in the council chamber.

Alfonsa Elman, the violinist, who has reached the age for service in the Russian army, has been excused from such duty, "on artistic grounds," by the minister of war, Mr. Kreiser.

In Austria and Mr. Marten in France were not so fortunate in their time.

Rodri's busts of Thomas F. Ryan and the late E. H. Harriman are to be on exhibition for several weeks at the Metropolitan museum in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. C. Russell of Springfield have recently returned from Iceland, where they spent three months touring the northern part of the island, getting material and pictures for Mr. Russell's lecture course.

They began their tour from Leith, Scotland, and sailed to Akureyri, Iceland, after entering four of the fjords of the northern and northern part of the island. After landing at Akureyri, they went east on a four days' horse-back journey to Krutla volcano, which marks the volcanic action in the north, as Hecla does in the south of the island.

On July 15 they made their final ascent of the volcano and while at the very top took several photographs of the Arctic clouds, which they had placed there. They also explored several craters and examined Viti, a part of the volcano. From there they went westward toward Oxangadla pass, between the glaciers, descending to the fertile valleys of the Waterfalls, the great sagu region of the north, and thence continuing on their journey south to the western desert of the island to the glaciers, and also visited the Surtshollir cave, the greatest volcano cave in the world.

Leaving this section, Mr. and Mrs. Russell traveled toward the southwest to Reykholth and climbed the mountain pass and descended to Thingvellir, where they journeyed to Reykjavik, returning to Copenhagen by way of the Westman and Faroe Islands. After landing at Copenhagen they went to Stockholm to attend the international geological congress. The greater part of the trip was made on horseback.

Sterling P. Bond of St. Louis has declared his candidacy for the democratic nomination to succeed United States Senator Warner of Missouri.

SHE USED KEROSENE IN MAKING A FIRE

PITTSFIELD, Sept. 17.—Mrs. Herman Lang, more than 80 years old, after trying for seven hours with probably fatal results in her house in Pittsfield, was late yesterday afternoon carried to a hospital.

Mrs. Lang used kerosene yesterday morning in starting the fire. An explosion took place and her cotton garments were covered with burning oil, which consumed the clothing on her body, leaving her head, body and arms and legs a mass of burns.

Charles Knowles, a neighbor, went to the Langs yesterday afternoon, when he heard screams. He found the woman on a lounge, so burned that she could not speak. Mr. Knowles drove his automobile to Pittsfield and took Dr. George E. Reynolds to the Langs house. The burns were so serious that the surgeon ordered Mrs. Lang taken to the hospital, but her aged husband objected, the men say, and because of a vigorous dog in the house the men did not take Mrs. Lang away; but

MURDER CHARGE

Ferranto Indicted by Grand Jury

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 17.—The grand jury of the superior court reported yesterday afternoon and Col. W. C. Eaton, the county attorney, made public a part of the 30 indictments.

Santo Ferranto is indicted on a charge of murder. He is alleged to have struck in the back an Italian named Valandino with whom he had a dispute over a balance of $2 due to him.

Elizabeth M. Olly was indicted for abandoning her infant child with the intent that it should perish. She admitted she left it on the rocks at Torrington point, Peaks Island.

Thomas Van Sledt Warner was indicted for breaching and entering the office of a dentist. Patrolman Timothy Murphy was concealed in the office and says he saw Warner make up a package of gold.

Zed Droplet of Boston was indicted on the charge of assaulting William Hollis of Portland with intent to kill. It is alleged that he fired twice at him in a close range, but without effect.

William B. Sullivan was indicted for aiding a girl to escape from her guardian.

Other indictments were:

Robert A. Stanley, William F. Conway, Merchant Canfield, Peter McCarthy and Joseph Curtan, breaking, entering and larceny; Patrick F. McLaughlin, James H. O'Neill and Michael H. Skerritt, breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny; William H. Donohue, eluding by false pretenses; Robert F. Curran, forgery; Arthur G. Hamilton, receiving stolen goods; F. K. Dodd and Frank E. Moxley, larceny; Ella F. Perry and Lillian Parks, maintaining a disorderly house; Alfred E. Leighton, assault and battery.

No indictments against liquor dealers were made public.

THE EVOLUTION OF THE CAP HAT

THE fashions of today are for the most part the vogues of other days worked over by Parisian couturiers. Especially is this the case with the eccentric two story millinery that is being sent to us from the French capital. It includes a hat, generally a large shape, worn over a cap of lace. This style is a revival of the headwear that flourished for a short time in the eighteenth century. Queen Caroline of England is said to have introduced the mode, and the old print reproduced among the illustrations shows this queen arrayed in a cap and hat of the sort. The fashion obtains still in some parts of Holland, where countrywomen imprison their hair in golden casques covered with fine, sometimes very costly, lace, with hats over them. I hardly think American women will take up with enthusiasm the cap and hat idea, but a dainty frill of lace is very fetching hanging from the inside of a big picture hat. And there is, too, an undeniable charm about the turban-like cap of silver lace ornamented with tiny rosebuds that is the first story of one of the hats seen in the cuts. Then who knows but what these double deckers will be taken up by the milliner girl? There is every reason to think that they will be. Not only lace, but fringe, is used for the hat "valance" and tulle as well as lace for the cap, turban.

But there is nothing frilly about the fall and winter frocks. The edict has gone forth that they are to be straight up and down—in other words, to be fashionable, one must have the figure of a sylph. Every woman must know the silhouette of the season when planning her frocks; otherwise she will be out of the style, an awful calamity for the American mondaine even to contemplate.

Last fall the tailored suit had a long coat. This year the short coat leads. Twenty-four inches is the approved length, but the twenty-six and twenty-eight inch lengths, it is predicted, will be the most popular. Many of the newest models suggest the box coat models of several seasons past. A band of deep black satin at the bottom of the coat, beginning at the sides of the front, is a familiar trimming. When this trimming is used the skirt usually displays a like adornment. The long separate coat is a favorite of winter fashion and a very necessary wrap to own when one's walking coat is of a short length. For some unknown reason, as the skirts are narrow, designers have given great fullness to the skirts of the long separate coat, some of them being draped about the figure in classic folds.

A stunning costume made abroad for Mrs. Vanderbilt is of dark green panne cloth. It has a close cut, short skirt adorned with a deep band in black braided soutache. The hip length coat is collarless and cut rather high at the neck, and the same braided trimming is used in a narrow design down the front of the coat that widens out about the edge of the skirt. And in connection with coats, I would say that sleeves are long and tight fitting save at the wrist, where many of them widen out a trifle. They are put into the armhole perfectly plain. Dressy coats have three-quarter sleeves with elaborate cuffs.

The skirt with a foot band will be good style throughout the winter, and where plaits appear in the new skirts they are banded in tight to the figure to give the straight up and down effect. Gored skirts of slim silhouette are smart; also the skirt with flat box plaits, back and front, with straight banded in gores at the sides. Sometimes below this band there is a killed flounce.

The excuse for plain costumes, is easily to be found in the beautiful materials which the fall season has brought to light. It would be painting the lily to crown these fabrics with trimmings. For tailor made suits there is a choice of two classes of fabrics—those of a smooth surfaced finish and those of rough although rather silky texture. Broken diagonal effects have taken the place of decided checks and stripes, but chevrons with a boucle raised effect that is almost invisible are much liked. In rough finished worsted zibeline in basket weave is meeting with favor in Paris, and corduroy is promised a certain popularity. As usual, Theodora cloth, broadcloth, panne cloth and satin are the leading dressy materials.

As to the colors of fall suits, black is first favorite, with gray in many varieties of tone and the varying shades of purple, prune and mauve. A royal and a very dark shade of blue known as corbeau is well liked, and as accessory colors many shades of yellow, ranging from maize to beige, are modish in connection with black and brown. Vivid tones used as accessory colors are the height of style in gowns. These daring splashes of color were the inspiration several seasons ago of Paul Poiret, a Parisian dressmaker, but it is only recently that his brother artists have acknowledged his success by following in his wake. The gold note is prominent in the new fashions, and it often takes the guise of cloth of gold displaying a shadowy Persian design. As I have said before, the smart gowns of the season are but little trimmed. Tiny wooden beads are among the more unusual ornamentations, and handsome plain braids trims and binds many of the smartest tailored coats and skirts, but it is sparingly used. Buttons on tailored costumes are of self material, bone or brass, and there is a new glazed wooden button that is very attractive.

REAL PRICE OF MEATS.

An authority on domestic matters calls the attention of housekeepers to the real and apparent price of meats, which is seldom considered when marketing. The apparent price of chicken, for instance, may be 20 cents a pound, but its real price will be 50 cents when the weight of the head, crop and claws, entrails and bones is taken into account. It is more economical to pay 15 cents for a cut of solid meat than 8 cents for one that contains nearly half its weight in sinew, fat and bone.

The Polite Way to Eat Corn

YOU probably love corn on the cob, but you refuse it when you are at table, because you make such an exhibition of yourself while getting the pearly grains from their cob. Is it not so, milady? One woman goes the length of saying that only in the privacy of one's own room should corn be eaten from the cob. This is going a trifle too far, and the same woman, if she but knew, could enjoy the succulent ear and still retain her table manners if she had in her possession a pair of the new corn stubs or forks. This invention of a clever brain consists of two silver or plated affairs several inches long, representing a miniature ear of corn with a "stab" not unlike an ice pick at the end. The real ear of corn is stabbed at the two

How to Become Your Own Beauty Doctor

HOW to preserve a youthful appearance is a subject which never fails to interest women, for one and all recognize the truth of the remark made by a celebrated Frenchman, the Duc de Rochefoucauld, "It is valueless to a woman to be young unless she be pretty or to be pretty unless she be young."

All women crave for youth, and no one more than the pretty woman, the woman who has been used to admiration and attention and who, as she notices her first wrinkle, her first gray hair, feels that her kingdom is slipping away from her and that her powers of attraction are rapidly on the wane.

The first gray hair or the first wrinkle does not always mean a loss of the power of attraction, but they are, unless arrested in time, the first step toward that disaster.

That beauty of a very high order may exist without youth no one will deny, but youth is an additional charm and is an asset not to be despised by the woman who has her own way to make in the world or who wishes to queen it in society.

To prevent wrinkles never allow the muscles of the face to become sagged. To keep the facial muscles firm and taut is the secret of a smooth, unlined face, and to do this they must be gently exercised.

Gentle massage given to the principal muscles of the face regularly and systematically will prevent wrinkles far into old age, but (and here a word of warning must be given to the energetic amateur beauty doctor) the massage must be gentle. Any rough treatment is likely to stretch the skin and thus do more harm than good.

As one passes into the thirties there is generally a tendency either to lose flesh or to become heavy, both estates being most undesirable.

The woman whose face is too plump must not use any form of grease or cream for her complexion. She should massage, but with ice. The movements should be carried out with the ice just as they are with skin food.

The thin woman, on the other hand, must give as much and even more attention to massage, but she should employ a good nourishing skin food. Exercise the muscles, sleep as much as possible and smooth out the lines with a pad of chamois leather slightly warmed.

Delicious Green Pepper Dishes

GREEN PEPPERS SAUTE WITH SCRAMBLED EGGS.

Plunge the peppers in very hot water, then rub off the skins with a crash towel. Cut them in halves, cut off the stems, remove the seeds and carefully cut away the rib or division walls. Let the peppers cook a few minutes in a little butter, moisten with a pint of consommé, add a little minced shallot, parsley and paprika and let all cook slowly for half an hour or until done. Have ready some rounds of nicely toasted or fried bread and enough soft scrambled eggs to fill the pepper shells. Dust a little finely minced parsley or a dash of paprika over the top and serve.

STUFFED PEPPERS, BALTIMORE STYLE.

Cut off the tops of the peppers and scoop out the seeds and carefully trim the ribs down without cutting through the peppers. Mix crab meat with almost an equal quantity in weight of fine buttered breadcrumbs, a little salt, a sprinkling of finely minced parsley and enough cream, a few tablespoonsful, to moisten the mixture slightly.

Fill the peppers and cover with buttered crumbs. Set in the oven to broil.

STUFFED PEPPERS A LA CREOLE.

Take two dozen sweet green peppers. Peel them, take off the topmost bit and remove the seeds and division walls. Take a dozen or more red peppers, cut off the stems and take out the seeds. Chop these peppers very fine. Put a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan over the fire. Add half an onion minced fine and brown lightly. Then add the minced peppers mashed to a pulp. Add about a tablespoonful of finely minced ham. As these brown add a clove of garlic, also minced fine. When the peppers are well cooked add half a cup of bread that has been wet in cold water and squeezed thoroughly dry. Season to taste with salt and pepper. When well browned take from the fire and fill the peppers. Cover the top of each with some buttered breadcrumbs. Arrange them in a bake pan and place in the oven and let heat thoroughly through and brown. Serve hot with meats or for a luncheon dish with rice and tomatoes or stewed sweet corn.

THE NEW FLEXIBLE CORSETS.

THERE is comfort and smart appearance combined in these new flexible corsets, a thing that has been impossible until this day recently came upon the market. The "bones" are "spiral steels," so manufactured that they support the figure and at the same time admit of the wearer going through her beauty reduction stunts should she be so inclined, which naturally she won't. Still, there's a heap of satisfaction to the feminine mind to know she can if she wants to. These corsets are not expensive, some models being priced as low as $2.

A FALL THIMBLE PARTY.

If you are thinking of giving a thimble party this fall here are some good ideas for prize contests.

Give to each guest a five inch patch of sheer linen, each with a jagged tear across the middle. In the corner of the patch stick a needle threaded with bright red cotton. Ten minutes is given to darn the hole, a prize being awarded for the hole most neatly darned and the one most bungled. As the thread is of a bright color it is not easy to make a neat piece of work even for a skillful needlewoman.

Another set of gray linen patches could be passed for a "Chanticleer" contest. Each patch should be accompanied by a pencil, a needle and gay cotton. The guests must draw one of the "Chanticleer" characters. Those must then be embroidered in the gay threads to resemble the special fowl represented.

Another good test is to sew a yard seam with a darning needle threaded with 100 cotton. A given time is allowed, which no one must exceed, and she who gets through in the shortest time is the winner. Only persons who have sowed with a coarse needle and fine thread know the handicaps of this contest.

Much fun is caused by a needle threading race. A No. 12 needle and 120 cotton are used. There is a time limit, and prizes are awarded for the swiftest, most graceful, most awkward and slowest needle threading.

KITCHEN HINTS.

A pamphlet recently issued by the department of agriculture has this to say about the testing of eggs: The method is known as candling and has been familiar for some time, especially among dealers. The room is darkened and the egg held between the eye and the light. The presence of dark spots indicates that the egg is not perfectly fresh. A fresh one presents a translucent, homogeneous appearance. Moreover, there is found in the larger and between the shell and the lining membrane a small air cell, which, of course, is distinctly transparent. In an egg that is not perfectly fresh this space is filled and hence presents the same appearance as the rest of the egg.

THE CORN SLITTER.

ends and held in position, as illustrated. Many persons, too, like to cut their corn from the cob at table, and for them there is an attractive little device called the corn splitter which does the work to perfection. This implement comes both in real and imitation silver. The illustration shows how it is used. Three or four strokes with the splitter will slit every grain on the cob. It does not remove the corn from the cob, but cuts the hulls of every grain. The delicious part of the corn is obtained with a pressure of the teeth, leaving the hulls on the cob.

When making puddings, fritters or any of the delicious dishes made from corn the splitter will be found very useful.

HOOK AND EYE SUGGESTIONS.

When sewing the hooks and eyes on the placket of a skirt sew one pair at the very bottom, fasten them and crush them flat. This will keep the placket from ever tearing or ripping at the end.

On a wash dress the eyes should be sewed on the upper flap and the hooks on the lower instead of the usual fashion. The top flap can then be ironed flat without the little lumps left by ironing over hooks.

In working on heavy materials alternate the hooks and eyes—first an eye, then a hook on one flap, with first a hook and then an eye on the other. This method will hold the dress shut and save the wearer from embarrassment and discomfort.

WORK APRON TO MAKE.

When you purchase a new tub dress made for house wear get enough material to make a work apron of what is left over. Then you will be presentable should an emergency arise. Besides, the apron will fade with the dress and will come in handy for mending later on. Always have it washed at the same time as the dress.

TO PRESERVE TINWARE.

If new tinware is rubbed over with fresh lard and thoroughly heated in the oven before it is used it will never rust, no matter how much it is put in water. For stained tinware borax produces the best results. If a teapot or a coffee pot has become discolored on the inside boil it in a strong solution of borax.

OFFICERS APPOINTED PRESIDENT TAFT RETURNS TO CINCINNATI BEFORE GOING TO CAPITAL

For Girls' Battalion of the Lowell High School

MISS MARY JACQUES

MISS IRENE HOGAN

Miss Irene Hogan and Miss Mary Jaques Head Girls' Battalion—Erson Teeson Temporary Colonel of Boys' Regiment

The girls' battalion of the Lowell High school this year will be in command of Miss Irene Hogan, senior major, and Miss Mary Jaques, junior major, the appointments having been made yesterday. Miss Hogan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hogan of 145 Bowers street, and Miss Jaques is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jaques, 240 Jewett street. Both young women are well known and popular at the school. Miss Hogan is prominent in the girls' athletics and during her freshman year played with the basketball team. This year Miss Hogan is a member of the editorial staff of the High School Review. Miss Jaques is prominent in the social life of the school though she has never taken a prominent part in athletics.

The other commissioned officers appointed for the girls' battalion are: First battalion—Co. A, Capt. Charlotte Greene, Lieut. Dorothy Estes and Lillian Reed; Co. B, Capt. Margaret Woodworth, Lieut. Lillian Powers and Olive Eveleth; Co. C, Capt. Dorothy Bramhall, Lieut. Grace Stanley and Zola Reed; Co. D, Capt. Helen Munter, Lieut. Ruth Upton and Beatrice Naylor. Second battalion—Co. A, Capt. Pauline Woodworth, Lieut. Helen Carey, and Mary Martin; Co. B, Capt. Mildred Emerson, Lieut. Hilda Brazier and Rowena McKlesock; Co. C, Capt. Harriet Mansur, Lieut. Lillian Leson and Helen Brazier; Co. D, Capt. Charlotte Abels, Lieut. May Clin and Elizabeth Paige. Erson Teeson has been appointed temporary colonel of the Boys' High school regiment.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 17.—President Taft's home city plans to welcome him in splendid style when he arrives here Sept. 20. He will remain here for several days, and arrangements are being made for a reception to him at the Ohio Valley exposition, which was opened when Colonel Roosevelt was here. From Cincinnati the president will go to Washington for a meeting of his cabinet on Sept. 26. On Oct. 2 he will go to New York, where he will address the National Republican league. After the speech in New York he will return to Beverly, to remain until October 15.

MIDDLESEX FAIR

Continued

Hibbard of Lowell, and Alonzo G. Walsh of Lowell.

During the early part of the afternoon an excellent concert program was carried out on the common by the Chelmsford brass band.

The baby show was held in Gardner Parker hall and there were numerous entries for the three events. In the handsomest baby class, first premium was won by Ronald Campbell, son of Archibald and Mabel Campbell, 45 West Fifth street, Lowell; second premium was taken by Irving Strickland, son of Alfred J. and Alice A. Strickland of Billerica. Warren Perry, son of Charles H. and Hattie A. Perry of Burlington, captured third place.

The first premium in the "smallest baby class" was won by Francis L. Barnes, son of John and Lucy Barnes, North Billerica; Helen M. Lee, Carleton, second; Garret N. Bailey, son of William and Catherine Hally of North Billerica, third.

Handsomest girl baby won by Irene Lutender, daughter of Henry and Mary Lutender of North Billerica; Genevieve, baby daughter of John and Marion of North Billerica, second; Margaret Walker, daughter of Frank and Frances Walker of North Billerica, third.

The judges were Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald, Mrs. Sydney Bull, J. Harold Dale and Mrs. I. M. Blizard.

There were few entries in the cattle show, but the exceptional appearance of the animals shown made up for the small numbers.

N. K. Jones of Billerica was given first award on a bull calf; A. W. Parsons, West Tewksbury, first on yearling working oxen; Harry White, Bedford, second on working oxen; F. W. Pittner, Billerica, first on milk cows; N. E. Jones, Billerica, third and fourth on milk cows; E. Munson, Billerica, second on milk cows; E. J. Godfrey, Bedford, first on pair of yearling steers; Chas. Wright, Billerica, first on a heifer; C. H. Koblauch, North Billerica, first on Jersey cow.

Ball in Town Hall

The fair came to a close with the ball, which was held in the town hall in the evening. There was a large attendance and music for the dancing was furnished by Hibbard's orchestra.

The awards in the public school contest for corn and beans were made as follows:

Dracut: Richard, Wm. Vincent, 855 beans, third; Richard Udel, 397 beans, third; Doris Fox, 1278, second; George Southworth, 774, third; Stanley R. Fox, 580, third; Frank Bryant, 1045, third; Stella Fox, 999, third; William Cook, 552, third; Vera Richardson, 916, third; Ruby R. Parker, third; Ruth Parker, 827, third; Fern Richardson, 512, third.

North Reading school—Anna Bonchard, 1569, third; Florence P. Spicer, 1758, third; Archie Blair, 2800, first; Lizzie Blair, 1668, third; Raymond Lantz, 2169, second; Hope D. Curtis, 1158, third; Clinton Turner, 1023, third; Tewksbury school—Harvey Fisher, 700, third; Jean Cameron, 555, third; Franklin Trull, 380, third; Adolph Anderson, 1116, third; William Carter, 1731, second; Luella Osterman, 684, third; Ruth McCann, 908, third; Margaret Houghland, 954, third; Dorothy Dorman, 1914, second; Helen Carlin, 1021, third.

Carleton school—Annie Coverton, 1940, second; Emmanuel Redout, 675, third; Harold Miller, 553, third; Howard Redding, 807, third; James H. Keenan, 697, third; Rena A. Cule, 688, third; John Shinkum, 1234, third; William Taylor, 765, third; Stella Maynor, 1159, third; Marion Hueston, 1702, third; John Day, 888, third; Joyce Mullon, 878, third; Bernard McGovern, 8800, second; Andrew Blaisdell, 1052, third; Ellen E. Palmer, 1062, third; Fred Cole, 1306, third; Carl Newman, 1283, third; Margaret Hall, 855, third; Fred Newman, 881, third; Theodore Emerson, 830, third; Andrew Shoshan, 603, third; Ruth Proctor, 911, third.

DAUGHTER ELOPED

Her Mother Believed to be Visiting in Lowell

FRANKLIN, N. H., Sept. 17.—John Miller of this city and Miss Geneva Bishop, a 16-year-old Sanborn girl, figure in an elopement. The girl is a daughter of George L. Bishop. She and her father both work in the Adams Needle company's factory at Hill. Yesterday she said she was too ill to work and she remained at home. Her mother is visiting in Lowell.

When her father returned from the factory he found a note from his daughter saying she was to be married and when he found the letter she would be a bride. She did not give the husband's name.

It appears that Miller drove to her house, according to plans previously made, and then the two drove to Franklin. They visited City Clerk Danell and applied for a marriage license. When he asked Miss Bishop her age she said she was 15 and the license was refused.

Miller and the girl then drove to Tilton, where Town Clerk Willis Morrison was visited. Miller applied for the license and gave his residence as Tilton. He gave the age of his bride-elect as 16, and as this is the legal limit in New Hampshire the license was granted. Miller and Miss Bishop went at once to the Methodist Episcopal parsonage in Tilton and were married by Rev. Edwin S. Tasker.

They then drove away and have not since been located. In her note to her father Miss Bishop said that she would write and send him her address later.

Miller is 20 years old. He has been employed in the Excelsior mill, where he keeps a horse and carriage. Mr. Bishop said yesterday that his daughter had known him only about six weeks. Mr. Bishop is exceedingly angry at the affair. The girl is tall and would easily pass for 19 years.

Mr. Bishop said yesterday that the only place in the state that they could legally obtain a marriage license would be Franklin or Sanborn and he had notified the town clerk of Sanborn not to grant a license. Miller, by claiming to live in Tilton, three miles from Franklin, was able to secure the necessary papers.

Miller had another adventure in the matrimonial line some months ago, when he secured a license to marry a Franklin young woman and engaged the minister to perform the ceremony. The girl's parents learned of the matter and refused to allow the marriage to take place. Miller never used the license.

MATRIMONIAL

Billerica, first on ribbon cake; Mrs. E. M. Sawyer, Lowell, first on apple pie and doughnuts; Miss Ruth Wilde, Billerica, first on bread; Mrs. Charles E. Moore, second on bread; Mrs. George Greenwood, Billerica, second on doughnuts; Mrs. Victor Negelin, East Billerica, gratuity on birthday cake; G. H. Benck, first on honey; D. Hartford, Bedford, first on pickles.

Miss Gladys Foster, Tewksbury, first on wild flowers; John Alden Davis, Carleton, second on wild flowers.

MAN ATTEMPTED TO HANG HIMSELF

ARLINGTON, Sept. 17.—John Guyot, who says he is 40 years old and that his home is in Westford, attempted to hang himself in the police station here at 8:15 last evening. He had been arrested by Patrolman Garrett Barry at Arlington Heights about 5 o'clock on a charge of drunkenness, and was brought to the police station with considerable difficulty.

At 8:15, Lieut. Daniel N. Hooley, who is in charge of the station at night, heard an unusual noise from the cell in which the man had been confined and running to investigate, found him hanging from the door of the cell by a rope which he had made from his undershirt. With the assistance of Edwin S. Farmer, who was in the station at the time, Lieut. Hooley cut the man down. He was revived before the arrival of the doctor.

THE POLICE BOARD

Give Hearing on Charges Against Two Officers

The board of police met in special session last night and gave hearings to Special Officer John J. Grady and Patrolman Bartholomew Kane, against whom charges had been preferred. The complaint against Special Officer Grady was dismissed while that against the regular patrolman was taken under advisement.

Special Officer Grady's case was the first taken up, the complaint being Francis Quinn, who represents property in Sawtelle place, off School street. Mr. Grady was represented by Lawyer James J. Carnichael and entered a plea of not guilty to the charges. The prosecution was conducted by Lawyer John A. Gately.

Mr. Quinn, the complainant, stated that he had received numerous complaints from his tenants about alleged abuses by Officer Grady. Some of them threatened to move from the neighborhood unless the officer was removed. Witness thought that on some of the occasions when he had seen Grady the latter was under the influence of liquor. The testimony of most of the others was similar. Officer Grady had a long string of witnesses who related stories quite in contradiction to what the previous witness had told. The complaint was immediately dismissed at the conclusion of the case. The board evidently felt that the officer merely tried to express disorder in the streets.

Among those who testified for the officer were John J. Kelley, Robert G. Bartlett, Edward H. Scribner, Milo D. Clegg, James J. O'Brien, George H. Staples, Louis Vailas and Narcisse Bonin.

The board dismissed the complaint after a brief consideration of the facts. Patrolman Bartholomew Kane entered a plea of guilty to a complaint charging him with improperly patrolling his route on the night of Sept. 10. Capt. Atkinson told of receiving a telephone call from the patrolman early on the evening in question, relative to some boys who were disturbing the neighborhood in which the officer patrolled. Later in the evening it was found that Officer Kane made irregular calls at the patrol boxes and shortly after 9 o'clock reported the loss of his key to the patrol box. Lieut. Freeman and Capt. Atkinson both testified that judging from what they saw the officer was perfectly sober. The case was taken under advisement by the board.

Still it might be well enough for him to know as chairman of the Aviation Contest committee that this same Lowell Gas Light Co. holds the record for endurance, so far as concerns a steady fire. Altitude, as measured by thermometer for heat, accuracy in the matter of control in banking or cooking, speed so far as a quick fire is concerned, distance in the matter of how far it will go. All these records it holds. In the matter of a getaway test, it gets away with any coke on the market. Clean as a bound's tooth, full weight all for $4.75 per children. Four sizes. KING'S SPECIAL AMBASSADOR ARRIVES TO TAKE WIFE HOME

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The Earl of Granard, special ambassador of King George to the courts of Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Holland, Belgium, Spain and Portugal to announce the accession of his sovereign to the throne, has arrived here. His mission will not be completed until he has appeared before his king with the report of his visits. He is here to take back with him to England his wife, formerly Miss Beatrice Mills, the earl, who is the master of the king's horse and who represents the admiralty in the English parliament, said that the etiquette of the British court did not allow a special ambassador to take his wife with him, and so he could not enjoy the society and companionship of the countess while he was visiting the courts of Europe. He will go to Staatsburg, N. F., and return aboard the Mauretania with the countess and their baby.

$3300 THEFT CHARGE

Ex-Treasurer Ingersoll is Now Under Arrest

BIDDEFORD, Me., Sept. 17.—Charged in four warrants with having embezzled $3300 Richmond H. Ingersoll, depositor of the York county savings bank, which was forced to close its doors a month ago by the discovery of discrepancies in his accounts, since estimated at $340,000 was arrested at his home here late yesterday.

His family physician made affidavit that removal from his home would endanger the aged former treasurer's life and he was arraigned in his room in the presence of his wife and daughter. Mr. Ingersoll was held in $20,000 bail for a hearing at 2 p.m. today. The bail was furnished by friends.

Pres. Charles H. Prescott of the bank, who swore out the warrants, said last night that the $3300 which he is formally charged with embezzling comprises all the funds which the investigators were able to discover had been taken within six years. Irregularities committed prior to that time are out-layed by the statute of limitations.

Pres. Prescott said definite grounds upon which to base the charges had been found only Thursday, and that there was no delay in making the arrest. The four warrants charge that Mr. Ingersoll falsified checks drawn on Portland and Boston banks and converted to his own use the funds thus alleged to have been secured, $300 on Sept. 11, 1909, and $1000 each on Oct. 27, Dec. 11, and Dec. 31, 1909.

The arrest was made by Chief-of-Police Charles B. Harmon in the room in which Mr. Ingersoll has been confined by illness during the month since the alleged shortage was discovered, and in which he has twice attempted to take his life.

Mr. Ingersoll was sitting in a chair, wrapped in a heavy blanket. When informed he had been placed under arrest he broke down and cried, but soon recovered his composure, and during the formality of arraignment, conducted by Recorder Clarence B. Rumrory of the municipal court, showed evidence of an alert mind. On due occasion, while Recorder Rumrory was reading the warrants, Mr. Ingersoll interposed a correction, stating that the date on one of the warrants should be Dec. 31, 1909, instead of Dec. 31, 1910. Throughout the arraignment he was calm and collected.

He said he did not wish to plead at this time, as he had engaged Edward C. Reynolds of South Portland as counsel and would like to confer with him before making any plea.

Ball was furnished by Ex-Mayor Cornelius Horrigan. On Frank S. Warren and Charles A. Moody, cashiers of the First National bank of Biddeford. The York County Savings bank closed its doors August 12, following the discovery by State Bank Examiner W. B. Shelton of Lewiston of discrepancies in Treas. Ingersoll's accounts. Late on the previous day Mr. Ingersoll was found unconscious in his room, suffering apparently from an overdose of morphine, while a note was found in the bank stating that a shortage would be found in his accounts, the result, he said, of his efforts to cover up heavy losses incurred many years ago by the bank through investments in faulty western securities. He declared he had not profited personally by the irregularities.

When the shortage was discovered Pres. Prescott had been in office less than a year. It was through his insistence, backed by the trustees of the institution, that a new method of keeping the books being inaugurated and through the notice of the proposed publishing of the local papers of the individual accounts of depositors that the discovery was brought about.

Cd. Prescott declares last night that the apparent delay in arresting the depositor was caused by no desire to shield him from the law, but was due entirely to a lack of sufficient ground upon which to base warrant charges.

FREIGHT RATES

Governor Stubbs Wants Them Discussed

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 17.—A conference of the governors of twelve middle western states and the mayors of twenty-six cities has been called by Governor H. Stubbs to consider the proposed advance in freight rates. The conference will meet at Topeka on Sept. 22. Governor Stubbs in commenting on his call said: "If the interstate commerce commission should approve the rates which have now been published and suspended it will not only enormously increase the burdens of the consuming public, but will, I am afraid, establish a precedent that might be used by the railroads for other and more sweeping advances, the amount of which it is utterly impossible to establish at this time. So far the side of the public has not been submitted to the commission, and it is highly important that those who really pay these freight rates should be adequately represented in these hearings, and it is for the purpose of discussing and arriving at a general plan of defense that this meeting has been called."

GOVERNOR STUBBS
AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Michael Salerno to James J. Smith and Philip J. Neary, dated May 2, 1910, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the Northern District of the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Book 459, Page 511; assigned by said James J. Smith and Philip J. Neary to The Central Savings Bank by assignment dated May 2, 1910, recorded in said Registry, Book 459, Page 515; assigned by said James J. Smith and Philip J. Neary to said Central Savings Bank, to said James J. Smith and Philip J. Neary by assignment dated September 6, 1910, and recorded in said Registry, Book 459, Page 525; and assigned by said James J. Smith and Philip J. Neary to James C. Warner by assignment dated September 6, 1910, and recorded in said Registry, Book 459, Page 525; will be sold at public auction for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed on Monday, the third day of October, A. D. 1910, at ten o'clock and fifteen minutes in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described substantially as follows:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated on the westerly side of Webster Street in Lowell in said County, being shown as Lot Five (5) on a plan of land entitled, "Plan of Land in Lowell belonging to Lillian M. Moore, Surveyed May 1899, O. F. Osgood, Civil Engineer," and recorded in said Registry, Book of Plans 18, Plan 25, and bounded:

Northerly by Lot 4 on said plan one hundred ten and 10-100 (110.00) feet;

Easterly by said Webster Street fifty (50) feet;

Southerly by Lot 6 on said plan one hundred ten and 10-100 (110.00) feet; and Westerly by land now or formerly of John E. Bager fifty (50) feet.

Containing according to said plan five thousand five hundred (5500) square feet of land, and be any or all of said measurements and contents more or less, and being a portion of the premises to said Michael Salerno conveyed by John E. Bager by deed dated April 15, 1910, and recorded in said Registry, Book 459, Page 501, and subject to any and all restrictions of record.

The above described premises will be sold and conveyed subject to any and all unpaid taxes, municipal or otherwise, assessments and taxes which may be due or to become due thereon. The purchaser will be required to pay three hundred dollars in cash at the time of sale, and the balance in ten days from day of sale at the office of William T. Sheppard, 103 Central Street, Lowell, Mass.

Assignee and present holder of said mortgage.

JAMES C. WARNER.

EXECUTOR'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a license granted to me by the Probate Court for the County of Middlesex, dated September 15, 1910, will sell at public auction on the premises in Lowell in said County on Saturday, October 8, 1910, at three o'clock in the afternoon the following described real estate, to-wit: A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, containing 3300 square feet, more or less, situated on the southerly side of Webster Street in Lowell, and bounded: Beginning at the northerly corner thereof on said Merrimack street, at land conveyed by John E. Bager by deed dated April 15, 1910, and recorded in said Registry, Book 459, Page 501, and also the premises conveyed to said John Adams by deed dated March 3, 1896, and recorded with said Deeds, Book 151, Page 59, and also all the premises conveyed to said John Adams by the three following deeds: 1. Deed from John E. Bager to said John Adams, dated May 2, 1910, recorded as aforesaid, Book 459, Page 515; 2. Deed from James J. Smith and Philip J. Neary to said John Adams, dated May 2, 1910, recorded as aforesaid, Book 459, Page 515; 3. Deed from James J. Smith and Philip J. Neary to said John Adams, dated May 2, 1910, recorded as aforesaid, Book 459, Page 515

NIGHT EDITION
ANNUAL REUNIONOf the 26th Mass. Regiment Was Held Today

The 36th annual reunion of the organization of the 26th Massachusetts regiment was held today in Memorial hall. The attendance was rather small there being but 38 members present, but considerable routine business was transacted.

The meeting was called to order at 10:30 o'clock by President Samuel R. Burroughs of West Acton and at the conclusion of routine business, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

President, Walter Fulton of Manchester, N. H.; first vice president, Patrick Hogan of North Andover; second vice president, Calvin W. Greenwood, Nashua, N. H.; secretary, John Balcum, Natick; treasurer, D. H. Hall, West Acton.

It was voted to hold the next reunion of the regiment of this city and the committee appointed to make arrangements for the hall is composed of Messrs. J. P. Slater, Martin L. Bassett and Joseph Tickard. While the place of meeting has not been decided upon it is understood that it will be held at Post 155 hall.

At one o'clock an excellent dinner was served in the banquet hall by the Women's Relief Corps of Post 42, G. A. R.

The regiment was formed 49 years ago today in old Jackson hall and afterwards the members went to Camp Chase where they remained until called upon for duty. Col. Edward R. Jones of Birmingham, N. Y., was at the head of the regiment.

The oldest man present at the gathering was Noah J. Moulton, aged 86 years, of Groton.

The following is a list of those who died during the year: Edward Meadowcroft, George Bentley, J. F. Upham, N. B. Stofey, William K. Ingraham, G. R. Boston, George A. Lancey and Abel Crooker.

MIDDLESEX NO. FAIR

GREAT RECEPTION

Tendered Rev. Fr. Tighe by the
O. M. I. Cadets

The O. M. I. Cadets tendered a great reception to Rev. Lawrence J. Tighe, O. M. I., the new pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, in the school hall last night. The affair was a great surprise to the new pastor. The entire corps of cadets had been drilling in the streets adjacent to the school, while the recruits were being instructed by Mr. Frank Sullivan, a former colonel of the high school battalion, in the school hall. When the drill was ended the cadets returned to the school hall and then at the request of the officers Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., chaplain of the cadets, sent a messenger to the parochial residence and invited Father

At Billerica a Great Success--The Dinner, Ball and Prize Winners

The annual fair of the Middlesex North Agricultural Society and Billerica Grange which came to a close last night proved to be one of the most successful events ever held in this vicinity. While in years past the attendances have been larger than they were this year the fair just closed, however, was rather out of the ordinary inasmuch as it was a financial success.

From 10:30 o'clock in the morning until the close of the ball last night there was something going on all the time.

The first thing on the program was the trial of horses at 10:30 o'clock.

These tests were held in River street where carts and drays filled with stones were in readiness and the first prize was won by the heavy draught horses owned by the town of Billerica. Second prize went to T. G. Messer's horses, also of Billerica, and third to the team driven by T. C. D. Tuttle of the same town.

There was also a contest for light teams and single horses which resulted as follows:

Light team—Wilson, Chelmsford, first; Kimball, second; Tuttle, third. Single hitch—Upton, first; Tuttle, second.

One of the features of the day was the farmers' dinner which was served at noon to over 500 people. There were three dining rooms, one in the town hall, one in the Odd Fellows hall and the third in the vestry of the Unitarian church.

President George W. Trull of the society presided at the after-dinner speeches.

Senator Frank T. Bennett of Saugus gave a very interesting speech as did Rev. Mr. Williams of North Billerica. The other speakers were Rev. St. W. Cummings of Lowell; Rev. J. Harold Dale of Billerica; Senator Joseph H.

LARGE INCREASE

Lowell Has Made Gain of 11,325
in PopulationReport Sent Out by the Census Bureau — The Population in
1900 Was Recorded as 94,969

WASHINGTON—Sept. 17.—The census bureau today issued statistics giving the population of the following cities:

Holyoke, Mass., has 57,730 people, an increase of 12,018 or 26.3 per cent. as compared with 45,712 in 1900.

Lowell, Mass., has 106,294 people, an increase of 11,325, or 11.9 per cent. as compared with 94,969 in 1900.

Pittsfield, Mass., has 32,121 people, an increase of 10,315 or 47.6 per cent. as compared with 21,766 in 1900.

New Orleans has 330,075 people, an increase of 51,971 or 18.3 per cent. as compared with 287,104 in 1900.

THE CENSUS RETURNS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The second bulletin of the census bureau showing the growth of cities was issued today. Of the 38 cities which in 1900 had a population of 100,000 and more, twenty-four have advanced the 100,000 mark during the past decade. The aggregate population of these 24 cities now is 13,596,819 as against 10,376,812 in 1900 and 7,904,140 in 1890. The absolute increase between 1890 and 1900 amounted to 2,471,872; between 1900 and 1910 to 3,220,807.

The percentage of increase for this aggregate population show very little change in the rate of growth during the two decades, being for the earlier 33 per cent. and for the later 35 per cent. The fact is noted that the high rate of increase is not assigned to any one geographical section. Of the seven cities whose rates exceeded 40 per cent., two, Newark and Bridgeport, are eastern, one, Atlanta, in southern, and four, Detroit, Denver, Kansas City and Columbus, are western. Of the two cities with the lowest rate, one is eastern and the other is western.

Remarkable on the facts presented the bulletin says:

"The rates of increase for Detroit, Atlanta, Denver and Kansas City must be regarded as phenomenally high, but even more extraordinary is the high percentage for New York which exceeds the average for 28 cities in the group by 11.4 per cent. and is itself exceeded only by the rates of seven cities. The New York city rate, moreover, has been maintained at its present high point for two decades and may, therefore, be regarded as a normal rate for the city."

Fifty-four cities of between 25,000 and 100,000 are given showing an aggregate population of 2,722,488 as against 1,901,766 in 1900, a gain of 43.2 per cent., a rate of growth which the census bureau pronounces phenomenally high.

Auctioneer

53 Central St. Office, Rooms 77-78 Central Block. Telephone 2415.

Saturday, September 24th, 1910, at 2.30 O'Clock, P. M.

Owing to my advanced years and thereby being unable to still continue the care of my property, I have instructed the auctioneer to offer at absolute auction sale this extraordinary piece of real estate.

The property comprises a block of three tenements of 6-7 rooms, with separate water closets, gas, city water, set wash bowls, sewer connections to each, a large store with all the fixtures, a new hard-wood floor has just been placed in, ice chest, built in; stable for two horses and a large carriage room. There are about 6500 square feet of land, more or less. There is a never failing artesian well of mineral water in the yard that was dug at a large cost, the present owner of the property has sold this water very largely and there is still a heavy demand for it. It is known as the DAVIS MINERAL SPRING. Now this property is in perfect repair; only two weeks ago the roof was newly shingled. This sale presents a most unusual opportunity for either the investor, speculator, home-seeker or business man, as the property can always be rented, and in so doing it would pay a very large revenue on the money invested. For the business man it is unequalled, for he has an elegant store that is all ready to stock, and his stable facilities are of the best; also the location for a store is unsurpassed in or around Lowell, as the demand for business is very much greater than the supply. The property rents for $45 a month, making a total of $540 per year. When out for a walk or drive look this property up, or call at the office of the auctioneer, whom I have left in full charge.

Terms: $300 to be deposited with the auctioneer as soon as struck off.

AUCTION SALE OF A TWO-STORY HOUSE AND ABOUT 5000 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NO. 37 LAUREL STREET

I have instructed the auctioneer to offer at absolute auction sale this very attractive home property. The house is a 2½ story structure containing eight large rooms besides bath, hot and cold water, laundry, furnace heat, gas and sewer connections.

There are 5000 square feet of land with a frontage of 60 feet on the street. The house is in good repair both inside and out. It is within 15 minutes walk of Northbrook square and in an exclusive locality. It is directly on the Oakland line of electric cars, and also within one minute to the Boston car. It is in the immediate vicinity of the new Shedd park, recently accepted by the city.

Now here is an opportunity for either the investor or home-seeker to purchase a property within easy walking distance of the centre of the city and yet be far enough distant to avoid the noise and dust. The location is one of the best in the city as nearly everyone owns their home. Look this property up when out for a walk as someone will receive a great bargain.

Terms: $200 to be deposited with the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off.

Tight to meet the young soldiers. When the new pastor entered the hall he was greeted with cheers. Father Sullivan spoke a few words to the boys and told them what a great interest Father Tighe took in the cadets, even when he was attached to the Sacred Heart parish. Father Tighe complimented the boys highly and also paid a tribute to Father Sullivan for the interest he has taken in the soldiers. He urged them to take the greatest interest in their organization and told them that in the training they are receiving they are bettering themselves physically and mentally. He said that he has always had a warm spot in his heart for the cadets, for he felt they will be among the future soldiers of the church. He congratulated them on their fine appearance in the A. O. H. parade and also complimented them on their grand showing at the recent tour of camp duty. Previous to the assemblage in the school hall the boys were put through a drill under the direction of their military instructor, Lieut. Bernard McARDLE.

Issues Statement About Explosion on North Dakota

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The striking finding of the naval court, which investigated the recent oil explosion and fire on the battleship North Dakota, to the effect that the accident was due to faulty design and installation appears to have led to a great deal of comment in the press. This fact has caused the navy department to make public today the following statement:

"From the published report of the accident on the North Dakota the impression seems to have gone forth that the builders were wholly responsible for it. In fact the installation of the oil burners is after designs that have been used in other navies for a long time with great success. Furthermore all the detailed plans were approved by the navy department. Under the circumstances no one can be held accountable unless it is the navy department, provided the installation was in accord with the approved designs. As a matter of fact, owing to the nature of the accident and the extreme rapidity with which the terrific heat was evolved the evidence as to the cause of the accident is not very clear."

6 O'CLOCK FACE TO FACE Barnes is Ready to Meet Ex-President Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Before leaving for Albany this afternoon William Barnes, Jr., expressed the hope that he would be given an opportunity of meeting Theodore Roosevelt face to face in the committee on resolutions at the republican state committee to debate the issues.

"In the matters which have come under discussion between Mr. Roosevelt and me," said Mr. Barnes, "I realize that in each instance he has replied not argumentatively but against me individually. I am opposed to the radical attitude toward public affairs which he has exhibited. The weakness of his argument lies in the fact that whenever his position is assailed he attacks the man and not the argument. This is in accordance with his method of appealing to passion and not to reason."

"I hope that Mr. Roosevelt will be a member of the committee on resolutions at the state convention as I hope to be myself, because in that forum he will be compelled to face arguments."

"Have you considered the possibility of an endorsement by the state convention of President Taft for 1912?" Mr. Barnes was asked.

"I understand that Mr. Roosevelt has considered it," was his quick reply.

Mr. Barnes said it was not impossible that the question of a plank in the platform dealing with the United States supreme court would be considered by the committee on resolutions.

"It would hardly seem necessary, however, for the republican party to declare that it accepted the decisions of the supreme court," he added, "even if one of the members of the party does it."

Abraham Gruber, leader of the seveneenth assembly district, announced today that the delegates from his district would support the candidacy of Assemblyman William Bennett, who is seeking the nomination for congress from the fifteenth district against J. Van Vechten Olcott, the present representative. This practically assures Mr. Bennett's nomination.

JOHN H. MURPHY Elected Treasurer of Trade Extension Asso.

The merchants who compose the Suburban Trade Extension association met yesterday at the board of trade rooms with James O'Sullivan in the chair and after an informal discussion of the affairs of the association voted to continue under the present policy.

JOHN H. MURPHY.

and elected John Murphy, secretary of the board of trade, to be secretary and treasurer of the association.

This association comprises many of Lowell's leading merchants for the purpose of booming the business places of Lowell in all cities and towns within reachable distance of Lowell. A fund was established by individual contributions of considerable size which was used to good advantage. In booming Lowell in cities and towns within a radius of 10 miles of this city. This is the organization that established Suburban day, offering purchasers from the suburbs special inducements to come to Lowell to trade and also was responsible for Lowell's bargain day. It still has a substantial fund and proposes to continue the good work during the coming winter season.

FAMOUS GOLFERS GREAT EXPOSITION Contest at Brookline for the Highest Honors To Celebrate Completion of the Panama Canal

BROOKLINE, Sept. 17.—Two seasoned golfers, W. C. Fownes of Pittsburg and W. K. Wood of the Homewood club of Chicago, met today at the Country club for the highest golfing honors of the country in the finals for the amateur championship. Although both players have been factors in amateur tournaments for the past eight or ten years, neither was ever a finalist in the national championship before. Last year Fownes was defeated by W. J. Travis in the second round by 4 and 3 and Wood was defeated by H. C. Egan in the second round by 6 and 5. In 1908 at Garden City W. J. Travis beat Fownes by 7 and 5 in the third round. Wood did not compete. In 1907 at Cleveland Wood beat Whittemore by 2 and 1, Max Schr by 5 and 4 and was beaten in the third round by Jerome Travers by one up. At Cleveland Fownes beat W. J. Travis by 1 up, 20 holes and was beaten in the semi-final 4 and 5. In 1906 at Englewood, N. J., neither player competed. In 1905 at Chicago Fownes beat Travis by 1 up, 18 holes, and was defeated by Dan E. Sawyer in the semi-final by 3 up. Wood was beaten in the first round by H. Weber, the match going 20 holes. In 1904 at Baltusrol, N. J., neither golfer played. In 1903 at Nassau Fownes was beaten by McFarland of Philadelphia by 3 and 1 up in the first round. He did not play at Glenview, near Chicago, in 1902. In 1901 at Atlantic he was beaten by W. E. Egan by 4 and 3.

It will be seen, therefore, that national championships were no new sensation for either player and as both have shown a cool head and a steady hand, the match today was regarded with great interest by the golfing world. Neither was it surprising that several hundred close followers of the game should track after the players and that a 200 foot rope should have to be stretched across the field to keep back the impetuous and the two contestants room to swing their clubs.

First hole—Fownes had the honor of leading and lined out a straight one that ran 220 yards along the polo field before it stopped. Wood was not so quiet so far but sent his second straight to the green while Fownes sliced and was almost stymied by a giant maul. Wood had a fine chance to capture the hole but was only able to halve it because of poor putting. Even.

Second hole—Wood was a trifle behind Fownes on the drive to the second hole but ran a beautiful one to the green, while Fownes although also on the green was away. Both tried hard to roll down long puts but had to be content with halving the hole. Even.

Third hole—A stiff northeaster was blowing across the third hole. Each player sliced into the rough behind a thick growth of trees. Wood tore up a lot of weeds on his second shot but made only fifty yards. Fownes pushed his ball far over to the left into the rough again. Wood sent his third to the green and Fownes missed one of the trees guarding the green by half a foot. The Pittsburg player was short in his approach put and Wood captured the hole. Wood 1 up.

Fourth hole—Wood had a good chance to win the fourth for Fownes pulled his drive into the deep woods again and while he made a beautiful recovery was off to the left of the hole. The Pittsburg player was short in his approach but, however, Fownes ran down a five foot put. Even.

Fifth hole—Fownes shot his drive to the fifth down the course 220 yards while Wood misjudged the strength of the wind and sliced two shots from the tee out of bounds. The third was trapped and he lifted for the loss of the hole. Fownes 1 up.

Sixth hole—Both players followed good drives to the hole by sending the second to the green but Wood was too strong in his approach and narrowly missed losing the hole, which was halved. Fownes 1 up.

Seventh hole—At the seventh hole Wood had an opportunity to even the match on the seventh green for he was just on the edge of the green on his drive from the tee while Fownes was short. The Pittsburg player was short again in his approach and on his third just missed the cup. Wood in his approach put overran and laid himself a styptic which he was unable to negotiate, so they split even. Fownes 1 up.

Eighth hole—At the eighth hole Wood sliced badly, driving to the eighth and sent his second into the woods to the left of the green while Fownes played far and sure for two shots. Wood had a chance to make a half but failed to run down a five foot put and Fownes took the hole. Fownes 2 up.

Ninth hole—At the ninth hole after Fownes had lined out a 170 yard drive, Wood topped badly and only made 100 yards on his second. He was short on his third and over the hole on his fourth, so that Fownes had no difficulty in taking the hole and increasing his lead to 3 up at the turn. Fownes 3 up.

Tenth hole—Fownes laid his midiron to the green, going to the tenth to within two feet of the hole and as Wood was trapped Fownes picked up another hole. Fownes 4 up.

Eleventh hole—Fownes was trapped on his drive to the eleventh and his second also landed in the sand pit, giving Wood the hole. Fownes 3 up.

Twelfth hole—On the 12th Wood pulled his second shot into a clump of trees but dodged three of them, getting out, and laid his third on the green. Fownes was just short on his second and overran the hole on the third. He was stymied by Wood but negotiated it in fine shape and got another hole. Fownes 4 up.

Thirteenth hole—Both made good drives to the 13th and Wood put a beautiful shot to within five feet of the hole on his approach. Fownes ran over and above the hole on the side of the bank but ran down carefully to within two feet of the hole on his next. Wood tried to run down his ball but put and the hole was halved. Fownes 4 up.

Fourteenth hole—After Fownes had driven a fine straight ball to the 14th Wood sliced into the rough, topped his second and third and was trapped on his fourth. Fownes played carefully and was on the near side of the green on his third. Wood ran down a six foot put but failed to capture the hole. Fownes 5 up.

Fifteenth hole—Fownes made a magnificent drive of 200 yards for the 15th while Wood sliced. Having a bad stance Wood made a poor second. Fownes was on the green and holed a 12-foot put, taking the hole. Fownes 6 up.

Sixteen hole—Fownes made a shot for the shot 16th was trapped but he got out beautifully and halved the hole. Fownes 6 up.

Seventeenth hole—Fownes sliced into the rough going in the 17th while Wood drove straight. Fownes overran the green on his approach and overran the hole on his approach put, going into a bad trap. Wood won the hole easily. Fownes 5 up.

Eighteenth hole—The players came across the polo field for the home hole after good drives but both flubbed their second shots and were on the race track beneath the green. Wood pletched his approach on the green and overran the hole, 15 feet, while Fownes went still farther. Fownes ran his approach within five inches of the hole, narrowly missing it while Wood holed out. The gallery applauded the Chicago player tee out of bounds. The third was for his gameness. Fownes 4 up.

Mayor John F. Meehan has received a letter from the World's Panama Exposition company of New Orleans asking his endorsement and approval of the city's endorsement and approval of New Orleans as the best site for the great exposition to be held in 1915, to celebrate the completion of the Panama canal. The choice between New Orleans and San Francisco will be made by congress at the coming session.

Following are a few extracts from the letter received by the mayor:

"For your city the question is, which town—New Orleans or San Francisco—will be the better place for the exposition, for we do not expect you to look at the question through ours but through your own spectacles; which of the two cities is the nearer, which will cost the least, in time and money to visit; if there are exhibitors from your city who want to display their products, where can they display them to the greatest advantage? If the exposition helps to develop the section in which it is held, which development will prove of the greatest advantage to your city and section, that of the Pacific coast or the Mississippi valley and the south?"

"We ask you, therefore, to help congress to decide this problem of the site of the exposition by letting us know which of the two cities will best suit your people, and is therefore favored by them. In asking you to pronounce on this question, we are doing so in the interest of your own people who, in this or in other cities, have and exercise the right to express their preference to their congressmen, and expect favorable action."

Over two hundred cities have through their mayors, city councils and boards of aldermen expressed themselves in favor of New Orleans as the proper site for the exposition. At the recent convention of American municipalities held at St. Paul, Minnesota, last month, strong resolutions were adopted favoring New Orleans as the logical site for the exposition. They were adopted with but one dissenting vote, which was cast by the mayor of Nebraska, who declared for neither of the two contesting positions. He expressed himself in favor of San Diego.

IRISH LEADERS COMING

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The steamers Lusitania, Baltic and Laurentic, which sailed from British ports today for the United States, carried 5700 passengers. The Baltic's travelers included John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish nationalists and his associates, T. P. O'Connor and Joseph Devlin, who are to tour America in the interest of the Irish national movement.

DISAPPEARED FROM HOME

SANFORD, Me., Sept. 17.—John W. Pickles, who told the Norton, Mass., police yesterday that he had been chased all night by 300 Italian militiamen, 20 negroes and 11 hounds and was found to be insane, disappeared from his home here last Christmas. Since then his wife and two children, all of whom work in loom mills, have heard nothing from him. His initials and date of his birth are tattooed on one of his arms. Mr. Pickles is 52 years old and was born in England. He was a woolsorter and came here from Lawrence thirteen years ago. His family has no doubt of his identity.

ARMY OFFICERS

Pleased With Performance of Air Machines

GRAND VILLIERS, France, Sept. 17.—General Brun, French minister of war, and the entire army are enthusiastic over the achievements of the aeroplanes and dirigible balloons during the military manoeuvres which ended today. The military experts are unanimous in the opinion that the air machines are destined not only to play a most important role in future war but to greatly modify it not revolutionize army strategy. Hereafter it will be almost impossible to conceal the position and advancement of troops and so will be eliminated practically all the surprise flank operations which have decided so many critical battles.

Regarding the relative merits of the aeroplane and the dirigible, opinions differ; but the consensus of opinion appears to be that as each supplements the other a combination of both is necessary. The aeroplane demonstrated its superiority in the matter of speed, in visibility and weather, while its portability avoids the necessity of housing; but at the same time the excessive speed of the machines is a drawback, as it hinders observation from them necessarily vague while flying. Twice during the manoeuvres General Munier, commanding the Third corps, was compelled to send the pilot of an aeroplane back over the scouting field to obtain more precise information. The dirigible, although slower, and so offering a better target for the enemy, are able to make more accurate observations, besides enjoying the advantage of being in constant wireless communication with headquarters.

While offensive aerial operations have not been attempted here, General Brun is convinced that the development of the aeroplane opens a great field for aggressive aerial operations, such as day and night raids for the purpose of dropping explosives within the enemy's lines.

BARN BURNED
ON DAY BEFORE IT WAS TO BE SOLD

ORFORD, N. H., Sept. 17.—While Clarence H. Carr was going over the deeds of his house and barn with a purchaser, preparatory for a sale today, neighbors discovered a blaze in his barn last evening and turned in an alarm. The property, with the exception of a few movables, was entirely consumed, entailing a loss of $7000. He had insurance.

Carr and his family had left the home half an hour before the blaze started for a trip to town, where Mr. Carr, with the purchaser, looked over the deeds.

FUNERAL NOTICE
SARGENT—Died in this city today, James A. Sargent, aged 63 years, at his residence, 1 rear of 559 Broadway. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker George W. Healey and the funeral services will be held at the undertaking parlors Monday afternoon at two o'clock. Friends invited. Burial private.

THE HIGH SCHOOL

Attendance This Year 1229--Examination for Evening Teachers

Yesterday the number of pupils at the High school numbered 1229 as against 1170 on the corresponding day last year. There are 116 non-resident scholars this year as against 86 last year, and all of the 116 should remain the whole year the city would receive nearly $7000. There are three terms, $20 a term or $60 a year.

Following are the places that the non-resident pupils come from and the number from each place: Dracut 39, Tewksbury 25, Tyngsboro 17, North Chelmsford 6, Westford 3, Collinsville 3, West Chelmsford 2, Billerica 1, Wamesit 4, Dunstable 3, Chelmsford

Centre 1, North Tewksbury 4, East Dracut 2.

Examinations Today

An examination for teachers for the evening schools was held at the high school this forenoon. Supt. Whitcomb conducted the examination and there were 11 candidates, eight women and three men. Mr. Whitcomb will report the result of the examination to the school board and those of the candidates who were successful, or as many of them as are required, will be elected at the next meeting of the school board.

THE NEW Y. M. C. A. BUILDING TO BE ERECTED ON THE HUNTINGTON HALL LOT

The contracts for the construction of the new Y. M. C. A. building on the Huntington hall lot will be awarded some time next week, and it is expected that the work will be started immediately after the award of the contracts. The bids are now practically all in and the executive committee of the association will meet next week for the purpose of opening bids. The exact date of the meeting has not been decided upon.

EGYPT'S COTTON CROP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Egypt's cotton crop this year, it is estimated, will exceed 700,000,000 pounds, and Consul Birch at Alexandria reports that probably it will be the largest crop ever yielded by Egyptian fields. He declares that weather conditions both in the upper and lower Egypt have been favorable for the crop.

DEATHS

GUYTON—Miss Margaret T. Guyton, a domestic employed at 11 Fourth avenue, dropped dead at the residence of her employers last night. Her death came entirely unexpected, as she was apparently in fairly good health.

Dr. A. G. Dennett of Varnum avenue was hastily called and pronounced the death due to apoplexy. Medical Examiner Meigs was notified and the usual procedure in such cases was gone through.

Miss Guyton was 69 years old and her home was at 153 Mammoth road. She leaves one brother, Patrick H. Guyton of this city.

HUNTER—Winfield S. Hunter, aged 63, died suddenly at his home, 12 Cambridge street, yesterday morning. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of death.

Mr. Hunter and his wife were preparing to visit relatives in Springfield and deceased was walking down stairs when he fell unconscious and died soon after. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ellen J. Hunter, and four children, Mrs. Irene Long of Springfield, Mrs. Edith Moore of Alford, and Arthur and Frank Hunter of the west.

Mr. Hunter was an old soldier, having served in Company E of the 33d Massachusetts regiment.

WELCH—On Sept. 11, in Schenectady, N. Y., occurred the death of Mrs. Louise Welch, where she had made her home the past few months.

Mrs. Welch was the widow of the late Dr. Selim N. Welch, who was for many years the leading physician in Sutton, N. H. After his death, Mrs. Welch, who always took a deep interest in nursing and hospital work, removed to Concord, N. H., where for several years she was matron in the Woman's hospital of that city, later coming to Lowell, where she made her home in Osgood street.

DEMAIS—Mrs. Clement Dumais died yesterday at her home, 9 Jollette avenue, aged 21 years. She left her husband and a baby; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rainville; a brother, Thomas Rainville, Jr.; and two sisters, Mrs. Sophie Charbonneau of Montreal and Rev. Sister Marie De Sainte-Emilie of Notre-Dame convent, Halifax, N. S.

AMES—Mrs. Mildred Ames died last night at the City hospital. She was 38 years old. She leaves a husband, Albert H. Ames. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker G. W. Healey.

FUNERAL NOTICES

GUYTON—Miss Margaret T. Guyton, aged 69 years, an old and much respected resident of St. Patrick's parish, died last night at her home, No. 153 Mammoth road. She leaves one brother, Patrick H. Guyton. The funeral will take place Monday morning at 8 o'clock from the house and at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem will be said at St. Patrick's church. Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

SHIELDS—The funeral of the late James Shields will take place Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from his late home, No. 196 Cornhill street. Monday morning at 8 o'clock there will be a high mass of requiem for the eternal repose of his soul at St. Michael's church. Friends invited. Funeral in charge of undertaker James W. McKenna.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

FUNERALS

BRODERICK—The funeral of Mary Broderick took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the undertaking rooms of John F. Rogers, 445 Cornhill street. Burial was in the Edson cemetery.

KANE—The remains of Thomas Kane were consigned to their final resting place in the Catholic cemetery this morning. The little boy, who was just beginning to be a comfort to his mother and a ray of sunshine to the home, will be greatly missed by the bereaved parent. The esteem in which the boy was held by all who knew him was evidenced by the large number of people who visited the house since his death and also the large attendance at the funeral this morning.

The funeral took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from the home of his mother, 6 Griffin street, and proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where at 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. James T. McDermott, O. M. I. The choir rendered the Gregorian mass. At the offertory "Pie Jesu" was rendered by Mrs. Adelaide A. Muldoon and as the body was being borne from the church "De Profundis" was rendered by the sanctuary choir. The choir was under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide A. Muldoon and she also presided at the organ.

There was a profusion of beautiful and appropriate floral offerings, the following being the most prominent: large pillow of roses, carnations and asters with the inscription "Our Darling," from the mother and brother; spray of white asters from the granddaughters, Mrs. Bridget Kane; spray of pinks and white asters with ribbon inscribed "Cousin," Gleason family; spray of white asters with white ribbon with the inscription "Cousin," Bert and Thos. Kane; spray of white asters with pink ribbon inscribed "At Rest," from the aunt, Miss Lizzie Angelo; spray of pink carnations from Aunt Miss Ella Angelo; mound of roses, asters and ferns with the inscription "Cousin," from O'Neill family; spray of white asters and maidenhair ferns, Mr. and Mrs. Cavanaugh; spray of white asters, Miss Minnie Connors; spray of pink asters, Mr. Fred Pidgeon; spray of chrysanthemums and maidenhair ferns from the Misses Gladys and Helen Freeman; spray of pink and white asters, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sharkey; spray of white asters from a friend. There were several other sprays from friends.

The casket was borne from the church to the hearse by the following bearers: John Kennedy, James Kennedy, Daniel Sullivan, Harold McKenna, William McMahon and Frederick Gleason.

The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's cemetery, burial being in the family lot where the last sad rites of the Catholic church were read at the grave by Rev. James T. McDermott, O. M. I. The funeral was largely attended and under the direction of undertakers Higgins Bros.

U. S. MINISTER SERIOUSLY ILL
BALTIMORE, Sept. 17.—Hamilton Klag, United States minister to Spain, is seriously ill at a hospital here. Mr. King recently underwent an operation for kidney trouble. This morning he was reported to be a little better, but his condition is grave.

BACK HOME AGAIN

Dr. Martin Morris Revisiting Lowell

Dr. Martin Morris, a former Lowell boy, now one of the leading veterinary surgeons of the south, located at Savannah, Ga., is at home on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morris of Dracut Centre, and incidentally is renewing old acquaintances in Lowell. Dr. Morris has been away from Lowell for 20 years. After graduating from the Lowell High school he studied under Dr. Sherman of this city and at the University of New York, from which institution he graduated with honors. Upon receiving his degree he set forth to establish himself in a new and unknown field and going to Savannah set up his shingle and started to do business. Being possessed of exceptional ability and a most genial personality, his success was practically instantaneous and he soon became one of the leading citizens of Savannah. In fact he has become so thoroughly southernized that he speaks with the delightful accent of the south and none would ever imagine that he received his first impressions of the English language in the vicinity of old River street. Dr. Morris is one of the leading bills of Savannah. He will remain in this vicinity for the next two weeks.

DR. MARTIN MORRIS of Savannah

TO BUILD WARSHIPS
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The Call this morning states that Charles L. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, is to meet Prince Tsai Hsun, uncle of the emperor of China, in this city next week to "close a deal" for the building of a fleet of war vessels for China.

In support of its assertion that American shipyards are likely to be given the work of building the warships, the Call quotes John A. McGregory, president of the Union Iron works, as saying that he is informed that plans drawn by the Bethlehem Steel company have been favorably considered by the Chinese government.

MATRIMONIAL
Mr. Cyril Chalfoux of this city and Miss Marie Anne Ducharme, formerly of this city, were married last Tuesday at St. Felix de Valois, P. Q., at a high mass celebrated by the pastor of the parish. Mr. and Mrs. Chalfoux will arrive in Lowell next Saturday.

IN POLICE COURT

War Veteran Lost His Money on Jeffries

Alvin C. Lovering, an old pensioner, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on two counts of illegally removing baggage from boarding houses in this city and admitted to the court that one of the reasons why he could not pay his bills was because he had bet all the money he had on Jeffries when the latter fought Johnson in Reno and because Jeffries failed to come back he lost his roll.

Elizabeth B. Ricard, who conducts a boarding house at 34 Webster street, said that Lovering and his wife boarded at her house and ran up a bill of about $75 and that they left her place on June 11th and took everything that belonged to them. Later they went to the boarding house at 42 Tyler street conducted by Annie Coleman and after running up a bill of $5 left that place. Lovering admitted that he was indebted to the two women and promised to liquidate his indebtedness if the court would give him a chance to do so. Judge Hadley placed the matter in the hands of the probation officer.

Nellie Alberta Huntley of Dracut was found guilty of being a stubborn child and was sentenced to the women's prison at Sherborn.

Charles McGilligan, a parole man from the state farm, will be returned to that institution.

There was one drunken offender who was fined $2.

ENTERED A PROTEST

PARIS, Sept. 17.—The organizers of the Egyptian national congress today issued a public protest against the action of the French government in refusing to permit the meeting to be held here. They charge that the inhibition was at the request of Great Britain.

A semi-official explanation states that the attitude of the government was due to the anti-French campaign being preached by the Mussulmans in Algeria and Morocco.

GREAT MEETING

The National Council of the Congregational Churches

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—What prominent Congregationalists declare will be the most important gathering of members of their denomination ever held in this country will occur in this city next month when the national council of the Congregational churches of the United States will hold its fourteenth triennial session. From Oct. 10 to 20 the council and all kindred organizations will be in session in Tremont temple with overflow meetings in Park street church and the new Old South church and one mass meeting in Symphony hall. Practically all the national societies of the Congregational church will join in the convention. Fully five thousand delegates are expected to be in attendance.

A notable feature will be the observance of the centenary of the organization of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions. At this celebration congratulatory addresses will be made by representatives from more than fifty other religious denominations of the United States and Europe.

Annual meetings will be held by the Congregational Educational society, Congregational Home Mission society, American Missionary association, Congregational Church Building society, Congregational Sunday School and Publishing society, Congregational Board of Ministerial Relief, and the Congregational Brotherhood. At the opening meeting of the national council in Tremont temple Monday evening, Oct. 10, Governor Draper will welcome the delegates on behalf of the state, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald on behalf of the city and Rev. A. S. Conrad, pastor of the Park street church, on behalf of the churches of greater Boston. The response will be made by the moderator of the national council, Thomas C. MacMillan of Chicago. Elaborate arrangements have been made by the reception committee for the entertainment of the delegates.

KIDNAPPING CASE NORRIS IS ALIVE

Reported to Authorities in Providence Finds His Name in List of Dead

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 17.—There was a pathetic scene in the superior court yesterday, where presiding Justice Tanner heard a petition for a writ of habeas corpus brought by Katherine D. O'Rourke of Boston against William J. and Edith Porter of Warwick to recover Annie F. Connor, 14 years old, and restore her to her mother, Ms. Annie Connor of Boston.

The child refused to recognize her mother, Mrs. Annie Connor, in the courtroom and tears were in the eyes of the latter as she left the building. When Mrs. Connor entered the courtroom she attempted to kiss her daughter, but was refused. When she left she tried to put her arms around the girl's shoulders, but was again shunned, the girl getting away.

Presiding Justice Tanner is holding the case under advisement. He has given Judge Lester T. Murphy, who represents the Connor, the opportunity to file a brief. R. E. Lyman appeared for the complainant.

The case is a strange one, involving the extraordinary actions on the part of the little girl who seems to have no love for her parents and prefers the Porters. Mrs. Porter is strikingly handsome. She has no children of her own. The complainant, Katherine D. O'Rourke, is the agent of the society for the prevention of cruelty to children in Boston.

He learned it when he came to Haverhill. Stowell spent some days in this city renewing old acquaintances. He knew that his friend Norris lived here during war times and so went about to look up some facts. The first thing he ran into was Norris' name chiseled on the monument among the list of dead heroes. Stowell went back to Portland and tried to convince Norris that he (Norris) was dead. Norris said: "No I'm not," and he proceeded to convince his comrade that he was very much alive.

It seems that Norris and his brother Albert, whose name is also on the monument, enlisted from Haverhill in Co. I, Mass. heavy artillery. After the war Lyman came back here and worked in several shoe factories. He only remained a short time and no one seemed to know just where he went.

Norris on his visit here was unable to find any well-known landmarks.

TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

Board of Health Holds Milk Supply Alone Responsible

The Board Discovers a Typhoid Carrier Employed in the Milk Business and Has Him Discharged

Four new cases of typhoid fever were reported at the office of the board of health today. This brings the total up to 69 and the board has traced 43 of the 69 cases to the milk delivered on one milk route.

Some one raised the alarm that the water was infected and the board of health and the water department were queried relative to the report and were asked if there was any foundation in fact for it.

From Milk to Water

Dr. Huntress was asked what he thought about it. "In the present epidemic," said Dr. Huntress, "there is nothing that points to the water. If the water was responsible for it we would not be able to connect more than 60 per cent of the total number of cases to one milk route. I am not surprised, however, that the question has been asked, but if 100,000 people were drinking typhoid water the total number of cases would be more than 60, and the board of health would not be able to connect 60 per cent of them to one milk route."

A member of the water department said the water is analyzed every few weeks and the last examination, which was only a few days ago, showed that the water maintained its usual purity. "There is nothing the matter with the water," he said.

A Typhoid Carrier

The board of health has discovered a typhoid carrier: a man who shows no symptoms of the disease but in whose blood the germ lurks. In discussing this particular man, today, a doctor stated that the case was not an unusual one. "It was not so very long ago," he said, "that you read in the papers about a girl who carried typhoid fever from place to place. Everywhere she went to work the disease would show itself and after the story had been told the doctors got together and decided that she was a typhoid carrier. She showed no symptoms of the disease at all, but when it came to a test of her blood the germ was found there."

"I presume that the milkman's case is a similar one. A blood test has been made and it proved positive. The man does not show any symptoms of the disease, but it is in his blood just the same, and he ought not to be allowed to engage in any way in the milk business."

Dr. Huntress said today that the board would not allow the man to engage in the milk business in any capacity and the man has been so warned. He called at the office of the board yesterday and registered a kick because the board had ruled him out of the milk business. He was told that because of the blood test the board would have to stick to its decision and he was advised to find some other line of business.

MGR. BALDOMERO ARRESTED
LISBON, Sept. 17.—According to today's papers, Monsignor Baldomero, superior of the Alden Ponte friars, was arrested as he was entering the Spanish monastery. The monastery was recently closed by an imperial decree and its occupants were expelled and threatened with arrest if they returned to the country.

SHERIFF ARRESTED
ABERDEEN, S. D., Sept. 17.—Sheriff Perry of Corson county was arrested yesterday by T. E. Dreits, the United States Indian officer, on a charge of furnishing Indians on the Standing Rock reservation with intoxicating liquor, taking them before a mock court and having them "fined" for being drunk. Perry is in jail in default of $1000 bail.

CLEVER RACING

Sarah Ann Patch Won Big Event at Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 17.—The last day of the Grand Circuit races at the New York state fair grounds brought out a big crowd and developed some good racing.

The 2.15 pace had four starters. The first heat proved easy for Sarah Ann Patch. There was a good fight for place, Direct Adair capturing it, Charles being third and Oakland Son fourth.

The second and final heat also went to Sarah Ann Patch. Although she held the field only by a length to the stretch, she drew away as she pleased, hearing the wire. Oakland Son captured the place, with Direct Adair third.

In the first heat of the 2.11 trot Melva J led around to the far turn; then there was a great race down the stretch. Bervardo challenged Melva J, and then up came Justo with a rush. Melva J was first in the rush for the wire until the final moment, when Justo, by a magnificent spurt, passed her. Bervardo was third.

The second heat was a hot one. Justo led all the way to the stretch and in the lead to the wire Melva J. Bervardo and Startle took after him. The finish was so close that it left the spectators in doubt as to all of the first four horses except Startle, who won. The judges gave second place to Melva J, third to Bervardo and fourth to Justo. Justo and Startle proceeded in the third heat to give one of the real sensations of the entire meet. After Startle had led to the stretch, with Justo a length back, McDonald challenged. The finish had the crowd yelling, while many asked if it were not a dead heat. But Startle had it by a fraction.

Locust Boy took the 2.11 pace, although dropping the second heat to Dr. Fox. Peter Dorsey won the 2.15 trot in straight heats. The summary:

WRESTLERS WHO ARE NOW THE SENSATION IN LONDON AND SCENE IN A RECENT CONTEST

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The strenuous wrestling game seems to have taken a firm hold on the sporting public here. Several big matches have been held, and more are scheduled to take place.

The promoters are making every effort to bring together all the crack mat artists of Europe before the holidays.

George Hackenschmidt, the Russian Lion, and Ivan Padouny, the Russian Giant, are expected to arrive within the next few weeks. Among the stellar wrestling lights here are John Lemm, the Swiss champion; Zhyaco, the Polish champion; Iman Box, the Sultan of Turkey's favorite, and the Indian Gama. The latter is one of the best mat artists that have appeared here in some time. Among those he defeated are: Dr. Roller, one of America's best wrestlers, and John Lemm.

His most recent bout was with Zhyaco. After wrestling with the latter for two hours and a half the referee stopped the contest owing to darkness.

The pair are to meet again for a gold belt and a side bet of $1,500. Gama is so sure that he will defeat Zhyaco that he has announced he would set sail for America to seek a match with Frank Gotch, the world's champion. Gama claims that he has good backing for a contest with the title holder.

WANTS INJUNCTION

Frank Mallory Holds Up North Chelmsford School

FRANK A. MALLORY.

JAMES P. DUNNIGAN.

Claims Money Was Illegally Appropriated at Recent Town Meeting and Objects to Proposed Site—Attempt Will be Made to Have Another Vote On the Matter

While there are more school children in North Chelmsford than there are school accommodations at the present time necessitating an overflow room in the fire house, which is said to be an improper place for school purposes, a big fight is on over the building of a new school house and although a special meeting of the voters of the town voted $17,500 for a new school on the McNally lot, action has been held up by Frank Mallory, representing himself and other citizens and there is a possibility of litigation before the school shall be built despite the great need of it. Mr. Mallory and the others admit the need of more school room but they object primarily to the manner in which the recent town meeting was conducted and incidentally to the McNally lot as the site of the proposed new school.

The recent town meeting was presided over by Capt. J. Adams Bartlett, who has been moderator over every town meeting held in Chelmsford in the past 25 or 30 years and who is an authority on the laws governing town meetings, and this meeting voted to appropriate $300 for the purchase of the McNally lot for a site for the new school and $17,500 for the construction of a school building on that lot.

The day following the meeting Mr. Mallory and a delegation of citizens of North Chelmsford employed as counsel Messrs. Tierney and Farley of this city to institute injunction proceedings restraining the town from proceeding with the work of building the school on the ground that the money was voted illegally; first because the moderator illegally refused to entertain a doubt of the vote on a motion to use the check lists in voting on the question of appropriating the money, and secondly because the vote itself was illegal by reason of the fact that several men voted who were not legal voters of Chelmsford but who reside in Cavendish or some other neighboring town.

Mr. Tierney who has years of experience as moderator of town meetings in his native town of Westfield before coming to Lowell, explained that injunction proceedings would not be in order under the circumstances but that the court might be petitioned to hold an inquisition on the methods employed at the meeting relative to their legality and suggested that the committee request the selectmen to call a special meeting and have the matter reconsidered and voted upon in a manner over which there could be no question. Meanwhile he notified the town treasurer, town clerk and chairman of the board of selectmen that a protest against the action of the meeting would be formally filed, and requesting them to notify any persons of whom they were intended to borrow the money thus appropriated. It is understood that those who protest against the action of the town meeting are now circulating a petition for another special town meeting for the purpose of rescinding the action of the previous meeting.

Mr. Mallory claims among other things that the town meeting was packed. Before the vote was taken on the article calling for the appropriation of $17,500, another motion was put to the effect that the check lists be used in taking the vote. The motion was declared lost.

Mr. Mallory further claims that when the vote was announced several men doubted the vote but that Moderator Bartlett refused to entertain the doubt and declared the motion lost. When the vote was taken a two-thirds vote being required to borrow money, the votes were counted and it was claimed that among those who voted for the appropriation were men not legal voters of the town who would have been discovered had the check lists been used.

Capt. Bartlett when seen by a reporter of The Sun today said: "I haven't heard of any protest and I can't see where there is any ground for any. The state says that if seven voters doubt a vote the moderator must entertain

"TOM" McCRANN HAS BEEN EXPERIMENTING WITH KITES

Mr. Thomas McCrann of Pleasant street, who has been spending his vacation in New Hampshire, has written to his friend Henry Dunham, that on Wednesday he made the ascent of Mt. Washington following the path always taken by the members of the Appalachian club. His purpose in making the trip was to experiment with kites, he having taken with him several different types of flyers. He writes that he has succeeded in building a kite that he expects will be accepted as the finest pattern ever presented. When he returns home he will make further experiments from Fort Hill park and Pine Hill. He is anxious to compete with the young O. M. I. cadet who is so successful in his experiments with kites and their construction.

TOUR OF IRELAND

Mgr. O'Callaghan Talks of His Trip

Monsignor O'Callaghan of St. Augustine church, South Boston, arrived from Ireland the other day on the Mauretania. Speaking of the conditions in Ireland he said:

"I had a most delightful trip, although, of course, I am very, very glad to be back home once more," said Mgr. O'Callaghan.

"I noted great betterment of conditions in Ireland, for there has been tremendous progress in recent years. The young men of Ireland should be proud of their race, for it is a race that is always progressing, never retrogressing."

"A man who is doing much for the Irish party and who is responsible in a large measure for the prosperity of Ireland is John Redmond. When his name was mentioned at a meeting I attended, and at which I spoke, it was greeted with prolonged cheering."

"The I said at the time, 'You have voices. Yes, you should cry out. Yes, ladies and gentlemen, you have stated the fact. It is the great Irish party. The tree is known by its fruit, and it is because the party has given you all of these things of which I have spoken that some would suggest that you should expect them from the house of commons."

"Do you want those representatives of Ireland, those stalwart men of Ireland, to be as carpets on the floor without a voice, or disqualified by you from rising in your behalf the voice that God has given them?"

"There were loud cries of 'no, no,' to this, and then I advised them to stick by their representatives."

WOMAN FLYER

WAS IN A SMASHUP AT MINNEOLA, L. I.

MINNEOLA, L. I., Sept. 17.—Mrs. Ralsche, wife of the head of an aeroplane company, had the distinction yesterday to figure in the first aeroplane smashup, engineered by a woman, at the aviation grounds here, and possibly in the country. Mrs. Ralsche came out on the field yesterday morning for her initial try, which, with beginners, consists of what is known as "grass cutting" or skimming the field.

She had gone perhaps a mile, when suddenly she ran into a depression and came to grief in approved fashion. The nose of the machine was jammed into the ground, smashing the forward control. Mrs. Ralsche was thrown out, the machine falling on top of her.

She scrambled out from under the wreck and ran, limping somewhat, to shut off her motor, which was still running at full speed. The machine was damaged.

LOSS IS $4000

FIRE CAUSED BY RATS AND MATCHES

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 17.—A fire which may have been caused by rats igniting matches broke out in the Sacred Heart parochial school on Everett street shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The building was damaged to the extent of about $4000. The flames started in a pile of books and school utensils stored in a small closet on the fourth floor, which is one of the high school rooms.

When the fire department arrived the flames were eating their way rapidly through the ceiling of the adjoining room, rendering it necessary to cut three large holes in the roof, through which three streams of water were thrown on the fire.

The other rooms in the building were flooded with water before the fire was under control.

Two workmen who were in the building when the blaze started rang in an alarm and escaped without injury.

Assisted by several sisters of the Sacred Heart church, Rev. Thomas Smyth, the pastor, removed many of the desks, thereby preventing them from being damaged by water. The loss

OUR GRAMMAR SCHOOLS

BARTLETT SCHOOL

Its History and Sketch of Its Principal

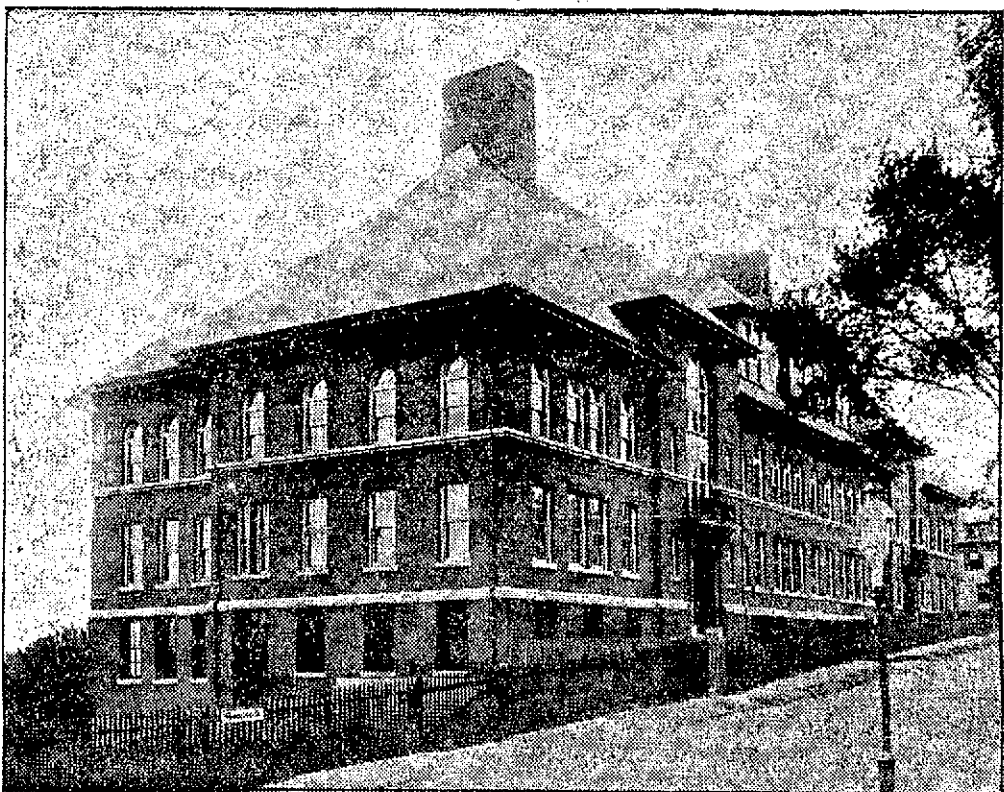

The Bartlett school, which on account of its comparatively short career is still referred to as the "New" Bartlett to distinguish it from the famous old school building of that name on Clark street, is under way again with a full complement of teachers and is one of the most interesting institutions of its kind in the state.

Aside from being a grammar school and a part of the local school system, it is also a practice school for the state normal school and is run under the supervision of the state board of education though in such a manner as not to conflict with any of the requirements of the local system.

The first responsibility of the school is for the pupils and hence they are taught by regularly elected teachers of the local force. But the teachers of the Bartlett after being named by the local school board are also elected by the state board of education and receive an additional salary from the state which divides the expense of the school with the city. There are now 17 teachers at the Bartlett school. The building is but a few years old. It cost $100,000 and has been pronounced by the experts both architectural and educational as a model school building. Its use to the state normal school is to furnish a place where young women studying to become teachers may have an opportunity to combine practice with theory and get practical experience under supervision of the regular teachers in teaching children. The results have shown that the practice teacher profits by the experience while the regular pupil gets as much and as careful attention as the pupil of any other school in the city.

HERBERT D. BIXBY,
Principal

THE BARTLETT SCHOOL ON WANNALANCIT STREET

The new Bartlett has had but two principals, Cyrus Durgin, now in charge of the State Normal school, and the present principal, Mr. Herbert D. Bixby, who is conducting the school with marked success. Mr. Bixby is a native of this city. He was educated in the Green school and the High school of this city, after which he attended Tufts college, receiving his A. B. from that institution after a four years' course. He also attended the local state normal school receiving a diploma therefrom. Finishing his studies he went west and for four years was in Colorado, New Mexico and California where, when not teaching school, he held positions of trust with the Santa Fe railroad and the Colorado Telephone company. Returning east he immediately secured a position as principal of a school in Norwood, Mass., where he taught until his election as principal of the Bartlett school. Mr. Bixby resides in Gibson street.

Other teachers in the Bartlett school are Belle A. Prescott, grade 9; Charlotte M. Murkland and Blanche A. Cheney, grade 8; Amy L. Tucker and Frances Clark, grade 7; Belle F. Batchelder and Mary E. Walsh, grade 6; Maria V. Roberts and Katherine P. Farley, grade 5; Alice D. Sunbury and Caroline H.

McGarvey, grade 4. Miss Kathleen Driscoll is an assistant teacher. Her duties are to help out in overcrowded rooms. When a room is overcrowded she takes the children who have fallen behind into the corridor and instructs them there.

The Old Bartlett

The new Bartlett school is the continuation of the old Bartlett school on Clark street which graduated its last class in June, 1897, having enjoyed a successful career of over half a century. The old Bartlett school was opened in 1853 as the Washington and Adams school though the name later was changed to Bartlett in honor of Elisha Bartlett, the first mayor of Lowell. In its long existence of 54 years it has had but two principals, the late Samuel Bement, who took charge in 1853 and continued at its head until 1891, when Cyrus Durgin succeeded him, Mr. Durgin closing the old school and assuming the principalship of the new Bartlett upon its completion. The school turned out a large list of graduates, some of whom have become prominent in the life of the city, state and nation, among them Hon. Charles H. Allen, Frederick Fanning Ayer, Misses Louise and Nellie Ayer, Agent Edward Thomas, Col. James H. Carmichael, Fred C. Church, John Bowers and George Bowers of Willow Dale, Henry Bradt, Garrett J. Bradt, Dr. Joseph Lennon of Providence, R. I., Thomas H. Lennon, Andrew E. Barrett, George C. Dempsey, Albert S. Guild, John Sawyer, Edward Sawyer, Mrs. Thomas Harrington, Mrs. James and yet inside of one year he had paid for the original outlay and had $11,000 for the fun of spending it. That is theatrical business; the successful end of it. It might be different.

"THE MERRY WIDOW"

"The Merry Widow," Henry W. Savage's production, will be the attraction at the Opera House on Wednesday, Sept. 21, matinee and night. This is part of the brilliant organization concerned in the remarkable runs in New York, Boston and Chicago, where all records in these three metropolitan cities, for attendance and receipts, were broken. All playgoers know the success scored by Lehar's stirring operetta was phenomenal in the extreme and that the other cities have endorsed the verdict of the three mentioned above, goes without saying. Therefore, at this day little need be said in reference to the story or the many special features of this remarkable work. It is enough to recall that only has this country welcomed "The Merry Widow" with unparalleled enthusiasm, but that a similar verdict has been rendered by more than three hundred cities of the old world. Even far off Japan and remote South Africa have taken under the spell of the production to the complete roster of principals, choruses, etc., the forthcoming presentation will have the advantage of an orchestra selected from Mr. Savage's English Grand Opera company. This body of instrumentalists will be supplemented by the original Hungarian orchestra, whose appearance in the colorful Masovian sets and again in the lively supper scene at Maxim's, playing native instruments, attract much attention. Among the players to be seen during the local engagement are George Dumerel, Arthur Woolley, Harry Burgess, Harry Russell, Gertrude Hutcheson, Mabel Arzella, Ada St. Albans and Lillian Cransell. The chorus is exceptionally large and beautifully costumed, and the brilliant scenes in each act are among the prettiest stage pictures we have.

GERTRUDE HUTCHESON
as Sonia in "The Merry Widow"

"THE MAN FROM HOME"

It is the usual thing to refer to a play that has achieved any sort of encouragement in these days, as a "stupendous success," and this may or may not be true, according to the degree in license adopted by the management. Yet all plays cannot be successes, and a famous manager has stated openly that if he can produce two successes out of five attempts at production, he is entirely satisfied. It has also been stated that a play is the most complicated bit of mechanism in the world today, and those who incline to psychological speculation are fully aware that a half dozen facts must fall in line before a play can become a success. The playman in the first place be a little boy, it may be of any age, but nature; it must hold a remarkable interest; it must be well played; it must be temperamentally correct, and lastly the audience must be in tune with the conditions. If any one of these fall out of line, the play fails.

More than $20,000 the persons have witnessed the production of "The Man From Home," which ran 342 consecutive performances in Chicago, 70 weeks in New York, and only recently broke the Boston record by remaining at the Park theatre for 27 weeks, will be presented at the Lowell Opera House, for three nights beginning Thursday evening with the original great cast headed by William Hodge. The great spirit of true Americanism pervades it like a western breeze; the feeling that makes every man, woman and child that witnesses it, glad on coming out of the theatre that he or she is an American with the great big heritage of freedom and ability to draw upon it.

It is this quality that stands out like a star against the dull background of European facts and environment, and is made all the more prominently virtue of the theatre that he or she is an American with the great big heritage of freedom and ability to draw upon it. The moment the curtain rises, the America that is known and loved rushes forth to do battle for the right.

The unusually heavy demand for seats in advance is a surface indication that the seating capacity of Opera House will be put to its test during the engagement of William Hodge, Sept. 22, 23 and 24.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Burkhardt-Kelly & Co. are making a very big hit at the Academy in their sketch "Alaska or Bust." In the first place they are excellent actors, and their special scenery is very effective, while the finish of the act is a novel one, which takes you completely by surprise. McKee & Burrows give a fine exhibition of marksmanship, and the pretty dancing and singing of the Harrington sisters gives the finishing touch to a fine bill. There are also new moving pictures including a biograph. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

SCENIC THEATRE

It is of large interest to Lowell theatre goers that the new Scenic theatre on Fiske street, which has been under construction for several weeks, is to throw open its doors for the first time Monday afternoon.

The bill for the opening week, too, is one which will appeal to discriminating theatre goers. The Victoria Hindoo troupe will present some unusual novelties in the mysterious and the occult in an act remarkable for its setting. Lafoye and Toohy will furnish plenty of genuine bright, clean fun in a character sketch of songs and monologues, and Dan Carney, who is a pianosong-writer, has something new and entertaining.

The Scenic Stock company, a feature which is a new departure for Lowell, will present the complete one-act drama

MISS BESSIE OVERTON
Leading Lady of Scenic Stock Company

matic play entitled "Capt. Bob's Escape," a story of the Civil War by Geo. D. Mackay, Mr. Mackay is Captain Bob; Miss Bessie Overton, Virginia Reeves and F. L. Sutton, Colonel Allen. Moving pictures and illustrated songs, new and up to date, are also on the bill, with Fred Pearsall, the well known baritone, to sing the songs.

Admission is 10 cents. A few reserved seats may be obtained for 25 cents, including the price of admission. A continuous performance will be presented daily from 1 p. m. until 10.33 p. m.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The biggest salary ever paid to a vaudeville act appearing in Lowell will be paid next week, for the stellar feature of the show. The recipients will be Master Gabriel & Co., who present Al LaMar's playlet "Little Tommy Tucker." Master Gabriel is justly famous all over the United States as the most remarkably talented little actor on the stage. He is the original Buster Brown in the comedy of that name, and also the original Little Nemo of the fascinating spectacular production. The act commands one of the highest salaries paid in vaudeville, and its appearance in this city is an unusually important theatrical event. The Bounding Gordons are sons-in-law of comedians who are recognized as the best in the vaudeville circuit. They carry a gorgeous stage setting, and the act is replete with the most reckless and bizarre of feats. It has been phenomenally successful throughout this country and Europe. "The Terry Twins," a duo of English comedians, are marvelous in their resemblance to each other, and so exactly alike that they look that it is said that they themselves frequently have difficulty in determining which is which. They have a jolly act, including songs, dances and jokes, and close with a burlesque exhibition of boxing which is screamingly funny. The versatile and versatile comedian, George P. Hall, "The Yankee Story-teller," late star of "The American Girl," and "A Ragged Hero." This is his first time in America since his tour of the English music halls. In addition to his songs and jovial jesting, he excels in his unusual, facetious power in one or two recitations, his rendition of Kipling's "Gunga Din," being classic in its style. Rita Redfield is a dainty little woman, possessed of great talent as an impersonator. As a swagger little college boy, a sleepy little girl in pajamas going to bed, and a little boy who is in despair because everyone considers him "a black sheep," she is equally clever, and every woman in the audiences will go wild over her cuteness. The Kenney Brothers, a comedy team with an irresistible tendency toward odd pranks, are gunnanted to make a grandstand laughs grow out of a little boy in a despair because everyone considers him "a black sheep," she is equally clever, and every woman in the audiences will go wild over her cuteness. STAR THEATRE

Three big high class vaudeville acts, four reels of the latest motion pictures and two beautifully illustrated songs will constitute an unusually fine program for Lowell theatregoers Monday at the Star theatre, which recently opened under new management. Mr. Alexander, the new proprietor, is one of the pioneer showmen and the theatre going public of this city will reap the benefit of his long experience. He will strive to give a big show for a small price. Already he has made many changes at the theatre. The interior is most attractive. It is well ventilated and thoroughly clean. The program is also clean and wholesome and Mr. Alexander is making special efforts to please the many women and children who visit the theatre. The pictures are changed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, while a new and expensive bill of vaudeville is produced every Monday and Thursday. The illustrated songs are rendered by different singers and are always the latest. The show is adjudged the best in Lowell for five and ten cents, which includes a seat.

THEATRE VOYONS

A real live Indian drama without the sensational war dances and cowboys but a straight dramatic story is one of the features at the Theatre Voyons today. "The Appeal of the Prairie" is very strong dramatically and calls for the highest type of acting and magnificent staging. The story is that of an Indian brave, college educated, who tries to make his way in the business world of the white man. Unfortunately he falls in love with a white girl and the result is that he goes back to his tribe disheartened and with an increased hate of his white brothers. There is a pleasing sentimental drama acted by the Vitagraph company, a laughable comedy and a very beautiful travel picture also on the bill. Sunday the usual concert of exclusive pictures will be given.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

A very clever company of players presented one of Clyde Fitch's plays, "The City," at the Lowell opera house last night before a good sized audience. The play is very well staged and the audience came away loud in their praises of the settings. Each player in the company is an artist and the several strong climaxes in the play were loudly applauded.

Sam C. Hardy who took the part of the younger Rand was very clever. "Hannock," the dope fiend, was ably portrayed by Edwin Caldwell. M. B. Snyder and his wife were very effective as the elder Rand, and Miss Jane Gail as "Cecily" won applause. Miss Elsie Scott as "Terena Rand," and Jessica Worth as "Eleanor Voorhees," meet the requirements well. Edgar Lewis plays "Voorhees" in a natural manner, and praise is due Wallace Whitcomb for an admirable bit of character work as "Van Vranken." The piece is well staged, and if for nothing else than the opportunity to get a glimpse of another side of Clyde Fitch's genius, it is well worth the seeing. A matinee and evening performance will be given today.

"THE SHEPHERD KING"

Five hundred appeals for candleabra; $650 for a tent; $1200 for a plush canopy for the tent; $2500 for a set of act curtains; $3000 for towels for five characters; and $6000 for the armor for the soldiers of Israel. These are but a few of the items for properties for "The Shepherd King," which comes to the Opera House, Sept. 26, for one week. When Wright Lorimer staged the play in New York it represented an outlay of over one hundred thousand dollars.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reldy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

PRESIDENT TAFT DISCOURAGED BY POLITICAL SMASHUP

President Taft, it appears, is seriously discouraged at the political outlook of the present hour. He has changed front in regard to the insurgents. He now states that during the last stages of congress he felt it his duty to withhold patronage from certain senators and congressmen. On that point he has changed his mind, and he now feels that it is his duty to treat all alike, whether they are insurgents or stand-patters.

It is reported on what seems to be reliable authority that President Taft is seriously considering whether he should withdraw from the contest for the presidency in 1912. He feels that if this be so he will not in the slightest degree oppose the nomination of the ex-president. He will simply treat his campaign with silent contempt.

Whether President Taft be sincere in this declaration or not, it is likely to draw from Colonel Roosevelt some statement as to whether he is a candidate for the nomination for president.

He has not as yet made any declaration on that point, although his speeches and the general trend of his conduct since his arrival from Africa would justify the conclusion that he means to be a candidate in 1912.

The country is turning very seriously against Roosevelt, and the republican party holds him responsible for the present state of demoralization and the reverses with which it is threatened.

If Taft should retire from the field the contest would come between Colonel Roosevelt and some democratic candidate. In that case we believe the democrat would triumphantly elect. The republican party after being smashed into fragments by Roosevelt is not likely to turn around and elect him.

In every way the situation can be viewed, the outlook is favorable to the democratic party if it exercises good judgment in the selection of candidates.

THE DEMOCRATIC OPPORTUNITY

The democratic party in some of the eastern states has shown excellent judgment in the selection of candidates. Maine led off with the nomination of Plaiside; Connecticut nominated a good man in Baldwin, and now New Jersey nominates for governor President Goodrow Wilson of Princeton university.

Prof. Wilson is one of the most eminent men who could be selected, and his nomination reflects great credit upon the good judgment of the democratic party in New Jersey.

The democrats of Ohio in electing Harmon have set an example worthy emulation by other states. Harmon may be the next democratic candidate for president.

The state of Massachusetts should follow the example of the states mentioned in choosing an eminently strong and fit candidate for governor. That is the only way to score a sweeping victory on election day. The victory that has been won in Maine can be duplicated in Massachusetts, in Connecticut, in New Jersey and in Ohio by the simple method of nominating the right men and then fighting vigorously for their election.

EXAMPLE TO BE EMULATED

The city of Springfield benefits by the will of one of its prominent residents, a Miss Lombard, member of a family that has already done much to help the city. Miss Lombard bequeathed $100,000 to the Springfield hospital, and an equal amount to the Springfield Home for Aged People.

It is well to encourage among the possessors of large fortunes the custom of bequeathing to them amounts that will put them upon a solid financial basis. Money so used goes to benefit humanity, whereas to bequeath a large fortune to a young man or woman is one of the worst things that can be done. It leads to excess, to reckless living and removes the necessity to work, which is often a blessing in disguise. The example set by the late Miss Lombard of Springfield is worthy of emulation.

We might suggest also that any person in possession of a large fortune with no needy heirs anxiously awaiting it, might imitate the very generous and philanthropic act of Freeman B. Shedd who did not wait to cross the Styx before he gave to Lowell what will be one of the best parks in the country.

NEW AEROPLANE DEVICE

It has remained for an Italian, one Ferdinando Bernasconi, to invent a flying machine that cannot fall. That is the kind nobody will be afraid of. It is apparently lighter than air, and in one of its early trials it was dropped from a height of one thousand meters and floated twelve miles before it reached the ground. If the aeroplanes can provide some safety device of this kind their popularity will be greatly increased.

As a result of the Boston aviation meet, it is likely that the tendency will be towards monoplanes and biplanes. The triplane sold to the Harvard Aeronautical society by an English inventor proved an utter failure. It was trundled out but twice during the meet, and on the second occasion was smashed to pieces in a feeble attempt to fly. The Harvard Aeronautical society evidently knew but little of aeroplanes when it purchased the triplane.

ROBBING THE GOVERNMENT

A clerk in the sub-treasury at Chicago has been arrested on the charge of stealing $173,000. We may next hear of some government official starting a mint for his own private benefit. When the inmates of a state prison start coining money, the crooks who are at large must feel that they are not making the most of their opportunities. Where are all the sleuths that look out for Uncle Sam's interests?

We are not satisfied with the estimate of our population given out by the census bureau. There must be a mistake this time as last. The count should be at least 5000 more than estimated. Perhaps the final figures will do us justice.

"Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines" was a popular song thirty-five years ago. It was first sung in this country by William Horace Lingard. This Mr. Lingard, whose right name was William Thomas, was an Englishman, and had met with much success in the music hall and variety country as a comic vocalist and mimic. He made his first appearance in America at the Theatre Comique in New York, on April 6, 1868. The following day the newspapers devoted much space in praise of his art and the catchy air of his songs was everywhere whistled on streets. His popularity was long assured and his engagement was long and successful. He gave impersonations of men of the day (one of them being Gen. Benjamin F. Butler), and he sang popular songs in costume. The first song was entitled "Bitter Beer." Then followed "On the Beach at Long Branch," "Al Brighton," "Walking Down Broadway," and "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines." During his engagement the first songs were replaced by others, but "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines" was always retained in the repertory. Mr. Lingard was also a capable legitimate actor, as he demonstrated when his wife, Alice Dunning Lingard, and her sister, Dickey Lingard, came to America a few months later. Mrs. Lingard, who was a vocalist and actress, appeared with her husband in farces. In 1886 Mr. Lingard became manager of the Theatre Comique in Boston and produced the burlesque of "Pinto." For a time he was on the road with a play called "The Tutor," which had previously

Thou who driest the tears of tiniest grasses,
Who makest a dead flower a butterfly living,
When, stripping off their leaves like leaves of fate, one sees
Beneath the wind of the Pyrenees
Roussillon's almonds fluttering.

I worship thee, O Sun! O thou whose aureole
To hallow each forehead, mellow each honeycomb,
Like mother's love divides and yet remains a whole,
Entering every flower-soul
And into every cottage home.

I sing thee, and thou mayst my minister ordain,
Who visitest the tub where dawns blue soap, blue sky,
And many and many a time chooses, when thou art fair
To vanish, a humble window-pane
To launch therefrom thy last goodbye.

Thou bidst the sunflowers turn within the rectory,
Upon the steepie bidst my golden brother shine,
And when among the lines thou stealest with mystery,
Bidst dance on earth such tracery,
One dare not walk, it is so fine.

To enamel thou changest the pitcher's glaze instead,
When drying a dish-cloth a flag thou dost unfold,
Sir Haversham thanks to thee, has gold to lead his bands,
His little sister, Hiver, has spread her riding-hood about with gold!

WASHING THE HAIR

There Is a Right as Well as a Wrong Way to Do It.

The important thing to observe in washing the hair is to avoid using a soap or shampoo containing an excess of alkali. You must have some knowledge of chemistry before you can tell the difference between a good soap and a harmful soap. The safest plan is to clean your hair and scalp with Birt's Head Wash, which is broadly guaranteed to be neutral and to have no free alkali in it. Moreover, it is mildly medicated with glycerine, salicylic acid, white of eggs and cocoanut oil. Every one of these things are helpful to the scalp and hair, and by using Birt's Head Wash frequently, the loss of hair is stopped, dandruff disappears and itching ceases. All dirt, dust and disease germs are cleared away, the pores leading to the hair roots are opened up, and renewed life and vigor given to the hair. Birt's Head Wash and experience the surest delight of a perfectly clean scalp.

SAILING AT DAWN

One by one the pale stars die before the day now.
One by one the great ships are stirring from their sleep,
Cables all are rumbling, anchors all are weighing now.
Now the fleet's a fleet again, gliding toward the deep.

Now the fleet's a fleet again, bound upon the old ways.
Splendor of the past comes shining in the spray.
Admirals of old time, bring us on the bold ways!
Souls of all the seadogs lead the line today!

Far away behind town and lower are dwindling.
Home becomes a fair dream faded long ago.
Infinitely glorious the height of heaven is killing.
Infinitely desolate the shoreless sea below.

Now the fleet's a fleet again, bound upon the old ways.
Splendor of the past comes shining in the spray.
Admirals of old time, bring us on the bold ways!
Souls of all the seadogs lead the line today!

Once again with proud hearts we make the old surrender.
Once again with high hearts serve the age to be.
Not for us the warm life of earth secure and tender.
Ours is eternal wandering and warfare of the sea.

Now the fleet's a fleet again, bound upon the old ways.
Splendor of the past comes shining in the spray.
Admirals of old time, bring us on the bold ways!
Souls of all the seadogs lead the line today!

Ferranto Indicted by Grand Jury

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 17.—The grand jury of the superior court reported yesterday afternoon and Col. W. C. Eaton, the county attorney, made public a part of the 79 indictments.

Santo Ferranto is indicted on a charge of murder. He is alleged to have struck in the back an Italian named Valandino with whom he had a dispute over a balance of $3 due to him.

Elizabeth M. City was indicted for abandoning her infant child with the intent that it should perish. She admitted she left it on the rocks at Torrington point, Peaks Island.

Thomas Van Sant Warner was indicted for breaking and entering the office of a dentist. Patrolman Timothy Murphy was concealed in the office and says he saw Warner make up a package of gold.

Zed Prophet of Boston was indicted on the charge of assaulting William Halls of Portland with intent to kill. It is alleged that he fired twice at him at close range, but without effect.

William B. Sullivan was indicted for aiding a girl to escape from her guardian.

Other indictments were: Robert A. Stanley, William F. Conway, Merchant Camille, Peter McCarthy and Joseph Curran, breaking, entering and larceny; Patrick P. McLoughlin, James H. O'Neil and Michael H. Skerritt, breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny; William H. Donohue, cheating by false pretences; Robert F. Curran, forgery; Arthur G. Hamilton, receiving stolen goods; F. K. Dodd and Frank E. Moscovice, larceny; Ella P. Perry and Lillian Parks, maintaining a disorderly house; Alfred D. Leighton, assault and battery.

No indictments against liquor dealers were made public.

SHE USED KEROSENE IN MAKING A FIRE

PITTSFIELD, Sept. 17.—Mrs. Herman Lang, more than 80 years old, after lying for seven hours with probably fatal burns in her house in Pittsfield, was late yesterday afternoon carried to a hospital.

Mrs. Lang used kerosene yesterday morning in starting the fire. An explosion took place and her cotton garments were covered with burning oil, which consumed the clothing on her body, leaving her head, body and arms a mass of burns.

Charles Knowles, a neighbor, went to the Lang place yesterday afternoon, when he heard groans. He found the woman on a lounge, so burned that she could not speak. Mr. Knowles drove his automobile to Pittsfield and took Dr. George P. Reynolds to the Lang house. The burns were so serious that the surgeon ordered Mrs. Lang taken to the hospital; but her aged husband objected, the men say, and because of a vicious dog in the house the men did not take Mrs. Lang away; but

THE EVOLUTION OF THE CAP HAT

THE fashions of today are for the most part the vogues of other days worked over by Parisian couturiers. Especially is this the case with the eccentric two story millinery that is being sent to us from the French capital. It includes a hat, generally a large shape, worn over a cap of lace. This style is a revival of the headwear that flourished for a short time in the eighteenth century. Queen Caroline of England is said to have introduced the mode, and the old print reproduced among the illustrations shows this queen arrayed in a cap and hat of the sort. The fashion obtains still in some parts of Holland, where countrywomen imprison their hair in golden casques covered with lace, sometimes very costly, lace, with hats over them. I hardly think American women will take up with enthusiasm the cap and hat idea, but a dainty frill of lace is very fetching hanging from the inside of a big picture hat. And there is, too, an undeniable charm about the turban-like cap of silver lace ornamented with tiny rosebuds that is the first story of one of the hats seen in the cuts. Then who knows but what these double doekers will be taken up by the matinee girl? There is every reason to think that they will be. Not only lace, but fringe, is used for the hat "valance" and tulle as well as lace for the cap turban.

But there is nothing frilly about the fall and winter frocks. The edict has gone forth that they are to be straight up and down—in other words, to be fashionable one must have the figure of a sylph. Every woman must know the silhouette of the season when planning her frocks; otherwise she will be out of the style, an awful calamity for the American mondaine even to contemplate.

Last fall the tailored suit had a long coat. This year the short coat leads. Twenty-four inches is the approved length, but the twenty-six and twenty-eight inch lengths, it is predicted, will be the most popular. Many of the newest models suggest the box coat model of several seasons past. A band of deep black satin at the bottom of the coat, beginning at the sides of the front, is a familiar trimming. When this trimming is used the skirt usually displays a like adornment. The long separate coat is a favorite of winter fashion and a very necessary wrap to own when one's walking coat is of a short length. For some unknown reason, as the skirts are narrow, designers have given great fullness to the skirts of the long separate coat, some of them being draped about the figure in classic folds.

A stunning costume made abroad for Mrs. Vanderbilt is of dark green panne cloth. It has a close cut, short skirt adorned with a deep band in black braided soutache. The hip length coat is collarless and cut rather high at the neck, and the same braided trimming is used in a narrow design down the front of the coat that widens out about the edge of the skirt. And in connection with coats I would say that sleeves are long and tight fitting save at the wrist, where many of them widen out a trifle. They are put into the armhole perfectly plain. Dressy coats have three-quarter sleeves with elaborate cuffs.

The skirt with a foot band will be good style throughout the winter, and where plaits appear in the new skirts they are banded in tight to the figure to give the straight up and down effect. Gored skirts of slim silhouette are smart; also the skirt with flat box plaits back and front, with straight banded in gores at the sides. Sometimes below this band there is a killed flounce.

The excuse for plain costumes is easily to be found in the beautiful materials which the fall season has brought to light. It would be painting the lily to crowd these fabrics with trimmings. For tailor made suits there is a choice of two classes of fabrics—those of a smooth surfaced finish and those of rough although rather silky texture. Broken diagonal effects have taken the place of decided checks and stripes, but chevrons with a boucle raised effect that is almost invisible are much liked. In rough finished worsted zibeline in basket weave is meeting with favor in Paris, and corduroy is promised a certain popularity. As usual, Theodora cloth, broadcloth, panne cloth and satin are the leading dressy materials.

As to the colors of fall suits, black is first favorite, with gray in many varieties of tone and the varying shades of purple, prune and mauve. A royal and a very dark shade of blue known as corbeau is well liked, and as accessory colors many shades of yellow, ranging from maize to beige, are modish in connection with black and brown. Vivid tones used as accessory colors are the height of style in gowns. These daring splashes of color were the inspiration several seasons ago of Paul Poiret, a Parisian dressmaker, but it is only recently that his brother artists have acknowledged his success by following in his wake. The gold note is prominent in the new fashions, and it often takes the guise of cloth of gold displaying a shadowy Persian design. As I have said before, the smart gowns of the season are but little trimmed. Tiny wooden beads are among the more unusual ornamentations, and handsome plain braid trims and binds many of the smartest tailored coats and skirts, but it is sparingly used. Buttons on tailored costumes are of self material, bone or braid, and there is a new glazed wooden button that is very attractive.

REAL PRICE OF MEATS.

An authority on domestic matters calls the attention of housekeepers to the real and apparent price of meats, which is seldom considered when marketing. The apparent price of chicken, for instance, may be 20 cents a pound, but its real price will be 60 cents when the weight of the head, crop and claws, entrails and bones is taken into account. It is more economical to pay 15 cents for a cut of solid meat than 8 cents for one that contains nearly half its weight in shew, fat and bone.

The Polite Way to Eat Corn

YOU probably love corn on the cob, but you refuse it when you are at table because you make such an exhibition of yourself while getting the pearly grains from their cob. Is it not so, milady? One woman goes the length of saying that only in the privacy of one's own room should corn be eaten from the cob. This is going a trifle too far, and the same woman, if she but knew, could enjoy the succulent ear and still retain her table manners if she had in her possession a pair of the new corn stabs or forks. This invention of a clever brain consists of two silver or plated affairs several inches long, representing a miniature ear of corn with a "stab" not unlike an ice pick at the end. The real ear of corn is stabbed at the two

HOW to preserve a youthful appearance is a subject which never fails to interest women, for one and all recognize the truth of the remark made by a celebrated Frenchman, the Duc de Rochefoucauld, "It is valueless to a woman to be young unless she be pretty or to be pretty unless she be young."

All women crave for youth, and no one more than the pretty woman, the woman who has been used to admiration and attention and who, as she notices her first wrinkle, her first gray hair, feels that her kingdom is slipping away from her and that her powers of attraction are rapidly on the wane.

The first gray hair or the first wrinkle does not always mean a loss of the power of attraction, but they are, unless arrested in time, the first step toward that disaster.

That beauty of a very high order may exist without youth no one will deny, but youth is an additional charm and is an asset not to be despised by the woman who has her own way to make in the world or who wishes to queen it in society.

To prevent wrinkles never allow the muscles of the face to become sagged. To keep the facial muscles firm and taut is the secret of a smooth, unlined face, and to do this they must be gently exercised.

Gentle massage given to the principal muscles of the face regularly and systematically will prevent wrinkles far into old age, but (and here a word of warning must be given to the energetic amateur beauty doctor) the massage must be gentle. Any rough treatment is likely to stretch the skin and thus do more harm than good.

As one passes into the thirties there is generally a tendency either to lose flesh or to become heavy, both estates being most undesirable.

The woman whose face is too plump must not use any form of grease or cream for her complexion. She should massage, but with ice. The movements should be carried out with the ice just as they are with skin food.

The thin woman, on the other hand, must give as much and even more attention to massage, but she should employ a good nourishing skin food. Exercise the muscles, sleep as much as possible and smooth out the lines with a pad of chamomile leather slightly warmed.

Delicious Green Pepper Dishes

GREEN PEPPERS SAUTE WITH SCRAMBLED EGGS.

Plunge the peppers in very hot water, then rub off the skins with a crash towel. Cut them in halves, cut off the stems, remove the seeds and carefully cut away the rib or division walls. Let the peppers cook a few minutes in a little butter, moisten with a pint of consommé, add a little minced shallot, parsley and paprika and let all cook slowly for half an hour or until done. Have ready some rounds of nicely toasted or fried bread and enough soft scrambled eggs to fill the pepper shells. Dust a little finely minced parsley or a dash of paprika over the top and serve.

STUFFED PEPPERS, BALTIMORE STYLE.

Cut off the tops of the peppers and scoop out the seeds and carefully trim the ribs down without cutting through the peppers. Mix crab meat with almost an equal quantity in weight of fine buttered breadcrumbs, a little salt, a sprinkling of finely minced parsley and enough cream, a few tablespoonsful, to moisten the mixture slightly.

Fill the peppers and cover with buttered crumbs. Set in the oven to brown.

STUFFED PEPPERS A LA CREOLE.

Take two dozen sweet green peppers. Peel them, take off the topmost bit and remove the seeds and division walls. Take a dozen or more red peppers, cut off the stems and take out the seeds. Chop these peppers very fine. Put a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan over the fire. Add half an onion minced fine and brown lightly. Then add the minced peppers mashed to a pulp. Add about a tablespoonful of finely minced ham. As these brown add a clove of garlic, also minced fine. When the peppers are well cooked add half a cup of bread that has been wet in cold water and squeezed thoroughly dry. Season to taste with salt and pepper. When well browned take from the fire and fill the peppers. Cover the top of each with some buttered breadcrumbs. Arrange them in a bake pan and place in the oven and let heat thoroughly through and brown. Serve hot with meats or for a luncheon dish with rice and tomatoes or stewed sweet corn.

THE NEW FLEXIBLE CORSETS.

THERE is comfort and smart appearance combined in these new flexible corsets, a thing that has been impossible until this day recently came upon the market. The "bones" are "spiral steel," so manufactured that they support the figure and at the same time admit of the wearer going through her beauty reduction stunts should she be so inclined, which naturally she won't. Still, there's a heap of satisfaction to the feminine mind to know she can if she wants to. These corsets are not expensive, some models being priced as low as $2.

A FALL THIMBLE PARTY.

If you are thinking of giving a thimble party this fall here are some good ideas for prize contests.

Give to each guest a five inch patch of sheer linen, each with a jagged tear across the middle. In the corner of the patch stick a needle threaded with bright red cotton. Ten minutes is given to darn the hole, a prize being awarded for the hole most neatly darned and the one most bungled. As the thread is of a bright color it is not easy to make a neat piece of work even for a skillful needlewoman.

Another set of gray linen patches could be passed for a "Chantecler" contest. Each patch should be accompanied by a pencil, a needle and gay cotton. The guests must draw one of the "Chantecler" characters. These must then be embroidered in the gay threads to resemble the special fowl represented.

Another good test is to sew a yard seam with a darning needle threaded with 100 cotton. A given time is allowed, which no one must exceed, and she who gets through in the shortest time is the winner. Only persons who have sewed with a coarse needle and fine thread know the handicaps of this contest.

Much fun is caused by a needle threading race. A No. 12 needle and 120 cotton are used. There is a time limit, and prizes are awarded for the swiftest, most graceful, most awkward and slowest needle threading.

KITCHEN HINTS.

A pamphlet recently issued by the department of agriculture has this to say about the testing of eggs: The method is known as candling and has been familiar for some time, especially among dealers. The room is darkened and the egg held between the eye and the light. The presence of dark spots indicates that the egg is not perfectly fresh. A fresh one presents a translucent, homogeneous appearance. Moreover, there is found in the larger end between the shell and the lining membrane a small air cell, which, of course, is distinctly transparent. In an egg that is not perfectly fresh this space is filled and hence presents the same appearance as the rest of the egg.

THE CORN SLITTER.

ends and held in position, as illustrated. Many persons, too, like to cut their corn from the cob at table, and for them there is an attractive little device called the corn splitter which does the work to perfection. This implement comes both in real and imitation silver. The illustration shows how it is used. Three or four strokes with the splitter will slit every grain on the cob. It does not remove the corn from the cob, but cuts the hulls of every grain. The delicious part of the corn is obtained with a pressure of the teeth, leaving the hulls on the cob.

When making puddings, fritters or any of the delicious dishes made from corn the splitter will be found very useful.

HOOK AND EYE SUGGESTIONS.

When sewing the hooks and eyes on the placket of a skirt sew one pair at the very bottom, fasten them and crush them flat. This will keep the placket from ever tearing or ripping at the end.

On a wash dress the eyes should be sewed on the upper flap and the hooks on the lower instead of the usual fashion. The top flap can then be ironed flat without the little lumps left by ironing over hooks.

In working on heavy materials alter the hooks and eyes—first an eye, then a hook on one flap, with first a hook and then an eye on the other. This method will hold the dress shut and save the wearer from embarrassment and discomfort.

WORK APRON TO MAKE.

When you purchase a new tub dress made for house wear get enough material to make a work apron of what is left over. Then you will be presentable should an emergency arise. Besides, the apron will fade with the dress and will come in handy for mending later on. Always have it washed at the same time as the dress.

TO PRESERVE TINWARE.

If new tinware is rubbed over with fresh lard and thoroughly heated in the oven before it is used it will never rust, no matter how much it is put in water. For stained tinware borax produces the best results. If a teapot or a coffee pot has become discolored on the inside boil it in a strong solution of borax.

PRESIDENT TAFT RETURNS TO CINCINNATI BEFORE GOING TO CAPITAL

PHOTO © 1910 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 17.—President Taft's home city plans to welcome him in splendid style when he arrives here Sept. 20. He will remain here for several days, and arrangements are being made for a reception to him at the Ohio Valley exposition, which was opened when Colonel Roosevelt was here. From Cincinnati the president will go to Washington for a meeting of his cabinet on Sept. 26. On Oct. 2 he will go to New York, where he will address the National Republican league. After the speech in New York he will return to Beverly, to remain until October 15.

DAUGHTER ELOPED

Her Mother Believed to be Visiting in Lowell

FRANKLIN, N. H., Sept. 17.—John Miller of this city and Miss Geneva Bishop, a 15-year-old Sanbornville girl, figure in an elopement. The girl is a daughter of George L. Bishop. She and her father both work in the Adams Needle company's factory at Hill. Yesterday she said she was too ill to work and she remained at home. Her mother is visiting in Lowell. When her father returned from the factory he found a note from his daughter saying she was to be married and when he found the letter she would be a bride. She did not give the husband's name. It appears that Miller drove to her house, according to plans previously made, and then the two drove to Franklin. They visited City Clerk Daniel and applied for a marriage license. When he asked Miss Bishop her age she said she was 15 and the license was refused. Miller and the girl then drove to Tilton, where Town Clerk Willis Morrison was visited. Miller applied for the license and gave his residence as Tilton. He gave the age of his bride-elect as 16, and as this is the legal limit in New Hampshire the license was granted. Miller and Miss Bishop went at once to the Methodist Episcopal parsonage in Tilton and were married by Rev. Edwin S. Tasker. They then drove away and have not since been located. In her note to her father, Miss Bishop said that she would write and send him her address later. Miller is 20 years old. He has been employed in the Excelsior mill. He keeps a horse and carriage. Mr. Bishop said yesterday that his daughter had known him only about six weeks. The girl is tall and would easily pass for 18 years. Mr. Bishop said yesterday that the only places in the state that they could legally obtain a marriage license would be Franklin or Sanbornville and he had notified the town clerk of Sanbornville not to grant a license. Miller, by claiming to live in Tilton, three miles from Franklin, was able to secure the necessary papers. Miller had another adventure in the matrimonial line some months ago, when he secured a license to marry a Franklin young woman and engaged the minister to perform the ceremony. The girl's parents learned of the matter and refused to allow the marriage to take place. Miller never used the license.

MATRIMONIAL

Rev. A. Ferdinand Travis of New York and Dr. Marguerite A. Willey, a physician of Back Bay, Boston, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the First Congregational church in Winthrop by Rev. Alexander L. McKenzie, pastor of the church. The bridegroom is a graduate of Harvard, and is the principal director of the twenty-third street Y. M. C. A. of New York. Miss Nellie B. Hill of Springfield was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were the Misses Arlene and Evelyn Atkins of Florence, John Travis of Natick, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Dr. George A. Willey of Lowell, father of the bride, officiated at the organ during the wedding. The ushers were A. Robie Willey, brother of the bride; Fred L. Atkins, Miss Penn and Melville Barnard. A reception at Young's Hotel, Winthrop, followed the ceremony.

BIXBY-HALL

Mr. Henry Austin Bixby of Ayer and Miss Janet May Hall of North Chelmsford were united in marriage Wednesday at the home of the bride's mother, in North Chelmsford, by Rev. Granville Pierce of Ashby, Mass.

A TIN SHOWER

Miss Myrtle H. Farquhar who is to become a bride soon, was tendered a tin shower last night by the employees of the finishing room of the Shawmut factory. The affair took place just before the whistle blew. Miss Farquhar's associates were called together and then a large basket filled with all kinds of tinware was presented her. The presentation was made in verse on the Mother Goose model, and was delightfully appropriate to the occasion. Each article in the shower bore a dainty card, on which was inscribed the uses to which the article was to be put.

TRIED SUICIDE

MAN ATTEMPTED TO HANG HIMSELF

ATLINGTON, Sept. 17.—John Gray, who says he is 40 years old and that his home is in Westford, attempted to hang himself in the police station here at 8:15 last evening. He had been arrested by Patrolman Garrett Barry at Arlington Heights about 6 o'clock on a charge of drunkenness, and was brought to the police station with considerable difficulty. At 8:15, Lieut. Daniel N. Hooley, who is in charge of the station at night, heard an unusual noise from the cell in which the man had been confined and running to investigate, found him hanging from the door of the cell by a rope which he had made from his undershirt. With the assistance of Edwin S. Farmer, who was in the station at the time, Lieut. Hooley cut the man down. He was revived before the arrival of the doctor. A fine line of plain and extension ladders at the Thompson Hardware Co.

THE POLICE BOARD

Give Hearing on Charges Against Two Officers

The board of police met in special session last night and gave hearings to Special Officer John J. Grady and Patrolman Bartholomew Kane, against whom charges had been preferred. The complaint against Special Officer Grady was dismissed while that against the regular patrolman was taken under advisement.

Special Officer Grady's case was the first taken up, the complainant being Francis Quinn, who represents property in Sawtelle place, off School street. Mr. Grady was represented by Lawyer James J. Carmichael and entered a plea of not guilty to the charges. The prosecution was conducted by Lawyer John A. Gately.

Mr. Quinn, the complainant, stated that he had received numerous complaints from his tenants about alleged abuses by Officer Grady. Some of them threatened to move from the neighborhood unless the officer was removed. Witness thought that on some of the occasions when he had seen Grady the latter was under the influence of liquor. The testimony of most of the others was similar. Officer Grady had a long string of witnesses who related stories quite in contradiction to what the previous witness had told. The complaint was immediately dismissed at the conclusion of the case. The board evidently felt that the officer merely tried to repress disorder in the streets.

Among those who testified for the officer were John J. Kelley, Robert G. Bartlett, Edward H. Scribner, Milo D. Clay, James J. O'Brien, George H. Staples, Louis Vallas and Narcisse Belanger. The board dismissed the complaint after a brief consideration of the facts. Patrolman Bartholomew Kane entered a plea of guilty to a complaint charging him with improperly patrolling his route on the night of Sept. 10. Capt. Atkinson told of receiving a telephone call from the patrolman early on the evening in question, relative to some boys who were disturbing the neighborhood in which the officer patrolled. Later in the evening it was found that Officer Kane made irregular calls at the patrol boxes and shortly after 9 o'clock reported the loss of his key to the patrol box. Lieut. Freeman and Capt. Atkinson both testified that judging from what they saw the officer was perfectly sober. The case was taken under advisement by the board.

UP TO DATE TESTS

Charles J. Glidden uses Lowell Gas Light product when he goes skyward. He is not a user of Lowell Gas Light Coke, so far as we know. Still it might be well enough for him to know as chairman of the Aviation Contest committee that this same Lowell Gas Light Coke holds the record for endurance, so far as concerns a steady fire, altitude, as measured by thermometer for heat, accuracy in the matter of control in baking or cooking. Speed so far as a quick fire is concerned, distance in the matter of how far it will go. All these records it holds. In the matter of a getaway test, it gets away with any coke on the market. Clean as a bound's tooth, full weight all for $4.75 per children. Four sizes. Coarse, Broken, Medium and Fine.

Continued

Hibbard of Lowell and Alonzo G. Walsh of Lowell.

During the early part of the afternoon an excellent concert program was carried out on the common by the Chelmsford brass band.

The baby show was held in Gardner Parker hall and there were numerous entries for the three events. In the handsome boy class, first premium was won by Ronald Campbell, son of Archibald and Mabel Campbell, 48 West Fifth street, Lowell; second premium was taken by Irving Strickland, son of Alfred J. and Alice A. Strickland of Billerica. Warren Perry, son of Charles J. and Hattie A. Perry of Burlington, captured third place.

The first premium in the "smallest baby class" was won by Francis L. Barnes, son of John and Lucy Barnes, North Billerica; Helen M. Lee, Carlisle, second; Garret N. Hally, son of William and Catherine Hally of North Billerica, third.

Handsome girl baby won by Irene Lutender, daughter of Henry and Mary Lutender of North Billerica; Genevieve, baby daughter of John and Marion of North Billerica, second; Margaret Walker, daughter of Frank and Frances Walker of North Billerica, third.

The judges were Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald, Mrs. Sydney Bull, J. Harold Dale and Mrs. I. M. Billard. There were few entries in the cattle show, but the exceptional appearance of the animals shown made up for the small numbers. N. K. Jones of Billerica was given first award on a bull calf; A. W. Parsons, West Tewksbury, first on yearlings of working oxen; Harry Waite, Bedford, second on working oxen; F. W. Flittner, Billerica, first on milk cows; N. R. PRESIDENT TAFT

BEVERLY, Sept. 17.—The publication of a story in certain newspapers yesterday afternoon purporting to come from Beverly, and announcing that President Taft had decided to step aside as a presidential candidate in 1912 to make way for Col. Theodore Roosevelt, brought many inquiries yesterday. For a time an official denial was considered, but it was decided not to dignify the story, which is reported to have been without any foundation whatever, with a statement. It can be stated that there has been no change in President Taft's attitude toward a second term since he told a number of friends a few months ago that he would accept a second nomination if his party desired to tender it to him and if that portion of the American people represented by his party seemed to want him. The president, it is said, is not considering his chances for a second term one way or the other at this time. From the first he has said that he would devote himself to carrying out as nearly as possible the pledges of the platform on which he was elected for a four-year term. Mr. Taft, it is pointed out, does not know how to play politics, and he has been quoted as saying that he would not do so if he could. The fact that he has often in his speeches referred to the fact that he has only the remainder of his present term to serve means, it is stated here, that Mr. Taft does not feel that he can nominate himself and that he will not make a political bid for the nomination. If at the end of his term his party feels he has been true to his trust and has carried out its pledges insofar as he possibly could, it no doubt would be very gratifying to the president to have his administration endorsed. That, he feels, is for the country and his party to decide, not himself. Beverly's busy season is about at an end. Sec. Norton left yesterday to pay a flying visit to his family. The president starts for Cincinnati Sunday night. Mr. Norton will join the party at New Haven. Grahame-White, the English aviator, called on the president at Burgess point yesterday afternoon.

SUNSETS SHINE

Held Successful Dancing Party Last Night

Associate hall was the scene last evening of a very pretty dancing party, the affair being the third annual social of the Sunset campers. That this organization has made many friends and attained wide popularity during its season was attested last evening, for when the affair started, one of the largest crowds that ever assembled in the hall was present. Though the crowd was large, dancing was quite comfortable and all present thoroughly enjoyed the program furnished.

The affair opened at 8 o'clock. A concert program was given by Kittredge's orchestra. At 8:30 o'clock dancing was started and continued until midnight.

JAMES FORSYTHE
Floor Director

When the strains of the last waltz had faded away all pronounced it a grand success and were loud in their praise for the officers who had charge of the affair.

James Burns acted as general manager and he filled the position in a most acceptable manner. He was ably assisted by the following:

Asst. general manager, Mamie Roach; floor director, James Forsythe; asst. floor director, Theresa Murphy; chief aid, Ed. McInerney; asst. chief aid, Alice O'Neill; aids, John McKinley, Michael Kelley, John Conway, Thomas McDermott, George Moore, Ralph Cote, George Sargent, Andrew McGuire, James McInerney, Daniel Bourke, Thomas Conway, Louise Kivian, Maude Curley, Mamie Hetu, May Cawley, Joseph Hennessey, Gertrude Reed, Mary McCarthy, Margaret Kelley, Anna Boyle, Katherine Nagle, Lena Kelley, Margaret Keough, Jennie McGrath; treasurer, John Breen.

NOT A CANDIDATE

LUCIUS TUTTLE WILL NOT RUN FOR PUBLIC OFFICE

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Lucius Tuttle, who has just retired from the presidency of the B. & M. railroad, last night told a reporter that nothing would induce him to enter any contest for a public office. This statement was made over the telephone from Mr. Tuttle's summer home at Magnolia.

Thursday a representative of the railroad unions in this state asked Mr. Tuttle to become a candidate for governor this fall. Mr. Tuttle's reply is as follows:

"I have carefully considered this matter and nothing would induce me to enter a contest for any public office, even if I knew in advance that I should be unanimously elected. I have no desire to enter politics in any way whatever."

UP TO THE CABINET

To Decide Whether Ballinger Will Remain or Not

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Whether Richard A. Ballinger's resignation as secretary of the interior will follow immediately upon the meeting of the cabinet September 26, to attend which he is now en route from Seattle, or whether he will retain his position indefinitely—at least until after the delivery to congress of reports of the committee which investigated his stewardship of the public domain—depends now on the attitude of his cabinet associates.

Mr. Ballinger is coming to Washington, his friends here insist, wholly unconscious of any act on his part either of commission or of omission for which he should be condemned, and has determined to force his chief and his official colleagues to be in effect his judges. If they concur in the view at present attributed to Mr. Taft that the accused secretary shall be sustained as an innocent and persecuted man, he will retain his position; if they fail to back him up he will resign forthwith. That this, in substance, is Mr. Ballinger's present position, was learned here yesterday upon authority hardly to be questioned.

At the first meeting of the cabinet after the summer recess, Secretary of War Dickinson, the democratic member, will not have returned from the Philippines and will therefore have saved the embarrassment of participation in what is regarded largely as a problem of republican policy. The meeting is expected to last three days and the president expects to clear up a number of important matters; but it will surprise nobody here if the Ballinger case occupies a large part of the time.

Rumors have been constant and decidedly definite during the past few days that Mr. Ballinger's resignation would be one of the first developments of the cabinet meeting, but his friends, including his associates in the interior or department, have refused to believe that he would retire "under fire," and have cited his oft-repeated declaration to the contrary, and the recent statement attributed to him, that he would resign only on the specific request of the president. But some of these yesterday admitted that they and the secretary were alive to the fact that the turmoil and uncertainty into which the protracted controversy has plunged the department must soon be abated unless this important branch of the public service is to become hopelessly demoralized.

Nobody here doubts that a majority—all but one of the republican members—of the so-called Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee will sustain Secretary Ballinger in their report to congress. The views of that majority, which consists of Senators Nelson, Sutherland, Root and Flint and Representatives McCall of Massachusetts, Olmstead of Pennsylvania and Denby of Michigan to that effect are well known; but Secretary Ballinger and his partisans here were greatly disappointed that the absence of Senators Root and Flint from Minneapolis left the pro-Ballinger portion of the committee in the minority and permitted the democrats and the insurgent republican members to put forth reports condemning him, which for many weeks will stand before the country as the true findings of the investigating committee, whereas he had relied on the majority for a vindication.

It is this failure of the committee to take final action which, it is said, has determined Secretary Ballinger's course. It was said here yesterday by a close friend of the secretary that had the majority of the committee been ready to report at the Minneapolis meeting, he would then have tendered his resignation to the president and urged its acceptance on the ground that the dissensions to which he has been a party were detrimental to the public interest. When the committee failed at Minneapolis to take action as a whole, and when there was no quorum at the subsequent meeting in Chicago, it became apparent that no decision could be looked for practically for several months.

This situation is said to have convinced Mr. Ballinger that his position, despite the continued support of the president, has become untenable. Unable as he sees it to resign as either vindicated or condemned by the committee, he has decided, it is said, to demand of his superior and his cabinet associates either vindication or condemnation.

Several days ago it was announced that Secretary Ballinger would arrive here September 24. He left his home in Seattle Thursday, however, and will reach Washington several days in advance of the cabinet session. His purpose in thus expediting his return is believed to be to consult with his immediate subordinates and to gain their assistance in preparing for his demand from the cabinet of the "show down."

SUPREME COURT

Will Decide Matter of Closing Roads

The Lowell Automobile club is desirous of having the International Grand Prix race here next September, but before going ahead with plans is determined to find out how it stands relative to closing the roads for the race.

William H. Wilson, attorney for the club, is preparing to go before the supreme court relative to the right of the legislature to give the city of Lowell the privilege to close its roads during certain hours of certain days. Edward J. Tierney will appear against him, contending that the legislature has not the right to do this. Until some decision is handed down on the question the governing of the automobile club will take no definite action concerning the plan to have the most noted auto drivers in the world compete here.

AGED PASTOR

REV. DWIGHT SPENCER OF NORTH ADAMS IS DEAD

NORTH ADAMS, Sept. 17.—Rev. Dwight Spencer, 83 years old, died at the home of his son, Rev. J. H. Spencer of Church street, yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock after a short illness. He had been in his usual health up to about three weeks ago, when he began to fail, and because of his age the end came quickly.

He was a Baptist minister and his last charge was the Baptist church in Cheshire, to which place he went March 2, 1906.

Mr. Spencer was born in Mansfield, Conn. His early life was passed on a farm and in teaching schools in the winter. In 1851 he moved to Brooklyn, where he worked for a year as a book-keeper and later entered business for himself.

In November, 1851, he married Miss

His active religious life began in February, 1881, when he became a Sunday school worker in the tenement district of Brooklyn. He was ordained a Baptist minister in 1883. He worked in different southern cities during the war and in August, 1889, went to Fairhaven, Vt., and was ordained as Baptist minister of the church of that place.

At the close of his pastorate there he went to Salt Lake City, Utah, under appointment of the American Baptist home mission society as superintendent of missions for the Rocky Mountain district, which embraced four states.

After his return from the west he received several degrees from various colleges.

He is survived by four children, Julius D. Spencer of New York, Mrs. John alcraff of Fairhaven, Vt., Mrs. Frank L. Bingham of Richmond, Va., and Rev. J. H. Spencer of this city.

CHIMNEY FIRE

Called Firemen to West Fifth Street

An alarm from box 232 at 9:02 o'clock this morning summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze on the roof of a building at 32 West Fifth street belonging to Mrs. Jennie Crum. The fire was caused by a spark from a chimney and was speedily extinguished by the firemen. The damage was slight.

GRATEFUL MOTHER TELLS OF LITTLE SON'S SUFFERING

With Sores All Over Head, on Neck and Face. Cries Kept Parents Awake Through Long Nights. Hands in Gloves to Prevent Scratching. Used Cuticura Remedies. Cured in Less than Three Weeks.

As a grateful mother, I feel it my duty to thank you for the cure of my little son who was afflicted for about eight months with sores all over his head, back of his neck and nearly all his face. We tried all kinds of remedies without any relief. We even employed a good physician and I am sure he tried his very best to cure my poor suffering little boy. But, alas! instead of getting better he went for the worse. His head was literally covered with scabs and ugly sores and his cries kept us awake throughout the long night. I had to keep his hands in gloves to prevent his scratching his head, as he was doubtless suffering from a burning and itching sensation and was constantly trying to put his hands where it hurt.

At last when he was about three years old, we saw an advertisement of Cuticura and I decided to try the virtues of the Cuticura Remedies. I bought one cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. I used them according to directions and I am happy to tell you the little sufferer was cured in less than three weeks. This was over a year ago and now his head is covered with a fine growth of luxuriant hair. Strange to say, all those unsightly sores did not even leave a scar.

RUMORS OF FRAUDS

In the Weighing of Meat in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Sept. 17.—There was even more than customary secrecy about the grand jury deliberations for Essex county yesterday, a case in which State Officer Fred P. Flynn was interested being under consideration. A report was that it had to do with alleged frauds in the weighing of meat, with Flynn concerned. The officials as well as witnesses were uncommunicative regarding the case.

Atty. Michael Sughrue of Boston and his associate, Lawyer Chase, were also present in the court house while the grand jury was in session. It is said that they were interested in the prosecution of some case coming before the grand jury. Atty. Sughrue said that he was not at liberty to divulge the nature of his business.

The jury adjourned at 5 o'clock on Monday morning. It was at first thought that the jurors would assemble tomorrow, but this program was changed.

Attorney Michael Sullivan of Salem was at the courthouse yesterday afternoon to have an interview with District Attorney Peters relative to the exceptions in the cases of ex-Mayor William P. White and Geo. B. Smart. The papers are in the district attorney's hands and counsel for the two men, who are in the local house of correction, convicted of conspiracy to effect the removal of Chief Engineer James A. Hamilton of the fire department, is anxious to take the matter up before Judge Schofield at this term of court so the case may reach the supreme court in November, in the event of Judge Schofield overruling them.

AGAINST SUGAR TRUST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—A petition for the dissolution of the so-called sugar trust will be filed in the United States court at New York probably next week. This is an action entirely independent of the indictments which were found some time ago against the American Sugar Refining Co. and some of its officials. It was the subject of the conference in New York yesterday between Attorney General Wickersham and U. S. Attorney Wise.

LINA CAVALIERI TO FIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Counsel Osborn for Lina Cavalieri, the singer, said today that his client proposes to fight for her rights and was coming to this country to see that the pre-nuptial agreement is carried out. Report has it that Chanler's family are willing to settle Bob Chanler's difficulties on the basis of $10,000 cash and an annuity of $5000 a year.

WORLD'S SERIES

MAY BE STARTED ON SUNDAY, OCTOBER 16

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—According to Gary Herrmann, president of the National commission, the meeting to decide the details of the world's series between the Cubs and Athletics will not be called for two weeks at least and in the meantime the "fans" will have to wait for definite information regarding the exact dates and the order of how the games will be played. It is said, however, that the opening day will be Sunday, Oct. 16, and the West Side grounds here the battlefield for the series opener.

"I don't care when the world's series commences or where the games are played," declared Charles W. Murphy yesterday. "Naturally we have to look after the players' interests in this matter for they are partners in the receipts. As far as I am concerned, however, they can play the series on a corner lot or anywhere for that matter."

OPENING OF THE SUMMER GARDENS

The carpenters and painters being unable to complete their work, the opening of the Summer Gardens will be postponed until Wednesday, the 21st, when Eddie Tryon, who has leased the top floor of the Mansur Building, over Bruz's, will open what will be known as the Summer Gardens. The idea is taken from Scranton, Pa., where Mr. Tryon spent the past week. The admission will be free. A famous singing orchestra has been engaged for dancing every evening and the charge will be 5c a dance, 7 for 25c. Mr. James Murphy of Boston, formerly of "The Time, the Place and the Girl" Co., will sing Broadway's latest show songs during dancing. Boyle Bros. will erect a mammoth booth where their beverages can be found. A ladies' observation room is being fitted up where ladies who do not care to dance can watch others. A smoking and checking room will also be installed.

STOCK MARKET

MODERATE SHOW OF STRENGTH IN THE GENERAL LIST

A Rise in the Interborough-Met. Stocks—The advances were lost afterwards—Some Lively Trading During the Day

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Opening

dealings in stocks were fairly active and prices showed an advancing tendency. New York Central rose 1 1/2 and U. P. and Baltimore & Ohio substantial fractions. Evansville & Terre Haute sold at an advance of 2. Interborough Met. preferred reacted 1/4 from yesterday's advance and Delaware & Hudson declined 1/4.

Selling orders came into the market after U. P. went up and the active list turned downwards. U. P. lost all of its gain and Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting receded to below yesterday's close. Subsequently the market stiffened, Wabash pf., Consolidated Gas and Tennessee Copper moved up a point. American Tobacco pf. and National Enameling lost as much.

The market closed heavy and dull. A moderate show of strength in the general list accompanied a rise in the Interborough-Met. stocks. The advances were partly lost afterwards. American Car pf. declined 1/2.

Clearing House Statement

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $23,462,000 more than the requirements of the 25 per cent reserve rule. This is a decrease of $6,380,000 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

TO CONTEST WILL

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 17.—A suit to contest the will of Mrs. Harriet Thurston, an aged member of the theological organization at Point Loma, of which Mrs. Katherine Tingley is the head, has been begun here.

The suit was filed yesterday by George Patterson, a son of Mrs. Thurston, who died recently at Newburyport, Mass. Charges of undue influence on the part of Mrs. Tingley, to whom Mrs. Thurston bequeathed $150,000, are made the basis of the suit. Mrs. Thurston was 74 years old.

PROFIT OF $90,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—A profit of almost $90,000,000 accrued to the Italian government last year because of the national lottery run under governmental control. The total receipts were nearly $18,000,000, half of which the state paid out in expenses and winnings. The lottery business increased more than $500,000 over the preceding year, according to a report by Consul General Smith at Genoa.

THE GOETHE MEMORIAL

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—The international jury chosen by the German societies of Chicago to select a design for the Goethe memorial to be erected in Lincoln park in that city today decided upon the design submitted by Prof. Hermann Hahn of Munich.

Nine sculptors competed. Harry Rubens who represented the Chicago committee at the competition gave a reception to the jury at the Royal Academy of Art this afternoon. Other guests were Count Bernstorff, German ambassador at Washington, Dr. Hill, American ambassador to Germany and Prof. Hugo Muensterberg of Harvard university.

HE LEFT $950,000

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The will of the late Chief Justice Melville Fuller and his wife, Mary Fuller, who died in 1904, were admitted to probate yesterday. The late chief justice died possessed of an estate valued at $950,000, while the estate of his wife is placed at $115,000.

BANK CURRENCY

The Demand for It Increases

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—That our national bank currency is inelastic is the conclusion reached by Alexander Dana Noyes in an article just published by the National Monetary commission under the title, "History of the National Bank Currency."

The demand for currency naturally increases with an increase in population and business activity. It varies, moreover, from season to season. "The harvest months require more currency than the early springtime, primarily because the hand to hand use of currency for paying the wages of the agricultural laborers is at its maximum in the one period and at its minimum in the other. The ideal bank note system should provide automatically for these changes in demand. "A currency which is inadequate for harvest uses will result

KING'S SPECIAL AMBASSADOR ARRIVES TO TAKE WIFE HOME

COUNTESS OF GRANARD

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The Earl of Granard, special ambassador of King George to the courts of Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Holland, Belgium, Spain and Portugal to announce the accession of his sovereign to the throne, has arrived here. His mission will not be completed until he has appeared before his king with the report of his visits. He is here to take back with him to England his wife, formerly Miss Beatrice Mills. The Earl, who is the master of the king's horse and who represents the admiralty in the English parliament, said that the etiquette of the British court did not allow a special ambassador to take his wife with him, and so he could not enjoy the society and companionship of the countess while he was visiting the courts of Europe. He will go to Staatsburg, N. Y., and return aboard the Mauretania with the countess and their baby.

$3300 THEFT CHARGE

Ex-Treasurer Ingersoll is Now Under Arrest

BIDDEFORD, Me., Sept. 17.—Charged in four warrants with having embezzled $3300 Richmond H. Ingersoll, deposed treasurer of the York county savings bank, which was forced to close its doors a month ago by the discovery of discrepancies in his accounts, since estimated at $340,000 was arrested at his home here late yesterday.

His family physician made affidavit that removal from his home would endanger the aged former treasurer's life and he was arraigned in his room in the presence of his wife and daughter. Mr. Ingersoll was held in $20,000 bail for a hearing at 2 p. m. today. The bail was furnished by friends.

Pres. Charles H. Prescott, of the bank, who swore out the warrants, said last night that the $3300 which he is formally charged with embezzling comprises all the funds which the investigators were able to discover had been taken within six years. Irregularities committed prior to that time are outlawed by the statute of limitations.

Pres. Prescott said definite grounds upon which to base the charges had been found only Thursday, and that there was no delay in making the arrest.

The four warrants charge that Mr. Ingersoll falsified checks drawn on Portland and Boston banks and converted to his own use the funds thus alleged to have been secured, $300 on Sept. 11, 1909, and $1000 each on Nov. 27, Dec. 11, and Dec. 31, 1909.

The arrest was made by Chief of Police Charles B. Harned in the room in which Mr. Ingersoll has been confined by illness during the month since the alleged shortage was discovered, and in which he has twice attempted to take his life.

Mr. Ingersoll was sitting in a chair, wrapped in a heavy blanket. When informed he had been placed under arrest he broke down and cried, but soon recovered his composure, and during the formality of arraignment, conducted by Recorder Clarence B. Ramsey of the municipal court, showed evidence of unshaken mind. On one occasion, while Recorder Ramsey was reading the warrants, Mr. Ingersoll interposed a correction, stating that the date on one of the warrants should be Dec. 31, 1909, instead of Dec. 31, 1910. Throughout the arraignment he was cool and collected.

He said he did not wish to plead at this time, as he had engaged Edward C. Reynolds of South Portland as counsel and would like to confer with him before making any plea.

He was furnished by Ex-Mayor Cornelius A. Torjhan, Dr. Frank S. Warren and Charles A. Moody, cashier of the First National bank of Biddeford.

The York County Savings bank closed its doors August 12, following the discovery by State Bank Examiner E. B. Shelton of Lewiston of discrepancies in Mr. Ingersoll's accounts. Late on the previous day Mr. Ingersoll was found unconscious in his room, suffering apparently from an overdose of morphine, while a note was found in the bank stating that a shortage would be found in his accounts, the result, he said, of his efforts to cover up heavy losses incurred many years ago by the bank through investments in faulty western securities. He declared he had not profited personally by the irregularities.

When the shortage was discovered Pres. Prescott had been in office less than a year. It was through his insistence, backed by the trustees of the institution, that a new method of keeping the books being inaugurated and through the notice of the proposed publishing of the local papers of the individual accounts of depositors that the discovery was brought about.

Vol. Prescott declared last night that the apparent delay in arresting the deposed treasurer, following the discovery, was caused by a desire to shield him from the law, but was due entirely to a lack of sufficient ground upon which to base warrant charges.

NEARLY KILLEDPatrick McNulty Fell Down an Elevator Shaft

Patrick McNulty, residing at 19 Cheney place, off Barclay street, had a narrow escape from being killed about 2 o'clock this afternoon as a result of falling down an elevator well in the new building of the Lowell Storage Warehouse Co. in Jackson street.

How the accident happened is not known, but it is thought that McNulty lost his footing while near the well and fell headforemost into the elevator shaft.

The ambulance was called and the injured man was taken to St. John's hospital. At the time of going to press the extent of his injuries had not been ascertained, but it is thought that he is suffering from a compound fracture of the thigh.

COL. ROOSEVELT
Returns to the Defense of His Nationalism

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Theodore Roosevelt returned to the defense of his nationalism today, as was specifically indicated in the title of his address at the state fair here: "The New Nationalism and the Old Morality." "The new nationalism," he asserted, "means nothing but an application to new conditions of certain old and fundamental moralities. It means an invitation to meet the new problems of the present day in precisely the spirit in which Lincoln and the men of his day met their new problems."

To his critics he put this clean-cut issue:

"Is any party willing to take the other side of the propositions of which complaint is made? If so it would be a good thing to have the issue before the people, for in the end the people would most certainly decide in favor of the principles embodied in the new nationalism, because otherwise this country could not continue to be a true republic, a true democracy."

The speaker followed with a justification of his attacks on the supreme court of the United States. He chose two arguments: one, that in his criticisms he had merely echoed the minority opinion of the court itself, the other that he had illustrious precedents, namely the example of Abraham Lincoln, who, he said, had been far more outspoken than he himself had ever been and the example of President Taft, from whose utterances fifteen years ago in favor of public criticism of the courts he quoted.

"Take for instance," he continued, "what I said in reference to two decisions of the supreme court. One decision was in the Knight sugar case, in which, according to the dissenting opinion of Justice Harlan, the judgment of the court placed the public, so far as national power is concerned (the only power which could be effective), entirely at the mercy of the combinations which arbitrarily control the prices of articles purchased to be transported from one state into another state."

"I merely took the view which the learned justice had taken in his dissenting opinion. Those who criticize me are also criticizing a justice of the supreme court, Mr. Harlan. Do my critics take the position that the people shall not be able to control the activities and management of these great monopolistic corporations doing an interstate business. If so let them frankly avow their position. If not let them cease their criticism."

The other case mentioned was one prohibiting New York state to regulate hours of work in bake shops, and again, the speaker said he had based his criticism on a dissenting opinion within the court itself.

"Fifty three years ago," he continued, "Abraham Lincoln was assailed for his repeated criticisms of the supreme court in the Dred Scott case. As regards this decision he announced not once, but again and again, that he held it to be not merely the right but the duty of citizens, who felt that its decisions were erroneous and bly and uprightly in many positions—as judge, as governor of the Philippines, as secretary of war, and now as president, for to him and the congress acting with him we owe the creation of a tariff commission; the adoption of maximum and minimum tariff law treaties with foreign powers, the proper treatment of the Philippines under the tariff, the increase in the efficiency of the interstate commerce law, the beginning of a national legislative program providing for the taxing power in connection with the corporations doing an interstate business, a postal savings bank bill, the constitution of a commission to report a remedy for over-capitalization in connection with the issue of stocks and bonds; but few of his services are more deserving of record than what he said in this very matter of criticism of the judiciary. Speaking as a United States circuit judge 15 years ago, he said: 'The opportunity freely and publicly to criticize judicial action is of a vastly more importance to the body politic than the immunity of courts and judges from unjust aspersions and attacks. Nothing tends more to render judges careful in their decisions and anxiously solicitous to do exact justice than the consciousness that every act of theirs is to be submitted to the intelligent scrutiny and candid criticism of their fellow men. In the case of judges having a life tenure, indeed, their very independence makes the right freely to comment on their decisions of greater importance, because it is the only practicable and available instrument in the hands of a free people to keep such judges alive to the reasonable demands of those they serve.'

Dropping the personal pronoun, the colonel took up an exposition of what "we who work for the New Nationalism" believe. He reiterated his belief in government by party, his recognition of the necessity of corporations in business, accompanied by the elevation of the workingman by unions; but all these agencies, he was convinced, must be under control of the whole people. The one vital and essential matter in all public life was honesty. All good citizens must join in warning on the crook, whether giver or taker of bribes, as a traitor to democracy. The address closed with the only words that could be construed as having any bearing on the immediate political situation within the republican party in this state—a dissertation on popular self-control and party leadership; a distinction between the boss and the leader.

"It is necessary and desirable," said the colonel, "that there should be leaders, but it is unnecessary and undesirable that there should be bosses. The leader leads the people; the boss drives the people. The leader gets his hold by open appeal to the reason and conscience of his followers; the boss keeps his hold by manipulation, by intrigue, by secret and furtive appeal to many forms of self-interest, and sometimes to very base forms."

Progress there must be, but it must be wise, sober and moderate. If it were to be permanent, prosperity must be preserved, for material well-being was a great good, but it was only a foundation for "a lofty national life, raised in accordance with the doctrine that 'righteousness exalteth a nation.'"

EXTRA LICENSES

May be Granted by the Police Board

In view of the increase of population the police board may grant extra liquor licenses for each 1000 over the last official figures. If this should be done it would mean the granting of 13 additional licenses.

Sec'y Murphy's Views
John J. Murphy, secretary of the board of trade, was asked what he thought of the announcement of the census bureau. "Today's announcement sounds more like it. I simply did not credit the estimate which was sent out a few weeks ago. I felt that Lowell had grown considerably since the last official figures were issued by the census bureau. I felt that we had gone quite a way beyond the 100,000 mark and I am delighted to know that such is the case. I simply couldn't believe that all the other cities were gaining by leaps and bounds while we were losing ground," said Mr. Murphy.

ANNUAL REUNION LARGE INCREASE

Of the 26th Mass. Regiment Was Held Today
Lowell Has Made Gain of 11,325
in Population

The 36th annual reunion of the organization of the 26th Massachusetts regiment was held today in Memorial hall. The attendance was rather small, there being but 38 members present, but considerable routine business was transacted.

The meeting was called to order at 10:30 o'clock by President Samuel R. Burroughs of West Acton and at the conclusion of routine business, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

President, Walter Fulton of Manchester, N. H.; first vice president, Patrick Hogan of North Andover; second vice president, Calvin W. Greenwood, Nashua, N. H.; secretary, John Balcom, Natick; treasurer, D. H. Hall, West Acton.

It was voted to hold the next reunion of the regiment of this city and the committee appointed to make arrangements for the hall is composed of Messrs. J. F. Slater, Martin L. Bassett and Joseph Pickard. While the place of meeting has not been decided upon it is understood that it will be held at Post 185 hall.

At one o'clock an excellent dinner was served in the banquet hall by the Women's Relief Corps of Post 42, G. A. R.

The regiment was formed 49 years ago today in old Jackson hall and afterwards the members went to Camp Chase where they remained until called upon for duty. Col. Edward P. Jones of Birmingham, N. Y., was at the head of the regiment.

The oldest man present at the gathering was Noah J. Moulton, aged 86 years, of Groton.

The following is a list of those who died during the year: Edward Meadworth, George Bentley, J. P. Upham, S. F. Storey, William K. Ingraham, G. R. Boston, George A. Lancy and A. P. Crocker.

GREAT RECEPTION

O. M. I. Cadets

The O. M. I. Cadets tendered a great reception to Rev. Lawrence J. Tighe, O. M. I., the new pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, in the school hall last night. The affair was a great surprise to the new pastor. The entire corps of cadets had been drilling in the streets adjacent to the school, while the recruits were being instructed by Mr. Frank Sullivan, a former colonel of the high school battalion, in the school hall. When the drill was ended the cadets returned to the school hall and then at the request of the officers, Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., chaplain of the cadets, sent a messenger to the parochial residence and invited Father

LIEUT. BERNARD F. MCARDLE.

Report Sent Out by the Census Bureau — The Population in
1900 Was Recorded as 94,969

WASHINGTON—Sept. 17.—The census bureau today issued statistics giving the population of the following cities:

Holyoke, Mass., has 57,730 people, an increase of 12,018 or 26.3 per cent. as compared with 45,712 in 1900.

Lowell, Mass., has 106,294 people, an increase of 11,325, or 11.9 per cent. as compared with 94,969 in 1900.

Pittsfield, Mass., has 32,121 people, an increase of 10,315 or 47.6 per cent. as compared with 21,766 in 1900.

New Orleans has 339,075 people, an increase of 51,971 or 15.3 per cent. as compared with 287,104 in 1900.

THE CENSUS RETURNS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The second bulletin of the census bureau showing the growth of cities was issued today. Of the 38 cities which in 1900 had a population of 100,000 and more, twenty-four are given and to these are added five which have attained the 100,000 mark during the past decade. The aggregate population of these 29 cities now is 13,598,810 as against 10,376,012 in 1900 and 7,904,140 in 1890. The absolute increase between 1890 and 1900 amounted to 2,471,872; between 1900 and 1910 to 3,220,807.

The percentage of increase for this aggregate population show very little change in the rate of growth during the two decades, being for the earlier one 31.3 per cent. and for the latter 35 per cent. The fact is noted that the high rate of increase is not confined to any one geographical section. Of the seven cities whose rates exceeded 40 per cent., two, Newark and Bridgeport, are eastern, one, Atlanta, in southern, and four, Detroit, Denver, Kansas City and Columbus, are western. Of the two cities with the lowest rate, one is eastern and the other is western.

Remarkable on the facts presented the bulletin says: "The rates of increase for Detroit, Atlanta, Denver and Kansas City must be regarded as phenomenally high, but even more extraordinary is the high percentage for New York which exceeds the average for 23 cities in the group by 11.4 per cent. and is itself exceeded only by the rates of seven cities. The New York city rate, moreover, has been maintained at its present high point for two decades and may, therefore, be regarded as a normal rate for the city."

Fifty-four cities of between 25,000 and 100,000 are given showing an aggregate population of 2,723,498 against 1,991,766 in 1900, a gain of 43.2 per cent., a rate of growth which the census bureau pronounces phenomenally high.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Counsel for Richard Ingersoll
Appears for Client

BIDDEFORD, Me., Sept. 17.—A plea of not guilty was entered by Richard Ingersoll before Recorder Clarence Rumery of the municipal court at this afternoon's session when the formalities so occupied only a few moments. He appeared very calm and cool.

Probable cause was found and he was bound over to the September term of the supreme court which will be opened at Alfred next Tuesday.

Bail, which was fixed at $5000, was furnished by Charles A. Moody, cashier of the First National bank, Dr. Frank S. Warren, Henry G. Hutchinson, George B. Goodwin and Mayor Cornelius Horrigan, all of this city.

NAVAL SUPPLIES

Chance for Local Dealers to Send Bids

Secretary Murphy of the board of trade has received the usual notice of bids desired for navy supplies by the bureau of supplies and accounts, navy department, Washington. This list includes a variety of articles desired by the different navy yards and naval stations of the United States and the bids will be opened from October 4 to 11. Dealers intending to bid on them are notified to send to Washington for the list in schedules and the prospective bidder is instructed to send to Washington for the schedule desired.

The following list shows the articles and schedule numbers thereof, called for at the Charlestown and Portsmouth navy yards:

6000 pounds Portland cement, schedule number 2911, for Boston navy yard.

4000 gallons of gasoline, schedule 2919, for Boston navy yard.

1200 yards of sheeting, unbleached, schedule No. 2918, Boston navy yard.

Sewing and roving needles, hardware and tools, schedule 2917, Boston navy yard.

1000 gallons Japan drier, schedule No. 2855, Boston navy yard.

200 tons Manila hemp, schedule No. 2853, Boston navy yard.

1200 pounds of candles, schedule No. 2918, Boston navy yard.

Brass pipe fittings, etc., schedule No. 2850, Boston navy yard.

Groceries and provisions, schedule No. 2909, for various navy yards.

Stationery, schedule No. 2920, for Boston navy yard.

One lot, schedule No. 2910, for Portsmouth navy yard.

Barnes is Ready to Meet Ex-President Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Before leaving for Albany this afternoon William Barnes, Jr., expressed the hope that he would be given an opportunity of meeting Theodore Roosevelt face to face in the committee on resolutions at the republican state committee to debate the issues.

"In the matters which have come under discussion between Mr. Roosevelt and me," said Mr. Barnes, "I notice that in each instance he has replied not argumentatively but against me individually. I am opposed to the radical attitude toward public affairs which he has exhibited. The weakness of his argument lies in the fact that whenever his position is assailed he attacks the man and not the argument. This is in accordance with his method of appealing to passion and not to reason.

"I hope that Mr. Roosevelt will be a member of the committee on resolutions at the state convention as I hope to be myself, because in that forum he will be compelled to face arguments.

"Have you considered the possibility of an endorsement by the state convention of President Taft for 1912?" Mr. Barnes was asked.

"I understand that Mr. Roosevelt has considered it," was his quick reply.

Mr. Barnes said it was not impossible that the question of a plank in the platform dealing with the United States supreme court would be considered by the committee on resolutions.

"It would hardly seem necessary, however, for the republican party to declare that it accepted the decisions of the supreme court," he added, "even if one of the members of the party does it."

Abraham Granber, leader of the seventeenth assembly district, announced today that the delegates from his district would support the candidacy of Assemblyman William Bennett, who is seeking the nomination for congress from the fifteenth district against J. Van Vechten Olcott, the present representative. This practically assures Mr. Bennett's nomination.

EXPELLING THE JEWS

KIEV, Russia, Sept. 17.—The police have become more active in expelling the Jews who have been ordered back within the restricted territory set aside for them. From Sept. 12 to Sept. 15 eighty-four persons were driven out or given a brief period in which to make their exit. Thirty-two Jews left voluntarily. In the same days 56 persons were expelled from the suburbs of Solomenka and Demiefka.

ROOSEVELT ENDORSES SENATOR

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 17.—State Senator Wainwright of Westchester county has received a strong endorsement in his fight for renomination from Theodore Roosevelt, it was learned today. On his way to Syracuse Colonel Roosevelt made known what he had said to Mr. Wainwright yesterday when the senator visited him in New York.

"I told Mr. Wainwright," he said, "that I heartily approved of his work in the legislature. I told him that I would do all that I could to help him."

Colonel Roosevelt was given a good reception on his arrival, although there were no prominent members of the Albany county republican organization present. He came out on the rear platform of his car and shook hands with those who greeted him.

COTTON MANUFACTURERS

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 17.—The semi-annual meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, which has been in session here for three days, ended today with the election of new members and the presentation of papers bearing upon different phases of the textile industry. The speakers and their subjects were:

William Davis, Boston, "Economic lubrication"; Churchill Hungerford, Philadelphia, "Water filtration as applied to textile industries"; A. S. Hubbard, New York, "Illuminating engineering"; and Henry G. Brinkerhoff, Boston, "Natural and artificial draft."

ARMY OFFICERS

Pleased With Performance of Air Machines

GRAND VILLIERS, France, Sept. 17.—General Brun, French minister of war, and the entire army are enthusiastic over the achievements of the aeroplanes and dirigible balloons during the military manoeuvres which ended today. The military experts are unanimous in the opinion that the air machines are destined not only to play a most important role in future war but to greatly modify if not revolutionize army strategy. Henceforth it will be almost impossible to conceal the position and advancement of troops and so will be eliminated practically all the surprise flank operations which have decided so many critical battles.

Regarding the relative merits of the aeroplane and the dirigible, opinions differ; but the consensus of opinion appears to be that as each supplements the other a combination of both is necessary. The aeroplane demonstrated its superiority in the matter of speed, its maneuverability and independence of the wind and weather, while its portability avoids the necessity of housing; but at the same time the excessive speed of the machines is a drawback, as it makes observation from them necessarily vague when fleeting. Twice during the manoeuvres General Munier, commanding the Third corps, was compelled to send the pilot of an aeroplane back over the scouting field to obtain more precise information. The dirigibles, although slower, and so offering a better target for the enemy, are able to make more accurate observations, besides enjoying the advantage of being in constant wireless communication with headquarters.

While offensive aerial operations have not been attempted here, General Brun is convinced that the development of the aeroplane opens a great field for aggressive aerial operations, such as day and night raids for the purpose of dropping explosives within the enemy's lines.

BARN BURNED

ON DAY BEFORE IT WAS TO BE SOLD

ORFORD, N. H., Sept. 17.—While Clarence H. Carr was going over the deeds of his house and barn with a purchaser, preparatory for a sale today, neighbors discovered a blaze in his barn last evening and turned in an alarm. The property, with the exception of a few movables, was entirely consumed, entailing a loss of $7000. He had insurance.

Carr and his family had left the home half an hour before the blaze started for a trip to town, where Mr. Carr, with the purchaser, looked over the deeds.

FUNERAL NOTICE

SARGENT—Died in this city today, James A. Sargent, aged 69 years, at his residence, 4 rear of 668 Broadway. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker George W. Healy and the funeral services will be held at the undertaking parlors Monday afternoon at two o'clock. Friends invited. Burial private.

JOHN H. MURPHY

Elected Treasurer of Trade Extension Asso.

The merchants who compose the Suburban Trade Extension association met yesterday at the board of trade rooms with James O'Sullivan in the chair and after an informal discussion of the affairs of the association voted to continue under the present policy and elected John Murphy, secretary of the board of trade, to be secretary and treasurer of the association.

This association comprises many of Lowell's leading merchants for the purpose of booming the business places of Lowell in all cities and towns within reachable distance of Lowell. A fund was established by individual contributions of considerable size which was used to good advantage in booming Lowell in cities and towns within a radius of 10 miles of this city. This is the organization that established Suburban day, offering purchasers from the suburbs special inducements to come to Lowell to trade and also was responsible for Lowell's bargain day. It still has a substantial fund and proposes to continue the good work during the coming winter season.

ABSOLUTE DIVORCE

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Judge Blier of the supreme court signed today a final decree of absolute divorce in favor of Roy E. Pardee, son of Dwight W. Pardee, secretary of the New York Central & Hudson river railroad, from Lillian Beasley Pardee.

Roy E. Pardee, who is 23 years old, married in June, 1909, but lived with his wife only a few weeks.

RATES ADVANCED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—A general advance in freight rates on lumber by Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific R. Co., which is participated in by 230 other interstate carriers, was suspended today by the inter-state commerce commission.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 17.—Final reports presented today to Commander in Chief Samuel Van Sant by Executive Director Frank M. Sterrett declare everything in readiness for the 44th national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which opens Monday. No general sessions were held today.

ORDER HEARINGS

On a Number of Sewer Petitions

FAMOUS GOLFERS

Contest at Brookline for the Highest Honors

BROOKLINE, Sept. 17.—Two seasoned golfers, W. C. Fownes of Pittsburgh and W. K. Wood of the Homewood club of Chicago, met today at the Country club for the highest golfing honors of the country in the finals for the amateur championship. Although both players have been factors in amateur tournaments for the past eight or ten years, neither was ever a finalist in the national championship before.

Last year Fownes was defeated by W. J. Travis in the second round by 4 and 3, and Wood was defeated by H. C. Egan in the second round by 6 and 5. In 1908 at Garden City W. J. Travis beat Fownes by 7 and 5 in the third round. Wood did not compete. In 1907 at Cleveland Wood beat Whittemore by 3 and 1, Max Behr by 5 and 4 and was beaten in the third round by Jerome Travers by one up. At Cleveland Fownes beat W. J. Travis by 1 up, 20 holes and was beaten in the semi-final 4 and 3. In 1906 at Englewood, N. J., neither player competed. In 1905 at Chicago Fownes beat Travis by 1 up, 10 holes, and was defeated by David E. Sawyer in the semi-final by 2 up. Wood was beaten in the first round by H. Weber, the match going 20 holes. In 1904 at Baltusrol, N. J., neither golfer played. In 1903 at Nassau Fownes was beaten by McFarland of Philadelphia by 3 and 1 up in the first round. He did not play at Glenview, near Chicago, in 1902. In 1901 at Atlantic he was beaten by W. E. Egan by 4 and 3.

It will be seen, therefore, that national championships were no new sensation for either player and as both have shown a cool headiness and rallying power under the most depressing circumstances the match today was regarded with great interest by the entire golfing world. Neither was it surprising that several hundred close followers of the game should track after the players and that a 200 foot rope should have to be stretched across the field to keep back the impetuous and give the two contestants room to swing their clubs.

First hole—Fownes had the honor of leading and lined out a straight one that ran 220 yards along the polo field before it stopped. Fownes was not so quick so far but sent his second straight to the green while Fownes sliced and was almost stymied by a giant maple. Wood had a fine chance to capture the hole but was only able to halve it because of poor putting. Even.

Second hole—Wood was a trifle behind Fownes on the drive in the second hole but ran a beautiful one to the green, while Fownes although also on the green was away. Both tried hard to roll down long puts but had to be content with halving the hole. Even.

Third hole—A stiff northeaster was blowing across the third hole. Each player sliced into the rough behind a thick growth of trees. Wood tore up a lot of weeds on his second shot, but made only fifty yards. Fownes pushed his ball far over to the left into the rough again. Wood sent his third to the green and Fownes missed one of the traps guarding the green by half a foot. The Pittsburgh player was short in his approach put and Wood captured the hole. Wood 1 up.

Fourth hole—Wood had a good chance to win the fourth for Fownes pulled his drive into the deep woods again and while he made a beautiful recovery was off to the left of the green on his second. Wood overran his approach but, however, Fownes ran down a five foot put. Even.

Fifth hole—Fownes shot his drive to the fifth down the course 220 yards while Wood misjudged the strength of the wind and sliced two shots from the tee out of bounds. The third was strapped and he lifted for the loss of the hole. Fownes 1 up.

Sixth hole—Both players followed good drives to the hole by sending the second to the green but Wood was too strong in his approach and narrowly missed losing the hole, which was halved. Fownes 1 up.

Seventh hole—At the seventh hole Wood had an opportunity to even the match on the seventh green for he was first on the edge of the green on his drive from the tee while Fownes was short. The Pittsburgh player was short again in his approach and on his third just missed the cup. Wood in his approach put overran and laid himself a symia which he was unable to negotiate, so they split even. Fownes 1 up.

Eighth hole—At the eighth hole Wood sliced badly, driving to the eighth and sent his second into the woods to the left of the green while Fownes played far and sure for two shots. Wood had a chance to make it a half but failed to run down a five foot put and Fownes took the hole. Fownes 2 up.

Ninth hole—At the ninth hole Fownes had lined out a 170 yard drive. Wood topped badly and only made 160 yards on his second. He was short on his third and over the hole on his fourth, so that Fownes had no difficulty in taking the hole and increasing his lead to 3 up at the turn. Fownes 3 up.

Tenth hole—Fownes laid his midiron to the green, going to the tenth to within two feet of the hole and as Wood was trapped Fownes picked up another hole. Fownes 4 up.

Eleventh hole—Fownes was trapped on his drive to the eleventh and his second also landed in the sand pit, giving Wood the hole. Fownes 3 up.

Twelfth hole—On the 12th Wood pulled his second shot into a clump of trees but dodged three of them, getting out, and laid his third on the green. Fownes was just short on his second and overran the hole on his third. He was stymied by Wood but negotiated it in fine shape and got another hole. Fownes 4 up.

Thirteenth hole—Both made good drives to the 13th and Wood sent a beautiful shot to within five feet of the hole on his approach. Fownes ran over and above the hole on the side of the bank but ran down carefully to within two feet of the hole on his next. Wood tried to run down his put but failed and the hole was halved. Fownes 4 up.

Fourteenth hole—After Fownes had driven a fine straight ball to the 14th Wood sliced into the rough, topped his second and third and was trapped on his fourth. Fownes played carefully and was on the near side of the green on his third. Wood ran down a six foot put on his sixth but Fownes won the hole. Fownes 5 up.

Fifteenth hole—Fownes made a magnificent drive of 200 yards for the 15th while Wood sliced. Having a bad stance Wood made a poor second. Fownes was on the green and holed a 12-foot put, taking the hole. Fownes 6 up.

Sixteenth hole—Fownes made a shot for the 16th that was trapped but he got out beautifully and halved the hole. Fownes 6 up.

Seventeenth hole—Fownes sliced into the rough going in the 17th while Wood drove straight. Fownes overran the green on his approach and overran the hole on his approach put, going into a bad trap. Wood won the hole easily. Fownes 5 up.

Eighteenth hole—The players came across the polo field for the home hole after good drives but both fubbed their second shots and were on the race track beneath the green. Wood pitched his approach on the green and overran the hole 15 feet, while Fownes went still farther. Fownes ran his approach within five inches of the hole, narrowly missing it while Wood holed out. The gallery applauded the Chicago player for his gameness. Fownes 4 up.

RACE FOR A ROUTE

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 17.—The British Columbia & Alaska R. R. Co., organized by a syndicate of New York bankers to build a railroad across southwestern Alaska and to Vancouver, has beaten the Grand Trunk Pacific in the race for a route. With the Ottawa department of railroads rests the final decision on the preliminary route plans and the British Columbia & Alaska was the first to file these. The British Columbia & Alaskan had their surveyors in the field fully two months before the Grand Trunk surveyors began. This is the second time the Grand Trunk has been engaged in a route race to Vancouver. In the former instance the Grand Trunk lost and Mackenzie and Mann of the Canadian Northern Pacific won the decision in parliament. Both had filed identical plans but the Canadian Northern was first. If the Canadian capitalists win their application for federal approval of their plans they will reap a decided advantage.

GREAT EXPOSITION

To Celebrate Completion of the Panama Canal

Mayor John F. Meehan has received a letter from the World's Panama Exposition company of New Orleans asking his endorsement and approval and the city's endorsement and approval of New Orleans as the best site for the great exposition to be held in 1915, to celebrate the completion of the Panama canal. The choice between New Orleans and San Francisco will be made by congress at the coming session.

Following are a few extracts from the letter received by the mayor:

For your city the question is, which town—New Orleans or San Francisco—will be the better place for the exposition, for we do not expect you to look at the question through ours but through your own spectacles; which of the two cities is the nearer, which will cost the least, in time and money to visit; if there are exhibitors from your city who want to display their products, where can they display them to the greatest advantage? If the exposition helps to develop the section in which it is held, which development will prove of the greatest advantage to your city and section, that of the Pacific coast or the Mississippi valley and the south?

We ask you, therefore, to help congress to decide this problem of the site of the exposition by letting us know which of the two cities will best suit your people, and is therefore favored by them. In asking you to pronounce on this question, we are doing so in the interest of your own people who, in this, as in other cities, have and exercise the right to express their preference to their congressmen, and expect favorable action.

Over two hundred cities have through their mayors, city councils and boards of aldermen expressed themselves in favor of New Orleans as the proper site for the exposition. At the recent convention of American municipalities held at St. Paul, Minnesota, last month, strong resolutions were adopted favoring New Orleans as the logical site for the exposition. They were adopted with but one dissenting vote, the mayor of Lincoln, Nebraska, who declared for neither of the two contestants for the exposition, but expressed which it is held, which development will prove of the greatest advantage to your city and section, that of the Pacific coast or the Mississippi valley and the south?

THE HIGH SCHOOL

Attendance This Year 1229---Examination for Evening Teachers

Yesterday the number of pupils at the High school numbered 1229 as against 1170 on the corresponding day last year. There are 116 non-resident scholars this year as against 99 last year, and if all of the 116 should remain the whole year the city would receive nearly $7000. There are three terms, $20 a term or $60 a year.

Following are the places that the non-resident pupils come from and the number from each place: Dracut 38, Tewksbury 25, Tyngsboro 17, North Chelmsford 6, Westford 3, Collinsville 1, West Chelmsford 2, Billerica 1, Wamecet 4, Dunstable 3, Chelmsford

Centre 1, North Tewksbury 4, East Dracut 2.

Examinations Today

An examination for teachers for the evening schools was held at the high school this forenoon. Supt. Whitcomb conducted the examination and there were 11 candidates, eight women and three men. Mr. Whitcomb will report the result of the examination to the school board and those of the candidates who were successful, or as many as of them as are required, will be elected at the next meeting of the school board.

CAR TO CHELMSFORD CENTRE

Rep. Erson B. Barlow and Selectman Eben T. Adams, representing the people of Chelmsford street and Chelmsford Centre, held a conference with Supt. Lees of the street railroad this morning and incidentally presented him a big petition from people residing on the Chelmsford street and Chelmsford Centre lines praying for a later car from Merrimack square to Chelmsford Centre on Sunday nights.

Mr. Barlow did the talking and evidently his eloquence was impressive, for Supt. Lees agreed to run a car from Lowell to Chelmsford Centre henceforth at 10.35 Sunday nights.

TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

Board of Health Holds Milk Supply Alone Responsible

The Board Discovers a Typhoid Carrier Employed in the Milk Business and Has Him Discharged

Four new cases of typhoid fever were reported at the office of the board of health today. This brings the total up to 69 and the board has traced 43 of the 69 cases to the milk delivered on one milk route.

Some one raised the alarm that the water was infected and the board of health and the water department were queried relative to the report and were asked if there was any foundation in fact for it.

From Milk to Water

Dr. Huntress was asked what he thought about it. "In the present epidemic," said Dr. Huntress, "there is nothing that points to the water. If the water was responsible for it we would not be able to connect more than 60 per cent. of the total number of cases to one milk route. I am not surprised, however, that the question has been asked, but if 100,000 people were drinking typhoid milk the total number of cases would be more than 69, and the board of health would not be able to connect 60 per cent. of them to one milk route."

A member of the water department said the water is analyzed every few weeks and the last examination, which was only a few days ago, showed that the water maintained its usual purity. "There is nothing the matter with the water," he said.

A Typhoid Carrier

The board of health has discovered a typhoid carrier: a man who shows no symptoms of the disease but in whose blood the germ lurks. In discussing this particular man, today, a doctor stated that the case was not an unusual one. "It was not so very long ago," he said, "that you read in the papers about a girl who carried typhoid fever from place to place. Everywhere she went to work the disease would show itself and after the story had been told the doctors got together and decided that she was a typhoid carrier. She showed no symptoms of the disease at all, but when it came to a test of her blood the germ was found there."

"I presume that the milkman's case is a similar one. A blood test has been made and it proved positive. The man does not show any symptoms of the disease, but it is in his blood just the same, and he ought not to be allowed to engage in any way in the milk business."

Dr. Huntress said today that the board would not allow the man to engage in the milk business in any capacity and the man has been so warned. He called at the office of the board yesterday and registered a kick because the board had ruled him out of the milk business. He was told that because of the blood test the board would have to stick to its decision and he was advised to find some other line of business.

MGR. BALDOMERO ARRESTED

LISBON, Sept. 17.—According to today's papers, Monsignor Baldomero, superior of the Aldea Ponte friars, was arrested as he was entering the Spanish monastery. The monastery was recently closed by an imperial decree and its occupants were expelled and threatened with arrest if they returned to the country.

SHERIFF ARRESTED

ABERDEEN, S. D., Sept. 17.—Sheriff Perry of Corson county was arrested yesterday by T. E. Bronts, the United States Indian officer, on a charge of furnishing Indians on the Standing Rock reservation with intoxicating liquor, taking them before a mock court and having them "fined" for being drunk. Perry is in jail in default of $1000 bail.

THE NEW Y. M. C. A. BUILDING TO BE ERECTED ON THE HUNTINGTON HALL LOT

The contracts for the construction of the new Y. M. C. A. building on the Huntington Hall lot will be awarded some time next week, and it is expected that the work will be started immediately after the award of the contracts. The bids are now practically all in and the executive committee of the association will meet next week for the purpose of opening bids. The exact date of the meeting has not been decided upon.

EGYPT'S COTTON CROP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Egypt's cotton crop this year, it is estimated, will exceed 700,000,000 pounds, and Consul Birch at Alexandria reports that probably it will be the largest crop ever yielded by Egyptian fields. He declares that weather conditions both in the upper and lower Egypt have been favorable for the crop.

DEATHS

GUYTON—Miss Margaret T. Guyton, a domestic employed at 11 Fourth avenue, dropped dead at the residence of her employers last night. Her death came entirely unexpected, as she was apparently in fairly good health.

Dr. A. G. Dennett of Varnum avenue was hastily called and pronounced the death due to apoplexy. Medical Examiner McGeis was notified and the usual procedure in such cases was gone through.

Miss Guyton was 69 years old and her home was at 159 Mammoth road. She leaves one brother, Patrick H. Guyton of this city.

HUNTER—Winfield S. Hunter, aged 63, died suddenly at his home, 12 Cambridge street, yesterday morning. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of death.

Mr. Hunter and his wife were preparing to visit relatives in Springfield and deceased was walking down stairs when he fell unconscious and died soon after. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ellen J. Hunter, and four children, Mrs. Irene Long of Springfield, Mrs. Edith Moore of Athol, and Arthur and Frank Hunter of the west.

Mr. Hunter was an old soldier, having served in Company E of the 33d Massachusetts regiment.

WELCH—On Sept. 11, in Schenectady, N. Y., occurred the death of Mrs. Louise Welch, where she had made her home the past few months.

Mrs. Welch was the widow of the late Dr. Selim N. Welch, who was for many years the leading physician in Sutton, N. H. After his death, Mrs. Welch, who always took a deep interest in nursing and hospital work, removed to Concord, N. H., where for several years she was matron in the Woman's hospital of that city, later coming to Lowell, where she made her home in Osgood street.

DEMAIS—Mrs. Clement Dumais died yesterday at her home, 9 Jollette avenue, aged 21 years. She left her husband and a baby; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rainville; a brother, Thomas Rainville, Jr.; and two sisters, Mrs. Sophie Charbonneau of Montreal and Rev. Sister Marie De Sainte-Emilie of Notre-Dame convent, Halifax, N. S.

AMES—Mrs. Mildred Ames died last night at the City hospital. She was 38 years old. She leaves a husband, Albert H. Ames. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker G. W. Henley.

FUNERAL NOTICES

GUYTON—Miss Margaret T. Guyton, aged 69 years, an old and much respected resident of St. Patrick's parish, died last night at her home, No. 159 Mammoth road. She leaves one brother, Patrick H. Guyton. The funeral will take place Monday morning at 8 o'clock from the house and at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem will be sung at St. Patrick's church. Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

SHIELDS—The funeral of the late James Shields will take place Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from his late home, No. 156 Colburn street. Monday morning at 8 o'clock there will be a high mass of requiem for the eternal repose of his soul at St. Michael's church. Friends invited. Funeral in charge of undertaker James W. McKenna.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

FUNERALS

BRODERICK—The funeral of Mary Broderick took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the undertaking rooms of John E. Rogers, 445 Gorham street. Burial was in the Edison cemetery.

KANE—The remains of Thomas Kane were consigned to their final resting place in the Catholic cemetery this morning. The little boy, who was just beginning to be a comfort to his mother and a ray of sunshine to the home, will be greatly missed by the bereaved parent. The esteem in which the boy was held by all who knew him was evidenced by the large number of people who visited the house since his death and also the large attendance at the funeral this morning.

The funeral took place this morning at 8.30 o'clock from the home of his mother, 6 Griffin street, and proceeded to the Sacred Heart church where at 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. James T. McDermott, O. M. I. The choir rendered the Gregorian mass. At the offertory "Pie Jesu" was rendered by Mrs. Adelaide A. Muldoon and as the body was being borne from the church "De Profundis" was rendered by the sanctuary choir. The choir was under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide A. Muldoon and she also presided at the organ.

There was a profusion of beautiful and appropriate floral offerings, the following being the most prominent: large pillow of roses, carnations and asters with the inscription "Our Darling," from the mother and brother; spray of white asters from the grandma, Mrs. Bridget Kane; spray of pink and white asters with ribbon inscribed "Cousin," Gleason family; spray of white asters with white ribbon with the inscription "Cousin," Bert and Thos. Kane; spray of white asters with pink ribbon inscribed "At Rest," from the aunt, Miss Lizzie Angelo; spray of pink carnations from Aunt Miss Ella Angelo; mound of roses, asters and ferns with the inscription "Cousin," from O'Neil family; spray of white asters and maidenhair ferns, Mr. and Mrs. Cavanaugh; spray of white asters, Miss Minnie Connors; spray of pink asters, Mr. Fred Pidgeon; spray of chrysanthemums and maidenhair ferns from the Misses Gladys and Helen Freeman; spray of pink and white asters, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sharkey; spray of white asters from a friend. There were several other sprays from friends.

The casket was borne from the church to the hearse by the following bearers: John Kennedy, James Kennedy, Daniel Sullivan, Harold McKeon, William McMahon and Frederick Gleason.

The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's cemetery, burial being in the family lot where the last sad rites of the Catholic church were read at the grave by Rev. James T. McDermott, O. M. I. The funeral was largely attended and under the direction of undertakers Higgins Bros.

BACK HOME AGAIN

Dr. Martin Morris Revisiting Lowell

Dr. Martin Morris, a former Lowell boy, now one of the leading veterinary surgeons of the south, located at Savannah, Ga., is at home on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morris of Dracut Centre, and incidentally ally is renewing old acquaintances in Lowell. Dr. Morris has been away from Lowell for 20 years. After graduating from the Lowell High school he studied under Dr. Sherman of this city and at the University of New York, from which institution he graduated with honors. Upon receiving his degree he set forth to establish himself in a new and unknown field, and going to Savannah set up his shingle and started to do business. Being possessed of exceptional ability and a most genial personality, his success was practically instantaneous and he soon became one of the leading citizens of Savannah. In fact he has become so thoroughly southernized that he speaks with the delightful accent of the south and none would ever imagine that he received his first impressions of the English language in the vicinity of old River street, Dr. Morris is one of the leading Elks of Savannah. He will remain in this vicinity for the next two weeks.

DR. MARTIN MORRIS of Savannah

TO BUILD WARSHIPS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The call this morning states that Charles L. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, is to meet Prince Tsai Hsun, uncle of the emperor of China, in this city next week to "close a deal" for the building of a fleet of war vessels for China.

In support of his assertion that American shipyards are likely to be given the work of building the warships, the call quotes John A. McGreggor, president of the Union Iron works, as saying that he is informed that plans drawn by the Bethlehem Steel company have been favorably considered by the Chinese government.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Cyrille Chaffoux of this city and Miss Marie Anne Ducharme, formerly of this city, were married last Tuesday at St. Felix de Valois, P. Q., at a high mass celebrated by the pastor of the parish. Mr. and Mrs. Chaffoux will arrive in Lowell next Saturday.

IN POLICE COURT

War Veteran Lost His Money on Jeffries

Alvin C. Lovering, an old pensioner, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on two counts of illegally removing baggage from boarding houses in this city and admitted to the court that one of the reasons why he could not pay his bills was because he had bet all the money he had on Jeffries when the latter fought Johnson in Reno and because Jeffries failed to come back he lost his roll.

Elizabeth B. Ricard, who conducts a boarding house at 34 Webster street, said that Lovering and his wife boarded at her house and ran up a bill of about $75 and that they left her place on June 11th and took everything that belonged to them. Later they went to the boarding house at 42 Tyler street conducted by Annie Coleman and after running up a bill of $3 left that place. Lovering admitted that he was indebted to the two women and promised to liquidate his indebtedness if the court would give him a chance to do so. Judge Hadley placed the matter in the hands of the probation officer.

Stella Alberta Hunter of Dracut was found guilty of being a stubborn child and was sentenced to the women's prison at Sherborn.

Charles McGillan, a parole man from the state farm, will be returned to that institution. There was one drunken offender who was fined $2.

ENTERED A PROTEST

PARIS, Sept. 17.—The organizers of the Egyptian national congress today issued a public protest against the action of the French government in refusing to permit the meeting to be held here. They charge that the inhibition was at the request of Great Britain.

A semi-official explanation states that the attitude of the government was due to the anti-French campaign being preached by the Mussulmans in Algeria and Morocco.

GREAT MEETING

The National Council of the Congregational Churches

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—What prominent Congregationalists declare will be the most important gathering of members of their denomination ever held in this country will occur in this city next month when the national council of the Congregational churches of the United States will hold its fourteenth triennial session. From Oct. 10 to 20 the council and all kindred organizations will be in session in Tremont temple with overflow meetings in Park street church and the new Old South church and one mass meeting in Symphony hall. Practically all the national societies of the Congregational church will join in the convention. Fully five thousand delegates are expected to be in attendance.

A notable feature will be the observance of the centenary of the organization of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions. At this celebration congratulatory addresses will be made by representatives from more than fifty other religious denominations of the United States and Europe.

Annual meetings will be held by the Congregational Educational society, Congregational Home Mission society, American Missionary association, Congregational Church Building society, Congregational Sunday School and Publishing society, Congregational Board of Ministerial Relief, and the Congregational Brotherhood. At the opening meeting of the national council in Tremont temple Monday evening, Oct. 10, Governor Draper will welcome the delegates on behalf of the state, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald on behalf of the city and Rev. A. S. Conrad, pastor of the Park street church, on behalf of the churches of greater Boston. The response will be made by the moderator of the national council, Thomas C. MacMillan of Chicago. Elaborate arrangements have been made by the reception committee for the entertainment of the delegates.

KIDNAPPING CASE NORRIS IS ALIVE

Reported to Authorities in Providence

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 17.—There was a pathetic scene in the superior court yesterday, where presiding Justice Tanner heard a petition for a writ of habeas corpus brought by Katherine D. O'Rourke of Boston against William J. and Edith Porter of Warwick to recover Annie F. Connor, 14 years old, and restore her to her mother, Mrs. Annie Connor of Boston.

The child refused to recognize her mother, Mrs. Annie Connor, in the court room and tears were in the eyes of the latter as she left the building. When Mrs. Connor entered the court room she attempted to kiss her daughter, but was refused. When she left she tried to put her arms around the girl's shoulders, but was again shunned, the girl getting away.

Presiding Justice Tanner is holding the case under advisement. He has given Judge Lester T. Murphy, who represents the Porters, the opportunity to file a brief. B. E. Lyman appeared for the complainant.

The case is a strange one, involving the extraordinary actions on the part of the little girl who seems to have no love for her parents and prefers the Porters. Mrs. Porter is strikingly handsome. She has no children of her own. The complainant, Katherine D. O'Rourke, is the agent of the society for the prevention of cruelty to children in Boston. She told the court how the little Connor girl had run away from her home on previous occasions when the Porters lived in Boston and had gone to live with them. Some time ago criminal proceedings were taken against the Porters by the Suffolk county grand jury and a secret indictment was returned, charging them with kidnapping. This indictment, it is understood, is still pending. It is also understood that arrangements had been made to drop the case on the return of the girl.

Finds His Name in List of Dead

HAVERHILL, Sept. 17.—Lyman Norris of Portland, Me., who closely resembles Speaker "Joe" Cannon, came to this city yesterday to find out for himself that the soldiers' monument at Monument square, which was erected in 1885, says he is dead. Norris was "discovered" in Portland by Albert Stowell when the latter returned to the Maine city after a few days' visit here. Stowell knew Norris, but he didn't know that he was dead. He learned it when he came to Haverhill. Stowell spent some days in this city renewing old acquaintances. He knew that his friend Norris lived here during war times and so he went about to look up some facts. The first thing he ran into was Norris' name chiseled on the monument among the list of dead heroes. Stowell went back to Portland and tried to convince Norris that he (Norris) was dead. Norris said: "No I'm not," and he proceeded to convince his comrades that he was very much alive.

It seems that Norris and his brother Albert, whose name is also on the monument, enlisted from Haverhill in Co. I, Mass. heavy artillery. After the war Lyman came back here and worked in several shoe factories. He only remained a short time and no one seemed to know just where he went.

Norris on his visit here was unable to find any well-known landmarks. SAVE TIME AND MUSCLE Goodale's Wash Clean Will do it. We have customers who have used it for years and say it does not let the clothes and save 99 per cent. of the labor on wash day. GOODALE'S DRUG STORE, 317 CENTRAL STREET

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 17.—The last day of the Grand Circuit races at the New York state fair grounds brought out a big crowd and developed some good racing.

The 2.15 pace had four starters. The first heat proved easy for Sarah Ann Patch. There was a good fight for place. Direct Adair capturing it, Charles being third and Oakland Son fourth.

The second and final heat also went to Sarah Ann Patch. Although she held the field only by a length to the stretch, she drew away as she pleased, leaving the wire. Oakland Son captured the place, with Direct Adair third.

In the first heat of the 2.11 trot Melva J. led around to the far turn; then there was a great race down the stretch. Bervado challenged Melva J. and then up came Justo with a rush. Melva J. was first in the rush for the wire until the final moment, when Justo, by a magnificent spurt, passed her. Bervado was third.

The second heat was a hot one. Justo led all the way to the stretch and in the race to the wire Melva J. Bervado and Startle took after him. The finish was so close that it left the spectators in doubt as to all of the first four horses except Startle, who won. The judges gave second place to Melva J. third to Bervado and fourth to Justo.

Justo and Startle proceeded in the third heat to give one of the real sensations of the entire meet. After Startle had led to the stretch, with Justo a length back, McDonald challenged. The finish had the crowd yelling, while many asked if it were not a dead heat. But Startle had it by a fraction.

Locust Boy took the 2.11 pace, although dropping the second heat to Dr. Fox. Peter Dorsey won the 2.15 trot in straight heats. The summary:

TOUR OF IRELAND

Mgr. O'Callaghan Talks of His Trip

Monsignor O'Callaghan of St. Augustine church, South Boston, arrived from Ireland the other day on the Mauretania. Speaking of the conditions in Ireland he said:

"I had a most delightful trip, although, of course, I am very, very glad to be back home once more," said Mgr. O'Callaghan.

"I noted great betterment of conditions in Ireland, for there has been tremendous progress in recent years. The young men of Ireland should be proud of their race, for it is a race that is always progressing, never retrogressing."

"A man who is doing much for the Irish party and who is responsible in a large measure for the prosperity of Ireland is John Redmond. When his name was mentioned at a meeting I attended, and at which I spoke, it was greeted with prolonged cheering."

"As I said at the time, you have voices, and gentlemen, you have stated the fact. It is the great Irish parliamentary party. The tree is known by its fruit, and it is because the party has given you all of these things of which I have spoken that some would suggest that you should expel them from the house of commons."

"Do you want those representatives of Ireland, those stalwart men of Ireland, to be as carpets on the floor without a voice, or disqualified by you from using in your behalf the voice that God has given them?"

"There were loud cries of 'no, no,' to this, and then I advised them to stick by their representatives."

WOMAN FLYER

WAS IN A SMASHUP AT MINNEOLA, L. I.

MINNEOLA, L. I., Sept. 17.—Mrs. Ralsche, wife of the head of an airplane company, had the distinction yesterday to figure in the first airplane smashup engineered by a woman, at the aviation grounds here, and possibly in the country. Mrs. Ralsche came out on the field yesterday morning for her initial try, which, with beginners, consists of what is known as "grass cutting," or skimming the field.

She had gone perhaps a mile, when suddenly she ran into a depression and came to grief in approved fashion. The nose of the machine was jammed into the ground, smashing the forward control. Mrs. Ralsche was thrown out, the machine falling on top of her.

She scrambled out from under the wreck and ran, limping somewhat, to shut off her motor, which was still running at full speed. The machine was damaged.

LOSS IS $4000

FIRE CAUSED BY RATS AND MATCHES

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 17.—A fire which may have been caused by rats igniting matches, broke out in the Sacred Heart parochial school on Everett street shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The building was damaged to the extent of about $4000. The flames started in a pile of books and school utensils stored in a small closet on the fourth floor, which is one of the high school rooms.

When the fire department arrived the flames were eating their way rapidly through the ceiling of the adjoining room, rendering it necessary to cut three large holes in the roof, through which three streams of water were thrown on the fire.

The other rooms in the building were flooded with water before the fire was under control.

Two workmen who were in the building when the blaze started rang in an alarm and escaped without injury.

Assisted by several sisters of the Sacred Heart church, Rev. Thomas Smyth, the pastor, removed many of the desks, thereby preventing them from being damaged by water. The loss

OUR GRAMMAR SCHOOLS

BARTLETT SCHOOL

Its History and Sketch of Its Principal

The Bartlett school, which on account of its comparatively short career is still referred to as the "New" Bartlett to distinguish it from the famous old school building of that name on Clark street, is under way again with a full complement of teachers and is one of the most interesting institutions of its kind in the state.

Aside from being a grammar school and a part of the local school system, it is also a practice school for the state normal school and is run under the supervision of the state board of education though in such a manner as not to conflict with any of the requirements of the local system.

The first responsibility of the school is for the pupils and hence they are taught by regularly elected teachers of the local force. But the teachers of the Bartlett after being named by the local school board are also elected by the state board of education and receive an additional salary from the state which divides the expense of the school with the city. There are now 17 teachers at the Bartlett school. The building is but a few years old. It cost $100,000 and has been pronounced by the experts both architectural and educational as a model school building. Its use to the state normal school is to furnish a place where young women studying to become teachers may have an opportunity to combine practice with theory and get practical experience under supervision of the regular teachers in teaching children. The results have shown that the practice teacher profits by the experience while the regular pupils get as much and as careful attention as the pupil of any other school in the city.

The new Bartlett has had but two principals, Cyrus Durgin, now in charge of the State Normal school, and the present principal, Mr. Herbert D. Bixby, who is conducting the school with marked success. Mr. Bixby is a native of this city. He was educated in the Green school and the High school of this city, after which he attended Tufts college, receiving his A. B. from that institution after a four years' course. He also attended the local state normal school receiving a diploma therefrom. Finishing his studies he went west and for four years was in Colorado, New Mexico and California where, when not teaching school, he held positions of trust with the Santa Fe railroad and the Colorado Telephone company. Returning east he immediately secured a position as principal of a school in Norwood, Mass., where he taught until his election as principal of the Bartlett school. Mr. Bixby resides in Gibson street.

Other teachers in the Bartlett school are Belle A. Prescott, grade 9; Charlotte M. Murkland and Blanche A. Cheney, grade 8; Amy L. Tucker and Frances Clark, grade 7; Belle F. Batheholder and Mary E. Walsh, grade 6; Maria V. Roberts and Katherine F. Parley, grade 5; Alice D. Sunbury and Caroline H.

In the old days the pupils of the Bartlett and Edison schools were the envy of the pupils of all other schools because each had a common for a playground and the rivalry between the two was intense.

and yet inside of one year he had paid for the original outlay and had $10,000 for the fun of spending it. That is theatrical business; the successful end of it. It might be different.

"THE MERRY WIDOW"

"The Merry Widow," Henry W. Savage's production, will be the attraction at the Opera House on Wednesday, Sept. 21, matinee and night. This is part of the brilliant organization concerned in the remarkable runs in New York, Boston and Chicago, where all records in these three metropolitan cities for attendance and receipts were broken. All players know the success scored by Lehar's alluring operetta was phenomenal in the extreme and that the other cities have endorsed the verdict of the three mentioned above, goes without saying. Therefore, at this day little need be said in reference to the story or the many special features of this remarkable work. It is enough to recall that not only has this country welcomed "The Merry Widow" with unparalleled enthusiasm, but that a similar verdict has been rendered by more than three hundred cities of the old world. Even far off Japan and remote South Africa have fallen under the spell. In addition to the complete roster of principals, choruses, etc., the forthcoming presentation will have the advantage of an orchestra salvaged from Mr. Savage's English Grand Opera company. This body of instrumentalists will be supplemented by the original Hungarian orchestra whose appearance in the colorful Maroccan scene and again in the lively supper scene at Maxim's, playing native instruments, attract much attention. Among the players to be seen during the local engagement are George Dumerel, Arthur Wooley, Harry Burgess, Harry Russell, Gertrude Hutcherson, Mabel Arzella, Ada St. Albans and Lillian Gransell. The chorus is exceptionally large and beautifully costumed, and the brilliant scenes in each act, among the prettiest stage pictures we have.

GERTRUDE HUTCHERSON as Sonia in "The Merry Widow"

"THE MAN FROM HOME"

It is the usual thing to refer to a play that has achieved any sort of encouragement in these days, as a "stupendous success," and this may or may not be true, according to the degree in license adopted by the management. Yet all plays cannot be successes, and a famous manager has stated openly that if he can produce two successes out of five attempts at production, he is perfectly satisfied. It has also been stated that a play is the most complicated bit of mechanism in the world today, and those who incline to psychological speculation are fully aware that a half dozen facts must fall in line before a play can become a success. More than $2,000,000 persons have witnessed the production of "The Man From Home," which ran 342 consecutive performances in Chicago, 70 weeks in New York, and only recently broke the Boston record by remaining at the Park theatre for 27 weeks, will be presented at the Lowell Opera House, for three nights beginning Thursday evening with the original cast headed by William Hodge. The great spirit of true Americanism pervades it like a western breeze; the feeling that makes every man, woman and child that witnesses it, glad on coming out of the theatre that he or she is an American with the great big heritage of freedom and ability to draw upon it. It is this quality that stands out like a star against the dull background of European facts and environment, and is made all the more prominent by virtue of contrast. The homely American humor is twice as effective when thrown against the blank of foreign idiom, and the play wins its greatest appeal on this ground alone. From the moment the curtain rises, the America that is known and loved stands forth to do battle for the right.

The unusually heavy demand for seats in advance is a surface indication that the seating capacity of Opera House will be put to its test during the engagement of William Hodge, Sept. 22, 23 and 24.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Burkhardt-Kelly & Co. are making a very big hit at the Academy in their sketch "Alaska or Bust!" In the first place they are excellent actors, and while the finish of the play is a novel one, which takes you completely by surprise, McKee & Burrows give a fine exhibition of marksmanship, and the pretty dancing and singing of the Harrington sisters gives the finishing touch to a fine bill. There are also new moving pictures including a biograph. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

SCENIC THEATRE

It is of large interest to Lowell theatre goers that the new Scenic theatre in Paige street, which has been under construction for several weeks, is to throw open its doors for the first time Monday afternoon.

The bill for the opening week, too, is one which will appeal to discriminating theatre goers. The Victoria Hindoo troupe will present some unusual novelties in the mysterious and the occult in an act remarkable for its setting. Lafaye and Toohy will furnish plenty of genuine bright, clean fun in a character sketch of songs and monologues, and Dan Carney, who is a pianologist, has something new and entertaining.

The Scenic Theatre company, a feature which is a new departure for Lowell, will present the complete one-act drama matic play entitled "Capt. Bob's Escape," a story of the Civil War by Geo. D. Mackey. Mr. Mackey is Captain Bob; Miss Bessie Overton, Virginia Jones and F. L. Sutton, Colonel Allen. Moving pictures and illustrated songs, new and up to date, are on the bill, with Fred Pearson, the well known baritone, to sing the songs.

Admission is 10 cents. A few reserved seats may be obtained for 25 cents, including the price of admission. A continuous performance will be presented daily from 1 p. m. until 10:30 p. m.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The biggest salary ever paid to a vaudeville act appearing in Lowell will be paid next week, for the stellar feature of the show. The recipients will be Master Gabriel & Co., who present Al LaMar's playlet, "Little Tommy Tucker." Master Gabriel is justly famous all over the United States as the most remarkably talented little actor on the stage. He is the original Buster Brown in the comedy of that name, and also the original Little Nemo of the fascinating spectacular production. The act commands one of the highest salaries paid in vaudeville, and its appearance in this city is an unusually important theatrical event. The Bounding Gordons are some of the acrobats who are recognized as the best in the world. They carry a gorgeous stage setting, and the act is replete with the most reckless and bizarre of feats. It has been phenomenally successful throughout this country and Europe. The Terry Twins, a duo of English comedians, are marvelous in their resemblance to each other, and so exactly alike do they look that it is said that they themselves frequently have difficulty in determining which is which. They have a jolly act, including songs, dances and jokes, and close with a burlesque exhibition of boxing which is acrobatically funny. A versatile and clever entertainer is George F. Hall, "The Yankee Story-teller," late star of "The American Girl," and "A Ragged Hero." This is his first time in America since his tour of the English music halls. In addition to his songs and jovial jesting, he exhibits his unusual "electric" power in one or two recitations, his rendition of Kipling's "Gunga Din," being classic in its style. Rita Redfield is a dainty little woman, possessed of great talent as an impersonator. As a swagger little college boy, a sleepy little girl in pajamas going to bed, and a little boy who is in despair because everyone considers him "a black sheep," she is equally clever, and every woman in the audiences will go wild over her cuteness. The Kenney Brothers, a comedy team with an irresistible tendency toward odd pranks, are guaranteed to make a hundred laughs grow where one was before. Emilie Lee and Lucifers present a novelty dancing act, called, "The Parisian Bell," a unique and up-to-date Terephorean offering that will be appreciated. A series of first-class moving pictures will be shown.

STAR THEATRE

Three big high class vaudeville acts, four reels of the latest motion pictures and two beautifully illustrated songs will constitute an unusually fine program, for Lowell theatregoers Monday at the Star theatre, which recently opened under new management.

Mr. Alexander, the new proprietor, is one of the pioneer showmen and the theatre going public of this city will reap the benefit of his long experience. He will strive to give a big show for a small price. Already he has made many changes at the theatre. The interior is most attractive. It is well ventilated and thoroughly clean. The program is also clean and wholesome as Mr. Alexander is making special efforts to please the many women and children who visit the theatre. The pictures are changed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, while a new and expensive bill of vaudeville is produced every Monday and Thursday. The illustrated songs are rendered by different singers and are always the latest.

The show is adjudged the best in Lowell for five and ten cents, which includes a seat.

THEATRE VOYONS

"The Appeal of the Prairie" is very strong dramatically and calls for the highest type of acting and magnificent staging. The story is that of an Indian brave, college educated, who tries to make his way in the business world of the white man. Unfortunately he falls in love with a white girl and the result is that he goes back to his tribe disheartened and with an increased hate of his white brothers. There is a pleasing sentimental drama acted by the Vitaphone company, a laughable comedy and a very beautiful travel picture also on the bill. Sunday the usual concert of exclusive pictures will be given.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

A very clever company of players presented one of Clyde Fitch's pieces, "The City," at the Lowell opera house last night before a good sized audience. The play is very well staged and the audience came away loud in their praise of the settings. Each player in the company is an artist and the several strong climaxes in the play were loudly applauded.

Sam C. Hardy who took the part of the younger Rand was very clever. "Hannock," the dope fiend, was ably portrayed by Edwin Caldwell. M. B. Snyder and his wife were very effective as the elder Rands, and Miss Jane Allen as "Cecily" won applause. Miss Jessie Scott as "Terese Rand," and Estelle Worth as "Eleanor Voorhees," meet the requirements well. Edgar Lewis plays "Voorhees in a natural manner, and praise is due Wallace Wildecome for an admirable bit of character work as "Van Vranken." There is well staged, and if not lacking also than the opportunity to get a glimpse of another side of Clyde Fitch's genius. It is well worth the seeing. A matinee and evening performance will be given today.

PRESIDENT TAFT DISCOURAGED BY POLITICAL SMASHUP

President Taft, it appears, is seriously discouraged at the political outlook of the present hour. He has changed front in regard to the insurgents. He now states that during the last stages of congress he felt it his duty to withhold patronage from certain senators and congressmen. On that point he has changed his mind, and he now feels that it is his duty to treat all alike, whether they are insurgents or stand-patters.

It is reported on what seems to be reliable authority that President Taft is seriously considering whether he should withdraw from the contest for the presidency in 1912. He feels that ex-President Roosevelt is seeking the nomination, and he has decided that if this be so he will not in the slightest degree oppose the nomination of the ex-president. He will simply treat his campaign with silent contempt.

Whether President Taft be sincere in this declaration or not, it is likely to draw from Colonel Roosevelt some statement as to whether he is a candidate for the nomination for president.

He has not as yet made any declaration on that point, although his speeches and the general trend of his conduct since his arrival from Africa would justify the conclusion that he means to be a candidate in 1912.

The country is turning very seriously against Roosevelt, and the republican party holds him responsible for the present state of demoralization and the reverses with which it is threatened.

If Taft should retire from the field the contest would come between Colonel Roosevelt and some democratic candidate. In that case we believe the democrat would be triumphantly elected. The republican party after being smashed into fragments by Roosevelt is not likely to turn around and elect him.

In every way the situation can be viewed, the outlook is favorable to the democratic party if it exercises good judgment in the selection of candidates.

THE DEMOCRATIC OPPORTUNITY

The democratic party in some of the eastern states has shown excellent judgment in the selection of candidates. Maine led off with the nomination of Plaiside; Connecticut nominated a good man in Baldwin, and now New Jersey nominates for governor President Goodrow Wilson of Princeton university.

Prof. Wilson is one of the most eminent men who could be selected, and his nomination reflects great credit upon the good judgment of the democratic party in New Jersey.

The democrats of Ohio in electing Harmon have set an example worthy emulation by other states. Harmon may be the next democratic candidate for president.

The state of Massachusetts should follow the example of the states mentioned in choosing an eminently strong and fit candidate for governor. That is the only way to score a sweeping victory on election day. The victory that has been won in Maine can be duplicated in Massachusetts, in Connecticut, in New Jersey and in Ohio by the simple method of nominating the right men and then fighting vigorously for their election.

EXAMPLE TO BE EMULATED

The city of Springfield benefits by the will of one of its prominent residents, a Miss Lombard, member of a family that has already done much to help the city. Miss Lombard bequeathed $100,000 to the Springfield hospital, and an equal amount to the Springfield Home for Aged People.

It is well to encourage among the possessors of large fortunes the custom of bequeathing to them amounts that will put them upon a solid financial basis. Money so used goes to benefit humanity, whereas to bequeath a large fortune to a young man or woman is one of the worst things that can be done. It leads to excess, to reckless living and removes the necessity to work, which is often a blessing in disguise. The example set by the late Miss Lombard of Springfield is worthy of emulation.

We might suggest also that any person in possession of a large fortune with no needy heirs anxiously awaiting it, might imitate the very generous and philanthropic act of Freeman B. Shedd who did not wait to cross the Styx before he gave to Lowell what will be one of the best parks in the country.

NEW AEROPLANE DEVICE

It has remained for an Italian, one Ferdinando Bernasconi, to invent a flying machine that cannot fall. That is the kind nobody will be afraid of. It is apparently lighter than air, and in one of its early trials it was dropped from a height of one thousand meters and floated twelve miles before it reached the ground. If the aeroplanes can provide some safety device of this kind their popularity will be greatly increased.

As a result of the Boston aviation meet, it is likely that the tendency will be towards monoplanes and biplanes. The triplane sold to the Harvard Aeronautical society by an English inventor proved an utter failure. It was trundled out but twice during the meet, and on the second occasion was smashed to pieces in a feeble attempt to fly. The Harvard Aeronautical society evidently knew but little of aeroplanes when it purchased the triplane.

ROBBING THE GOVERNMENT

A clerk in the sub-treasury at Chicago has been arrested on the charge of stealing $173,000. We may next hear of some government official starting a mint for his own private benefit. When the inmates of a state prison start coining money, the crooks who are at large must feel that they are not making the most of their opportunities. Where are all the sleuths that look out for Uncle Sam's interests?

We are not satisfied with the estimate of our population given out by the census bureau. There must be a mistake this time as last. The count should be at least 5000 more than estimated. Perhaps the final figures will do us justice.

The inspector is married, so he fled from temptation. (Boston Journal.)

"Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines" was a popular song thirty-five years ago. It was first sung in this country by William Horace Lingard. This Mr. Lingard, whose right name was William Thomas, was an Englishman, and had much success in the music halls of his own country as a comic vocalist and mimic. He made his first appearance in America at the Theatre Comique in New York on April 6, 1868. The following day the newspapers devoted much space in praise of his art and the catchy "airs" of his songs were everywhere whistled on streets.

This popularity was long and successful. He gave impersonations of men of the day (one of them being Gen. Benjamin F. Butler), and he sang popular songs in costume. The first song he sang in this country was "The Boat on the Beach at Brighton." Then followed "On the Beach at Brighton," "At Brighton," "Walking Down Broadway," and "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines." During his engagement the first songs were written by others, but "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines" was always retained in his repertoire. Mr. Lingard was also a capable legitimate actor, as he demonstrated when his wife, Alice Dunning Lingard, and her sister, Dickey Lingard, came to America a few months later. Mrs. Lingard, who was a vocalist and actress, appeared with her husband in farces, and in 1869 Mr. Lingard became manager of the Theatre Comique in Boston and produced the burlesque of "Pinto." For a time he was on the road with a play called "The Tutor," which had previously

There is a Right as Well as a Wrong Way to Do It.

The important thing to observe in washing the hair is to avoid using a soap or shampoo containing an excess of alkali. You must have some knowledge of chemistry before you can tell the difference between good soap and harmful soap. The safest plan is to clean your hair and scalp with Birt's Head Wash, which is broadly guaranteed to be neutral and to have no free alkali in it. Moreover, it is mildly medicated with glycerine, salicylic acid, white of eggs and coconut oil. Every one of these things are helpful to the scalp and hair, and by using Birt's Head Wash frequently, the loss of hair is stopped, dandruff disappears and itching ceases. All dirt, dust and disease germs are cleared away, the remaining hair roots are opened up, and renewed life and vigor given to the hair. Try Birt's Head Wash and experience the supreme delight of a perfectly clean scalp.

SAILING AT DAWN
One by one the pale stars die before the day now,
One by one the great ships are stirring from their sleep,
Cables all are humming, anchors all are heaving now,
Now the fleet's a fleet again, gliding toward the deep.

Now the fleet's a fleet again, bound upon the old ways,
Splendor of the past comes shining in the spray,
Admirals of old time, bring us on the bold ways!
Souls of all the seadogs lead the line to-day!

Far away behind town and tower are dwindling,
Home becomes a fair dream faded infinitely glorious the height of heaven is kindling,
Infinitely desolate the shoreless sea below.

Now the fleet's a fleet again, bound upon the old ways,
Splendor of the past comes shining in the spray,
Admirals of old time, bring us on the bold ways!
Souls of all the seadogs lead the line to-day!

Once again with proud hearts we make the old surrender,
Once again with high hearts serve the sea to be,
Not for us the warm life of Earth secure and tender,
Ours is the life of wandering and warfare of the sea.

Now the fleet's a fleet again, bound upon the old ways,
Splendor of the past comes shining in the spray,
Admirals of old time, bring us on the bold ways!
Souls of all the seadogs lead the line to-day!

CHANTICLEER'S SALUTE TO THE SUN

Thou who driest the tears of tiniest grasses,
Who unkest a dead flower a butterfly living,
When, stripping off their leaves like leaves of Fate, one sees
Beneath the wind of the Pyrenees Roussillon's almonds fluttering.

I worship thee, O Sun! O thou whose aureole
To hallow each forehead, mellow each honeycomb,
Like mother's love divides and yet remains a whole,
Entering every flower-soul
And into every cottage home.

I sing thee, and thou mayst my ministry ordain,
Who visitest the tub where dawns blue soap, blue sky,
And many and many a time chooses, when thou dost bathe,
To wash a humble window-pane
To launch therefrom thy last goodbye.

Thou bidst the sunflowers turn within the rectory,
Upon the steepie bidst my golden brother shine,
And when among the limes thou steal'st with mystery,
Bidst dance on earth such tracery,
One dare not walk, it is so fine.

To enamel thou changest the pitcher's glaze instead,
When drying a dish-cloth a flag thou dost unfold,
Sir Hayrick, thanks to thee, has gold to hood his head,
His little sister, Elve, has spread her riding-hood about with gold!

Praise to thee on the fields! Praise to thee in the vine!
Against the castle-gate, among the grass, all hail!
Upon the wings of swans, and in the lizard's eye!
O thou who draw'st the grand outline,
And fillest in each small detail.

'Tis thou who dost detach the twin mysterious sun
That slumbers and stretches below what's glittering;
To double all that charms thine is the art, O Sun,
A shadow giving everyone
Often more charming than the thing.

I worship thee, O Sun, that hidest mid-

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Former Lieutenant Governor John C. McKinley of Missouri, has filed his declaration as a candidate for the United States senate on the republican ticket to succeed Senator Warner.

Mrs. Gertrude Newhall of Lynn, presently identified with women's clubs of that city, is to make a trip around the world and will start next week. She expects to reach Japan in time to enjoy the chrysanthemum season and will linger for a while there.

Paul Bourget, once the busy novelist, seems now, and in his fifties, committed to the drama. Last year, in Paris, one of the theatres acted his play of capital and labor, "The Barriade," a year before Guilty tried his "Emigre," and before that and for the beginning of his notes as a playwright, "Divorce." Now, for the new season, the vaudeville is announcing, "Le Tribunal" comedy in four acts by M. Paul Bourget.

An oil portrait of Byron B. Johnson, the first mayor of Waltham, was presented to the city at a meeting of the board of aldermen. The donors were Mrs. B. B. Johnson and her son, Melvin B. Johnson. The presentation was made by the latter and the acceptance was by Mayor Edward A. Walker. Miss Dorothy Johnson, a granddaughter of Mayor Johnson, unveiled the gift. The portrait is hung in the council chamber.

Mischa Elman, the violinist, who has reached the age for service in the Russian army, has been excused from such duty, "on artistic grounds," by the minister of war, Mr. Kreiser, in Austria and Mr. Martens in France were not so fortunate in their time.

Rodin's busts of Thomas F. Ryan and the late E. H. Harriman are to be on exhibition for several weeks at the Metropolitan museum in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. C. Russell of Springfield have recently returned from Iceland, where they spent three months touring the northern part of the island, getting material and pictures for Mr. Russell's lecture course. They began their tour from Leith, Scotland, and sailed to Akureyri, Iceland, after entering four of the fjords on the eastern and northern part of the island. After landing at Akureyri they went east on a four days' horseback journey to Krafla volcano which marks the volcanic action in the north, as Hecla does in the south of the island. On July 15 they made the final ascent of the volcano and while at the very top took several photographs of the Arctic club flag which they had placed there. They also explored several craters and examined Viti, a part of the volcano. From there they went westward toward Oxandale pass, between the glaciers, descending to the fertile valleys of the Vatterdale, the great sage region of the north, and thence continuing on their journey south to the western desert of the island to the glaciers, and also visited the Surtehellir cave, the greatest volcano cave in the world. Leaving this section, Mr. and Mrs. Russell traveled toward the southwest to Reykhol and climbed the mountain pass and ascended to Thingvellir, whence they journeyed to Reykjavik, returning to Copenhagen by way of the Westman and Faroe Islands. After landing at Copenhagen they went to Stockholm to attend the international geological congress. The greater part of the trip was made on horseback.

Sterling P. Bond of St. Louis has declared his candidacy for the democratic nomination to succeed United States Senator Warner of Missouri.

SHE USED KEROSENE IN MAKING A FIRE

PITTSFIELD, Sept. 17.—Mrs. Herman Lang, more than 80 years old, after lying for seven hours with probably fatal burns in her house in Pontiac, was late yesterday afternoon carried to a hospital.

Mrs. Lang used kerosene yesterday morning in starting the fire. An explosion took place and her cotton garments were covered with burning oil, which consumed the clothing on her body, leaving her head, body and arms and legs a mass of burns.

Charles Knowles, a neighbor, went to the Lang place yesterday afternoon, when he heard groans. He found the woman on a bunk, so burned that she could not speak. Mr. Knowles drove his automobile to Hingham and took Dr. George E. Reynolds to the Lang house. The burns were so serious that the surgeon ordered Mrs. Lang taken to the hospital; but her aged husband objected, the men say, and because of a vigorous dog in the house the men did not take Mrs. Lang away, but

Chief of Police White and officers were sent for, and late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Lang was sent to the hospital.

Lang was formerly a mill operative in Russell mills, where he lost an arm in the machinery.

MURDER CHARGE

Ferranto Indicted by Grand Jury

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 17.—The grand jury of the superior court reported yesterday afternoon and Col. W. C. Eaton, the county attorney, made public a part of the 70 indictments.

Santo Ferranto is indicted on a charge of murder. He is alleged to have struck in the back an Italian named Valandino with whom he had a dispute over a balance of $3 due to him. Elizabeth M. Olty was indicted for abandoning her infant child with the intent that it should perish. She admitted she left it on the rocks at Torrington point, Peaks island.

Thomas Van Sant Warner was indicted for breaking and entering the office of a dentist. Patrolman Timothy Murphy was concealed in the office and says he saw Warner make up a package of gold.

Zed Propriet of Boston was indicted on the charge of assaulting William Hollis of Portland with intent to kill. It is alleged that he fired twice at him at close range, but without effect.

William B. Sullivan was indicted for aiding a girl to escape from her guardian.

Other indictments were: Robert A. Stanley, William F. Conway, Merchant Camille, Peter McCarthy and Joseph Curran, breaking, entering and larceny; Patrick F. McLaughlin, James H. O'Neill and Michael H. Skerrill, breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny; William H. Donohue, cheating by false pretences; Robert F. Curran, forgery; Arthur G. Hamilton, receiving stolen goods; P. K. Dodd and Frank E. Moxey, larceny; Ella P. Perry and Lillian Parks, maintaining a disorderly house; Alfred L. Leighton, assault and battery. No indictments against liquor dealers were made public.

The New Two Story Hats from Paris

THE EVOLUTION OF THE CAP HAT

THE fashions of today are for the most part the vogues of other days worked over by Parisian couturiers. Especially is this the case with the eccentric two story millinery that is being sent to us from the French capital. It includes a hat, generally a large shape, worn over a cap of lace. This style is a revival of the headwear that flourished for a short time in the eighteenth century. Queen Caroline of England is said to have introduced the mode, and the old print reproduced among the illustrations shows this queen arrayed in a cap and hat of the sort. The fashion obtains still in some parts of Holland, where countrywomen impersonate their hair in golden carques covered with fine, sometimes very costly, lace, with hats over them. I hardly think American women will take up with enthusiasm the cap and hat idea, but a dainty frill of lace is very fetching hanging from the inside of a big picture hat. And there is, too, an undeniable charm about the turban-like cap of silver lace ornamented with tiny rosebuds that is the first story of one of the hats seen in the cuts. Then who knows but what these double deckers will be taken up by the matinee girl? There is every reason to think that they will be. Not only lace, but fringe, is used for the hat "valance" and tulle as well as lace for the cap turban.

But there is nothing frilly about the fall and winter frocks. The edict has gone forth that they are to be straight up and down—in other words, to be fashionable one must have the figure of a sylph. Every woman must know the silhouette of the season when planning her frocks; otherwise she will be out of the style, an awful calamity for the American mondaine even to contemplate.

Last fall the tailored suit had a long coat. This year the short coat leads. Twenty-four inches is the approved length, but the twenty-six and twenty-eight inch lengths, it is predicted, will be the most popular. Many of the newest models suggest the box coat models of several seasons past. A band of deep black satin at the bottom of the coat, beginning at the sides of the front, is a familiar trimming. When this trimming is used the skirt usually displays a like adornment. The long separate coat is a favorite of winter fashion and a very necessary wrap to own when one's walking coat is of a short length. For some unknown reason, as the skirts are narrow, designers have given great fullness to the skirts of the long separate coat, some of them being draped about the figure in classic folds.

A stunning costume made abroad for Mrs. Vanderbilt is of dark green panne cloth. It has a close cut, short skirt adorned with a deep band in black braided soutache. The hip length coat is collarless and cut rather high at the neck, and the same braided trimming is used in a narrow design down the front of the coat that widens out about the edge of the skirt. And in connection with coats I would say that sleeves are long and tight fitting save at the wrist, where many of them widen out a trifle. They are put into the armholes perfectly plain. Dressy coats have three-quarter sleeves with elaborate cuffs.

The skirt with a foot band will be good style throughout the winter, and where plaits appear in the new skirts they are banded in light to the figure to give the straight up and down effect. Gored skirts of slim silhouettes are smart; also the skirt with flat box pleats back and front, with straight banded in gored at the sides. Sometimes below this band there is a killed flounce.

The excuse for plain costumes is easily to be found in the beautiful materials which the fall season has brought to light. It would be painting the lily to crown these fabrics with trimmings. For tailor made suits there is a choice of two classes of fabrics—those of a smooth surfaced finish and those of rough although rather silky texture. Broken diagonal effects have taken the place of decided checks and stripes, but chevrons with a boucle raised effect that is almost invisible are much liked. In rough finished worsteds zibeline in basket weave is meeting with favor in Paris, and corduroy is promised a certain popularity. As usual, Theodora cloth, broadcloth, panne cloth and satin are the leading dressy materials.

As to the colors of fall suits, black is first favorite, with gray in many varieties of tone and the varying shades of purple, prune and mauve. A royal and a very dark shade of blue known as corbeau is well liked, and as accessory colors many shades of yellow, ranging from maize to beige, are modish in connection with black and brown. Vivid tones used as accessory colors are the height of style in gowns. These daring splashes of color were the inspiration several seasons ago of Paul Potrot, a Parisian dressmaker, but it is only recently that his brother artists have acknowledged his success by following in his wake. The gold note is prominent in the new fashions, and it often takes the guise of cloth of gold displaying a shadowy Persian design. As I have said before, the smart gowns of the season are but little trimmed. Tiny wooden beads are among the more unusual ornamentations, and handsome plain braid trims and binds many of the smartest tailored coats and skirts, but it is sparingly used. Buttons on tailored costumes are of self material, bone or braid, and there is a new glazed wooden button that is very attractive.

REAL PRICE OF MEATS.

An authority on domestic matters calls the attention of housekeepers to the real and apparent price of meats, which is seldom considered when marketing. The apparent price of chicken, for instance, may be 20 cents a pound, but its real price will be 50 cents when the weight of the head, crop and claws, entrails and bones is taken into account. It is more economical to pay 15 cents for a cut of solid meat than 18 cents for one that contains nearly half its weight in shew, fat and bone.

The Polite Way to Eat Corn

YOU probably love corn on the cob, but you refuse it when you are at table because you make such an exhibition of yourself while getting the pearly grains from their cob. Is it not so, my lady? One woman goes the length of saying that only in the privacy of one's own room should corn be eaten from the cob. This is going a trifle too far, and the same woman, if she but knew, could enjoy the succulent ear and still retain her table manners if she had in her possession a pair of the new corn stabs or forks. This invention of a clever brain consists of two silver or plated affairs several inches long, representing a miniature ear of corn with a "stab" not unlike an ice pick at the end. The real ear of corn is stabbed at the two

HOW to preserve a youthful appearance is a subject which never fails to interest women, for one and all recognize the truth of the remark made by a celebrated Frenchman, the Duc de Rochefoucauld, "It is valueless to a woman to be young unless she be pretty or to be pretty unless she be young."

All women crave for youth, and no one more than the pretty woman, the woman who has been used to admiration and attention and who, as she notices her first wrinkle, her first gray hair, feels that her kingdom is slipping away from her and that her powers of attraction are rapidly on the wane.

The first gray hair or the first wrinkle does not always mean a loss of the power of attraction, but they are, unless arrested in time, the first step toward that disaster.

That beauty of a very high order may exist without youth no one will deny, but youth is an additional charm and is an asset not to be despised by the woman who has her own way to make in the world or who wishes to queen it in society.

To prevent wrinkles never allow the muscles of the face to become sagged. To keep the facial muscles firm and taut is the secret of a smooth, unlined face, and to do this they must be gently exercised.

Gentle massage given to the principal muscles of the face regularly and systematically will prevent wrinkles far into old age, but (and here a word of warning must be given to the energetic amateur beauty doctor) the massage must be gentle. Any rough treatment is likely to stretch the skin and thus do more harm than good.

As one passes into the thirties there is generally a tendency either to lose flesh or to become heavy, both estates being most undesirable.

The woman whose face is too plump must not use any form of grease or cream for her complexion. She should massage, but with ice. The movements should be carried out with the ice just as they are with skin food.

The thin woman, on the other hand, must give as much and even more attention to massage, but she should employ a good nourishing skin food. Exercise the muscles, sleep as much as possible and smooth out the lines with a pad of chamois leather slightly warmed.

Delicious Green Pepper Dishes

GREEN PEPPERS SAUTE WITH SCRAMBLED EGGS.

Plunge the peppers in very hot water, then rub off the skins with a crash towel. Cut them in halves, cut off the stems, remove the seeds and carefully cut away the rib or division walls. Let the peppers cook a few minutes in a little butter, moisten with a pint of consommé, add a little minced shallot, parsley and paprika and let all cook slowly for half an hour or until done. Have ready some rounds of nicely toasted or fried bread and enough soft scrambled eggs to fill the pepper shells. Dust a little finely minced parsley or a dash of paprika over the top and serve.

STUFFED PEPPERS, BALTIMORE STYLE.

Cut off the tops of the peppers and scoop out the seeds and carefully trim the ribs down without cutting through the peppers. Mix crab meat with almost an equal quantity in weight of fine buttered breadcrumbs, a little salt, a sprinkling of finely minced parsley and enough cream, a few tablespoonsful, to moisten the mixture slightly.

Fill the peppers and cover with buttered crumbs. Set in the oven to brown.

STUFFED PEPPERS A LA CREOLE.

Take two dozen sweet green peppers. Peel them, take off the topmost bit and remove the seeds and division walls. Take a dozen or more red peppers, cut off the stems and take out the seeds. Chop these peppers very fine. Put a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan over the fire. Add half an onion minced fine and brown lightly. Then add the minced peppers mashed to a pulp. Add about a tablespoonful of finely minced ham. As these brown add a clove of garlic, also minced fine. When the peppers are well cooked add half a cup of bread that has been wet in cold water and squeezed thoroughly dry. Season to taste with salt and pepper. When well browned take from the fire and fill the peppers. Cover the top of each with some buttered breadcrumbs. Arrange them in a bake pan and place in the oven and let heat thoroughly through and brown. Serve hot with meats or for a luncheon dish with rice and tomatoes or stewed sweet corn.

THE CORN SLITTER.

ends and held in position, as illustrated. Many persons, too, like to cut their corn from the cob at table, and for them there is an attractive little device called the corn splitter which does the work to perfection. This implement comes both in real and imitation silver. The illustration shows how it is used. Three or four strokes with the splitter will slit every grain on the cob. It does not remove the corn from the cob, but cuts the hulls of every grain. The delicious part of the corn is obtained with a pressure of the teeth, leaving the hulls on the cob.

When making puddings, fritters or any of the delicious dishes made from corn the splitter will be found very useful.

HOOK AND EYE SUGGESTIONS.

When sewing the hooks and eyes on the placket of a skirt sew one pair at the very bottom, fasten them and crush them flat. This will keep the placket from ever tearing or ripping at the end.

On a wash dress the eyes should be sewed on the upper flap and the hooks on the lower instead of the usual fashion. The top flap can then be ironed flat without the little lumps left by ironing over hooks.

In working on heavy materials alterate the hooks and eyes, first an eye, then a hook on one flap, with first a hook and then an eye on the other. This method will hold the dress shut and save the wearer from embarrassment and discomfort.

WORK APRON TO MAKE.

When you purchase a new tub dress made for house wear get enough material to make a work apron of what is left over. Then you will be prepared should an emergency arise. Besides, the apron will fade with the dress and will come in handy for mending later on. Always have it washed at the same time as the dress.

TO PRESERVE TINWARE.

If now tinware is rubbed over with fresh lard and thoroughly heated in the oven before it is used it will never rust, no matter how much it is put in water. For stained tinware borax produces the best results. If a teapot or a coffee-pot has become discolored on the inside boil it in a strong solution of borax.

They Bend, but Don't Break

THE NEW FLEXIBLE CORSETS.

THERE is comfort and smart appearance combined in these new flexible corsets, a thing that has been impossible until this stay recently came upon the market. The "bones" are "spiral steels," so manufactured that they support the figure and at the same time admit of the wearer going through her beauty reduction stunts should she be so inclined, which naturally she won't. Still, there's a heap of satisfaction to the feminine mind to know she can if she wants to. These corsets are not expensive, some models being priced as low as $2.

A FALL THIMBLE PARTY.

If you are thinking of giving a thimble party, this fall here are some good ideas for prize contests.

Give to each guest a five inch patch of sheer linen, each with a jagged tear across the middle. In the corner of the patch stick a needle threaded with bright red cotton. Ten minutes is given to darn the hole, a prize being awarded for the hole most neatly darned and the one most bungled. As the thread is of a bright color it is not easy to make a neat piece of work even for a skillful needlewoman.

Another set of gray linen patches could be passed for a "Chantecler" contest. Each patch should be accompanied by a pencil, a needle and gay cottons. The guests must draw one of the "Chantecler" characters. These must then be embroidered in the gay threads to resemble the special fowl represented.

Another good test is to sew a yard seam with a darning needle threaded with 100 cotton. A given time is allowed, which no one must exceed, and she who gets through in the shortest time is the winner. Only persons who have sewed with a coarse needle and fine thread know the handicaps of this contest.

Much fun is caused by a needle threading race. A No. 12 needle and 120 cotton are used. There is a time limit, and prizes are awarded for the swiftest, most graceful, most awkward and slowest needle threading.

KITCHEN HINTS.

A pamphlet recently issued by the department of agriculture has this to say about the testing of eggs: The method is known as candling and has been familiar for some time, especially among dealers. The room is darkened and the egg held between the eye and the light. The presence of dark spots indicates that the egg is not perfectly fresh. A fresh one presents a translucent, homogeneous appearance. Moreover, there is found in the larger end between the shell and the lining membrane a small air cell, which, of course, is distinctly transparent. In an egg that is not perfectly fresh this space is filled and hence presents the same appearance as the rest of the egg.

OFFICERS APPOINTED

For Girls' Battalion of the Lowell High School

MISS MARY JACQUES

MISS IRENE HOGAN

Miss Irene Hogan and Miss Mary Jaques Head Girls' Battalion—Erson Teeson Temporary Colonel of Boys' Regiment

Erson Teeson has been appointed temporary colonel of the Boys' High school regiment.

PHOTOS © 1910 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 17.—President Taft's home city plans to welcome him in splendid style when he arrives here Sept. 20. He will remain here for several days, and arrangements are being made for a reception to him at the Ohio Valley exposition, which was opened when Colonel Roosevelt was here. From Cincinnati the president will go to Washington for a meeting of his cabinet on Sept. 20. On Oct. 2 he will go to New York, where he will address the National Republican league. After the speech in New York he will return to Beverly, to remain until October 16.

Continued

Hibbard of Lowell and Alonzo G. Walsh of Lowell.

During the early part of the afternoon an excellent concert program was carried out on the common by the Chelmsford brass band.

The baby show was held in Gardner Parker hall and there were numerous entries for the three events. In the handsomest baby class, first premium was won by Ronald Campbell, son of Archibald and Mabel Campbell, 48 West Fifth street, Lowell; second premium was taken by Irving Strickland, son of Alfred J. and Alice A. Strickland of Billerica; Warren Perry, son of Charles H. and Hattie A. Perry of Burlington, captured third place.

The first premium in the "smallest baby class" was won by Francis L. Barnes, son of John and Lucy Barnes, North Billerica; Helen M. Lee, Carlisle; second, Garret N. Hally, son of William and Catherine Hally of North Billerica, third.

Handsomest girl baby won by Irene Lutender, daughter of Henry and Mary Lutender of North Billerica; Genevieve, baby daughter of John and Marion of North Billerica; second, Margaret Walker, daughter of Frank and Frances Walker of North Billerica, third.

The judges were Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald, Mrs. Sydney Bull, J. Harold Dale and Mrs. I. M. Blizard.

There were few entries in the cattle show, but the exceptional appearance of the animals shown made up for the small numbers.

N. K. Jones of Billerica was given first award on a bull calf; A. W. Parsons, West Tewksbury, first on a yearling ox; Harry Waite, Bedford, second on working oxen; E. W. Fittler, Billerica, first on milk cow; N. R. Jones, Billerica, third on milk cow; E. Munsen, Billerica, second on milk cow; E. J. Godfrey, Bedford, first on pair of yearling steers; Chas. Wright, Billerica, first on a heifer; C. H. Kohlrausch, North Billerica, first on Jersey cow.

Ball in Town Hall

The fair came to a close with the ball, which was held in the town hall in the evening. There was a large attendance and music for the dancing was furnished by Hibbard's orchestra.

The awards in the public school contest for corn and beans were made as follows:

Dracut school: Wm. Vincent, 856 beans, third; Richard Udell, 997 beans, third; Doris Fox, 1278, second; George Southworth, 774, third; Stanley R. DAUGHTER ELOPED

Her Mother Believed to be Visiting in Lowell

FRANKLIN, N. H., Sept. 17.—John Miller of this city and Miss Geneva Bishop, a 15-year-old Sanborn girl, figure in an elopement. The girl is a daughter of George L. Bishop. She and her father both work in the Adams Needle company's factory at Hill, yesterday she said she was too ill to work and she remained at home. Her mother is visiting in Lowell.

When her father returned from his factory he found a note from his daughter saying she was to be married and when he found the letter she would be a bride. She did not give the husband's name.

It appears that Miller drove to her house, according to plans previously made, and then the two drove to Franklin. They visited City Clerk Daniel and applied for a marriage license. When he asked Miss Bishop her age she said she was 15 and the license was refused.

Miller and the girl then drove to Tilton, where Town Clerk Willis Morrison was visited. Miller applied for the license and gave his residence as Tilton. He gave the age of his bride-elect as 16, and as this is the legal limit in New Hampshire the license was granted. Miller and Miss Bishop went at once to the Methodist Episcopal parsonage in Tilton and were married by Rev. Edwin S. Tasker.

They then drove away and have not since been located. In her note to her father Miss Bishop said that she would write and send him her address later.

Miller is 20 years old. He has been employed in the Excelsior mill, keeps a horse and carriage. Mr. Bishop had known him only about six weeks. Mr. Bishop is exceedingly angry at the elopement. The girl is tall and would easily pass for 18 years.

Mr. Bishop said yesterday that the only places in the state that they could legally obtain a marriage license would be Franklin or Sanborn and he had notified the town clerk of Sanborn not to grant a license. Miller, by claiming to live in Tilton, three miles from Franklin, was able to secure the necessary papers.

Miller had another adventure in the matrimonial line some months ago, when he secured a license to marry a Franklin young woman and engaged the minister to perform the ceremony. The girl's parents learned of the matter and refused to allow the marriage to take place. Miller never used the license.

MATRIMONIAL

Rev. A. Ferdinand Travis of New York and Dr. Marguerite A. Willey, a physician of Back Bay, Boston, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the First Congregational church in Winthrop by Rev. Alexander L. McKenich, pastor of the church. The bridegroom is a graduate of Harvard, '94, and is the spiritual director of the Twenty-third street Y. M. C. A. of New York. Miss Nellie B. Hill of Springfield was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were the Misses Arlene and Evelyn Atkins of Florence, John Travis of Natick, a brother of the bride, officiated at the organ during the wedding. The ushers were A. Robie Willey, brother of the bride; Fred L. Atkins, Miner Penn and Melville Barnard. A reception at Young's Hotel, Winthrop, followed the ceremony.

MAN ATTEMPTED TO HANG HIMSELF

ARLINGTON, Sept. 17.—John Guyot, who says he is 40 years old and that his home is in Westford, attempted to hang himself in the police station here at 8:15 last evening. He had been arrested by Patrolman Garrett Barry at Arlington Heights about 5 o'clock on a charge of drunkenness, and was brought to the police station with considerable difficulty.

At 8:15, Lieut. Daniel N. Hooley, who is in charge of the station at night, heard an unusual noise from the cell in which the man had been confined and running to investigate, found him hanging from the door of the cell by a rope which he had made from his undershirt. With the assistance of Edwin S. Farmer, who was in the station at the time, Lieut. Hooley cut the man down. It was revived before the arrival of the doctor.

THE POLICE BOARD

Give Hearing on Charges Against Two Officers

The board of police met in special session last night and gave hearings to Special Officer John J. Grady and Patrolman Bartholomew Kane, against whom charges had been preferred. The complaint against Special Officer Grady was dismissed while that against the regular patrolman was taken under advisement.

Special Officer Grady's case was the first taken up, the complainant being Francis Quinn, who represents property in Sawtelle place, off School street. Mr. Grady was represented by Lawyer James H. Carmichael and entered a plea of not guilty to the charges. The prosecution was conducted by Lawyer John A. Gately.

Mr. Quinn, the complainant, stated that he had received numerous complaints from his tenants about alleged abuses by Officer Grady. Some of them threatened to move from the neighborhood unless the officer was removed. Witness thought that on some of the occasions when he had seen Grady the latter was under the influence of liquor. The testimony of most of the others was similar.

Among those who related stories quite in contradiction to what the previous witnesses had told. The complaint was immediately dismissed at the conclusion of the case. The board evidently felt that the officer merely tried to repress disorder in the streets.

The board dismissed the complaint after a brief consideration of the facts. Patrolman Bartholomew Kane entered a plea of guilty to a complaint charging him with improperly retreating his route on the night of Sept. 10. Capt. Atkinson told of receiving a telephone call from the patrolman early

PRESIDENT TAFT

Says He is Ready to Take a Renomination

BEVERLY, Sept. 17.—The publication of a story in certain newspapers yesterday afternoon purporting to come from Beverly, and announcing that President Taft had decided to step aside as a presidential candidate in 1912 to make way for Col. Theodore Roosevelt, brought many inquiries yesterday. For a time an official denial was considered, but it was decided not to dignify the story, which is reported to have been without any foundation whatever, with a statement. It can be stated that there has been no change in President Taft's attitude toward a second term since he told a number of friends a few months ago that he would accept a second nomination if his party desired to tender it to him and if that portion of the American people represented by his party seemed to want him. The president, it is said, is not considering his chances for a second term one way or the other at this time. From the first he has said that he would devote himself to carrying out as nearly as possible the pledges of the platform on which he was elected for a four-year term.

Mr. Taft, it is pointed out, does not know how to play politics, and he has been quoted as saying that he would not do so if he could. The fact that he has often in his speeches referred to the fact that he has only the remainder of his present term to serve means, it is stated here, that Mr. Taft does not feel that he can nominate himself and that he will not make a political bid for re-nomination.

If at the end of his term his party feels he has been true to his trust and has carried out its pledges insofar as he possibly could, it no doubt would be very gratifying to the president to have his administration endorsed. That, he feels, is for the country and his party to decide, not himself.

Beverly's busy season is about at an end. Sen. Norton left yesterday to pay a flying visit to his family. The president starts for Cincinnati Sunday night. Mr. Norton will join the party at New Haven.

Graham-White, the English aviator, called on the president at Burgess point yesterday afternoon.

SUNSETS SHINE

Held Successful Dancing Party Last Night

Associate hall was the scene last evening of a very pretty dancing party, the affair being the third annual social of the Sunset campers. That this organization has made many friends and attained wide popularity during its season was attested last evening, for when the affair started, one of the largest crowds that ever assembled in the hall was present. Though the crowd was large, dancing was quite comfortable and all present thoroughly enjoyed the program furnished.

The affair opened at 8 o'clock. A concert program was given by Kittredge's orchestra. At 8:30 o'clock dancing was started and continued until midnight.

JAMES FORSYTHE
Floor Director

When the strains of the last waltz had faded away all pronounced it a grand success and were loud in their praise for the officers who had charge of the affair.

James Burns acted as general manager and he filled the position in a most acceptable manner. He was ably assisted by the following:

Asst. general manager, Marnie Roach; floor director, James Forsythe; asst. floor director, Theresa Murphy; chief aid, Ed. McInerney; asst. chief aid, Alice O'Neill; aids, John McKinley, Michael Kelley, John Conway, Thomas McDermott, George Moore, Ralph Cote, George Sargent, Andrew McGuire, James McInerney, Daniel Bourke, Thomas Conway, Louise Kivlan, Maude Curley, Marnie Hetu, May Cawley, Josie Hennessey, Gertrude Reed, Mary McCarthy, Margaret Kelley, Anna Boyle, Katherine Nagle, Lena Kelley, Margaret Kough, Jennie McGrath; treasurer, John Breen.

NOT A CANDIDATE

LUCIUS TUTTLE WILL NOT RUN FOR PUBLIC OFFICE

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Lucius Tuttle, who has just retired from the presidency of the B. & M. railroad, last night told a reporter that nothing would induce him to enter any contest for a public office. This statement was made over the telephone from Mr. Tuttle's summer home at Magnolia.

Thursday a representative of the railroad unions in this state asked Mr. Tuttle to become a candidate for governor this fall. Mr. Tuttle's reply is as follows:

"I have carefully considered this matter and nothing would induce me to enter a contest for any public office, even if I knew in advance that I should be unanimously elected. I have no desire to enter politics in any way whatever."

UP TO THE CABINET

To Decide Whether Ballinger Will Remain or Not

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Whether Richard A. Ballinger's resignation as secretary of the interior will follow immediately upon the meeting of the cabinet September 26, to attend which he is now en route from Seattle; or whether he will retain his position indefinitely—at least until after the delivery to congress of reports of the committee which investigated his stewardship of the public domain—depends now on the attitude of his cabinet associates.

Mr. Ballinger is coming to Washington, his friends here insist, wholly unconscious of any act on his part either of commission or of omission for which he should be condemned, and has determined to force his chief and his official colleagues to be in effect his judges. If they concur in the view at present attributed to Mr. Taft that the accused secretary shall be sustained as an innocent and persecuted man, he will retain his position; if they fail so to back him up he will resign forthwith. That this, in substance, is Mr. Ballinger's present position, was learned here yesterday upon authority hardly to be questioned.

At the first meeting of the cabinet after the summer recess, Secretary of War Dickinson, the democratic member, will not have returned from the Philippines and will therefore be saved the embarrassment of participation in what is regarded largely as a problem of republican policy. The meeting is expected to last three days and the president expects to clear up a number of important matters; but it will surprise nobody here if the Ballinger case occupies a large part of the time.

Rumors have been constant and decidedly definite during the past few days that Mr. Ballinger's resignation would be one of the first developments of the cabinet meeting; but his friends, including his associates in the interior department, have refused to believe that he would retire "under fire," and have cited his oft-repeated declaration to the contrary, and the recent statement attributed to him, that he would resign only on the specific request of the president. But some of these yesterday admitted that they and the secretary were alive to the fact that the turmoil and uncertainty in which the protracted controversy has plunged the department must soon be abated unless the important branch of the public service is to become hopelessly demoralized.

Nobody here doubts that a majority—all but one of the republican members—of the so-called Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee will sustain Secretary Ballinger in their report to congress. The views of that majority, which consists of Senators Nelson, Sutherland, Root and Flint and Representatives McCall of Massachusetts, Olinde of Pennsylvania and Dewar of Michigan to that effect are well known; but Secretary Ballinger and his partisans here were greatly disappointed that the absence of Senators Root and Flint from Minneapolis left the pro-Ballinger portion of the committee in the minority and permitted the democrats and the insurgent republican members to put forth reports condemning him, which for many weeks will stand before the country as the true findings of the investigating committee, whereas he had relied on the majority for a vindication.

It is this failure of the committee to take final action which, it is said, has determined Secretary Ballinger's course. It was said here yesterday by a close friend of the secretary that had the majority of the committee been ready to report at the Minneapolis meeting, he would then have tendered his resignation to the president and urged its acceptance on the ground that the discussions to which he has been a party were detrimental to the public interest. When the committee failed at Minneapolis to take action as a whole, and when there was no quorum at the subsequent meeting in Chicago, it became apparent that no decision could be looked for practically for several months.

This situation is said to have convinced Mr. Ballinger that his position, despite the continued support of the president, has become untenable. Unable as he sees it to resign as either vindicated or condemned by the committee, he has decided, it is said, to demand of his superior and his cabinet associates either vindication or condemnation.

Several days ago it was announced that Secretary Ballinger would arrive here September 21. He left his home in Seattle, Thursday, however, and will reach Washington several days in advance of the cabinet session. His purpose in thus expediting his return is believed to be to consult with his immediate subordinates and to gain their assistance in preparing for his demand from the cabinet of the "show down."

SUPREME COURT

Will Decide Matter of Closing Roads

The Lowell Automobile club is desirous of having the International Grand Prix race here next September, but before going ahead with plans is determined to find out how it stands relative to closing the roads for the race.

William H. Wilson, attorney for the club, is preparing to go before the supreme court relative to the right of the legislature to give the city of Lowell the privilege to close its roads during certain hours of certain days. Edward J. Tierney will appear against him, contending that the legislature has not the right to do this. Until some decision is handed down on the question the governors of the automobile club will take no definite action concerning the plan to have the most noted auto drivers in the world compete here.

AGED PASTOR

REV. DWIGHT SPENCER OF NORTH ADAMS IS DEAD

NORTH ADAMS, Sept. 17.—Rev. Dwight Spencer, 83 years old, died at the home of his son, Rev. J. H. Spencer of Church street, yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock after a short illness. He had been in his usual health up to about three weeks ago, when he began to fail, and because of his age the end came quickly.

He was a Baptist minister and his last charge was the Baptist church in Cheshire, to which place he went March 2, 1905.

Mr. Spencer was born in Mansfield, Conn. His early life was passed on a farm and in teaching schools in the winter. In 1851 he moved to Brooklyn, where he worked for a year as a bookkeeper and later entered business for himself.

In November, 1851, he married Miss

His active religious life began in February, 1851, when he became a Sunday school worker in the tenement district of Brooklyn. He was ordained a Baptist minister in 1853. He worked in different southern cities during the war and in August, 1869, went to Fairhaven, Vt., and was ordained as Baptist minister of the church of that place.

At the close of his pastorate there he went to Salt Lake City, Utah, under appointment of the American Baptist home mission society as superintendent of missions for the Rocky Mountain district, which embraced four states.

After his return from the west he received several degrees from various colleges.

He is survived by four children, Julius D. Spencer of New York, Mrs. John

CHIMNEY FIRE

Called Firemen to West Fifth Street

An alarm from box 232 at 9:02 o'clock this morning summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze on the roof of a building at 32 West Fifth street belonging to Mrs. Jennie Cram. The fire was caused by a spark from a chimney and was speedily extinguished by the firemen. The damage was slight.

GRATEFUL MOTHER TELLS OF LITTLE SON'S SUFFERING

With Sores All Over Head, on Neck and Face. Cries Kept Parents Awake Through Long Nights. Hands in Gloves to Prevent Scratching. Used Cuticura Remedies. Cured in Less than Three Weeks.

As a grateful mother, I feel it my duty to thank you for the cure of my little son who was afflicted for about eight months with sores all over his head, back of his neck and nearly all his face. We tried all kinds of remedies without any relief. We even employed a good physician and I am sure he tried his very best to cure my poor suffering little boy. But, alas! instead of getting better he went for the worse. His head was literally covered with sores and ugly sores and his cries kept us awake throughout the long night. I had to keep his hands in gloves to prevent his scratching his head, as he was doubtless suffering from a burning and itching sensation and was constantly trying to put his hands where it hurt.

At last when he was about three years old, we saw an advertisement of Cuticura and I decided to try the virtues of the Cuticura Remedies. I bought one cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. I used them according to directions and I am happy to tell you the little sufferer was cured in less than three weeks. This was over a year ago and now his head is covered with a fine growth of luxuriant hair. Strange to say, all those unsightly sores did not even leave a scar.

RUMORS OF FRAUDS

In the Weighing of Meat in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Sept. 17.—There was even more than customary secrecy about the grand jury deliberations for Essex county yesterday, a case in which State Officer Fred F. Flynn was interested being under consideration. A report was that it had to do with alleged frauds in the weighing of meat, with Flynn concerned. The officials as well as witnesses were uncommunicative regarding the case.

Atty. Michael Sughrue of Boston and his associate, Lawyer Chase, were also present in the court house while the grand jury was in session. It is said that they were interested in the prosecution of some case coming before the grand jury. Atty. Sughrue said that he was not at liberty to divulge the nature of his business.

The jury adjourned at 5 o'clock on Monday morning. It was at first thought that the jurors would assemble tomorrow, but this program was changed.

Attorney Michael Sullivan of Salem was at the courthouse yesterday afternoon to have an interview with District Attorney Peters relative to the exceptions in the cases of ex-Mayor William P. White and Geo. B. Smart. The papers are in the district attorney's hands and counsel for the two men, who are in the local house of correction, convicted of conspiracy to effect the removal of Chief Engineer James A. Hamilton of the fire department, is anxious to take the matter up before Judge Schofield at this time of court so the case may reach the supreme court in November, in the event of Judge Schofield overruling them.

AGAINST SUGAR TRUST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—A petition for the dissolution of the so-called sugar trust will be filed in the United States court at New York probably next week. This is an action entirely independent of the indictments which were found some time ago against the American Sugar Refining Co. and some of its officials. It was the subject of the conference in New York yesterday between Attorney General Wickersham and U. S. Attorney Wise.

LINA CAVALIERI TO FIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Counsel Osborn for Lina Cavalieri, the singer, said today that his client proposes to fight for her rights and was coming to this country to see that the pre-nuptial agreement is carried out. Report has it that Chanler's family are willing to settle Bob Chanler's difficulties on the basis of $10,000 cash and an annuity of $5000 a year.

WORLD'S SERIES

MAY BE STARTED ON SUNDAY, OCTOBER 16

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—According to Gary Herrmann, president of the National commission, the meeting to decide the details of the world's series between the Cubs and Athletics will not be called for two weeks at least and in the meantime the "fans" will have to wait for definite information regarding the exact dates and the order of how the games will be played. It is said, however, that the opening day will be Sunday, Oct. 16, and the West Side grounds here the battlefield for the series opener. "I don't care when the world's series commences or where the games are played," declared Charles W. Murphy yesterday. "Naturally we have to look after the players' interests in this matter for they are partners in the receipts. As far as I am concerned, however, they can play the series on a corner lot or anywhere for that matter."

OPENING OF THE SUMMER GARDENS

The carpenters and painters being unable to complete their work, the opening of the Summer Gardens will be postponed until Wednesday, the 21st, when Eddie Tryon, who has leased the top floor of the Mansur Building over Brainerd's, will open what will be known as the Summer Gardens. The idea is taken from Scranton, Pa., where Mr. Tryon spent the past week. The admission will be free. A famous singing orchestra has been engaged for dancing every evening and the charge will be 5c a dance, 7 for 25c. Mr. James Murphy of Boston, formerly of "The Times, the Place and the Girl" Co., will sing Broadway's latest show songs during dancing. Boyle Bros. will erect a mammoth booth where their beverages can be found. A ladies' observation room is being fitted up where ladies who do not care to dance can watch others. A smoking and checking room will also be installed.

ROOSEVELT TO SPEAK

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Theodore Roosevelt left this morning for Syracuse, where he will deliver an address this afternoon at the state fair. The colonel traveled on the private car Oceanic which was attached to train number 63 and left the Grand Central station at 7:45 o'clock. He will return to New York tonight on train number 38 leaving Syracuse at 11:05 o'clock. He is due to reach this city at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

AFTER GOL PHONORS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 17.—While the golf championship of the country was being decided at Brookline today teams from Connecticut and Rhode Island were contesting for Interstate honors on the links of the Agawam Hunt Club. Last year the Rhode Island team was defeated at Hartford by a score of 27 to 13 and the golfers from this state were determined today to make a strong effort to retrieve that defeat.

REGIMENTAL TEAM SHOOT

Members of the rifle teams of Companies C, G and K of the Sixth Regiment, M. V., went to the rifle range at Wakefield, Mass., this afternoon, to practice for positions on the regimental team which is to compete in the shoot to be held at Wakefield next week.

OPERATIC SOPRANO MARRIED

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Miss Edith Delany, the operatic soprano, of Lynn, Mass., and Vincent, De St. Illaire, were married here today.

COLEMAN RESIGNS

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—The resignation of George Coleman, for the past 12 years connected with the Christian Endeavor World as advertising manager and publisher, was announced today to take effect in October. Mr. Coleman has accepted a commission to originate and install a publicity policy for an extensive Boston shoe manufacturing company. As president of the Pilgrim Publicity association of Boston Mr. Coleman is widely known among business men, advertisers and publishers.

FIGHT FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—New York and Chicago will contest this afternoon for the championship of the United Printers' National Baseball league, whose tournament has been in progress throughout the week. The New York printers won the pennant in 1904 but lost it to St. Louis last year. The tournament ends tonight with a program of merry-making.

QUALITY

It's quality that counts; it's quality that makes heat; it's quality that makes the combustion of ninety per cent. of the combustible part of it, leaving a light, clean ash. Lastly, it's quality that lessens your fuel bill—you are not paying for dirt, refuse or unburnable. The Coals I handle, Lackawanna, Susquehanna, White Ash, Reading, Wilkes-Barre and Black Diamond deserve all the good things I and my patrons say for it. A ton will talk as loud as a cannon.
Send in your requirements while business is quiet.

STOCK MARKET

A Rise in the Interborough-Met. Stocks—The advances Were Lost Afterwards—Some Lively Trading During the Day

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Opening dealings in stocks were fairly active and prices showed an advancing tendency. New York Central rose 1 1/2 and U. P. and Baltimore & Ohio substantial fractions. Evansville & Terre Haute sold at an advance of 3/4. Interborough-Met. preferred reacted 1/4 from yesterday's advance and Delaware & Hudson declined 1/4.

Selling orders came into the market after U. P. went up and the active list turned downwards. U. P. lost all of its gain and Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting receded to below yesterday's close. Subsequently the market stiffened. Wabash pfd., Consolidated Gas and Tennessee Copper moved up a point. American Tobacco pfd. and National Enameling lost as much.

The market closed heavy and dull. A moderate show of strength in the general list accompanied a rise in the Interborough-Met. stocks. The advances were partly lost afterwards. American Car pfd declined 1/4.

Clearing House Statement

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $3,463,000 more than the requirements of the 25 per cent reserve rule. This is a decrease of $6,380,000 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

TO CONTEST WILL

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 17.—A suit to contest the will of Mrs. Harriet Thurston, an aged member of the theological organization at Point Loma, of which Mrs. Katharine Tingley is the head, has been begun here.

The suit was filed yesterday by George Patterson, a son of Mrs. Thurston, who died recently at Newburyport, Mass. Charges of undue influence on the part of Mrs. Tingley, to whom Mrs. Thurston bequeathed $150,000, are made the basis of the suit. Mrs. Thurston was 74 years old.

PROFIT OF $9,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—A profit of almost $9,000,000 accrued to the Italian government last year because of the national lottery run under governmental control. The total receipts were nearly $16,500,000, half of which the state paid out in expenses and winnings. The lottery business increased more than $500,000 over the preceding year, according to a report by Consul General Smith at Genoa.

Charles J. Glidden uses Lowell Gas Light product when he goes skyward. He is not a user of Lowell Gas Light Coke, so far as we know. Still it might be well enough for him to know as chairman of the Aviation Contest committee that this same Lowell Gas Light Coke holds the record for endurance, so far as concerns a steady fire. Altitude as measured by thermometer for heat. Accuracy in the matter of control in baking or cooking. Speed so far as a quick fire is concerned. Distance in the matter of how far it will go. All these records it far it will go. In the matter of a gateway test, it gets away with any coke on the market. Clean as a hound's tooth, full weight, all for $4.75 per cinder. Four sizes, Coarse, Broken, Medium and Fine.

HEALTH PROBLEMS

Discussed by the Board of Health Yesterday Afternoon

The Typhoid Epidemic on the Wane - Complaints Come in About Hencoops and Unsaniary Conditions

The board of health held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon and discussed typhoid fever and other things. The meeting was called by Dr. Martin at 5:30 o'clock. The board voted the release of the milk on the farm at North Chelmsford where the trouble started.

A child, four years old, died of typhoid fever in a block at 21 Watson avenue a few days ago. The block is owned by a man named Montferand and he was present at the meeting. Agent Bates spoke of the meeting. Inspector Francis O'Hare said that the tenement was in a filthy condition. After considerable discussion it was voted to buy the matter on the table, and the inspectors will make an inspection of the place today.

Peter Mihopoulos recently bought a milk business from Louis Lampros, 1060 Middlesex street, Dr. Hambroist stated that he had found Mihopoulos' place in bad condition. He said there were no facilities for the steaming of milk. The two chests are dirty and not a fit place to keep milk. He said he found a dry well overflowing with waste water and the milk tank was unclean.

Mihopoulos admitted that he was untrained in the handling of milk. He would then hear the man dump the swill in the henyard. He thought the swill was responsible for the great accumulation of flies.

Mr. Lyons said that he did not feed swill to his hens. He fed only grain.

Mr. Taylor said he never fed his hens anything but grain and in warm weather he cleaned the coops every morning.

A statement signed by 16 residents of the locality, in which they said they did not consider the hencoops to be objectionable, was read. Dr. Martin said the board would consider the situation from the standpoint of health.

If anybody believed the situation warranted other treatment, then the courts could settle the matter. Dr. Huntress said that the main point to be determined as if the hen-coops are breeders of disease.

The board finally recommended that the network of vines and shrubbery be cut away so that the sun could enter. With the understanding that this would be done, the matter was laid on the table.

The Lowell and Lowell General hospitals were granted permits to maintain maternity wards. Inspector Stephen Garrity made his report relative to suggested changes in plumbing at the police station. The changes suggested are in the prison, the old-fashioned plumbing of the cells being considered unsanitary. The board voted to view the cells in question.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Passacon-away tribe of Red Men was held last night, Sachem Albert Stophard presiding. A communication was received from Alexander Gilmore, G. C. R., stating that the great council of Massachusetts convention will be held in Boston, October 27th.

A letter was received from the incoming Great Sachem John W. Converse of Somerville in which he requests all tribes to assist him in making his term of office a successful one.

Chief of Records, Arthur W. Garland gave an interesting account of his trip throughout Canada and Maine and his remarks were well received.

TWO TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 2278 SQUARE FEET OF LAND

AT 42 ALBION STREET, CENTRALVILLE.

On the premises regardless of any condition of the weather I shall offer for sale my two tenement house and about 2278 square feet of land. The house is two and one-half story, has six rooms to each tenement and brings in a yearly rental of about $250. It is in first class shape inside and out. The lot has a good frontage on Albion street, the right to the centre of a concrete passageway, and an area of about 2278 square feet which gives ample yard room, and the lot is all fenced in. Now then, this property is located on the westerly side of the street, just on the rise of the hill, and it is certainly a grand location, for someone who wishes to purchase a two tenement house. As the lot is both high and dry; the house is in first class repair inside and out; handy to schools, churches, and cars, and but 15 minutes' walk from Merrimack square, and for the purpose of moderate means who would occupy one tenement and have the income of the other, it would be a good investment, and for a safe and sound investment, there is nothing better than a two tenement house.

Terms—$250 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off.

By order of JACOB KAPLAN.

IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE SALE OF THE RESIDENCE I shall offer for sale the furniture consisting of parlor suit, carpets, mirrors, iron beds, and general household furniture. Also one station wagon, one Concord wagon, and stable tools.

The tribe voted to hold a class initiation on December 16, and the sachem urged the brothers to try hard to make it a big success.

The degree master, Leonard F. Slovic, stated that the degree staff would endeavor to make the ceremony of adoption, warriors and chiefs agree one of a lasting impression on the candidates.

A committee consisting of Past time this fall for the opening of their Sachems George W. Randall, George F. Sutherland and Frank Riney, were appointed to make arrangements for the celebration of the 24th anniversary which will be held on December 8.

At the close of the next meeting the lot of Haymakers will hold its monthly meeting.

TO BE SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION, THE KAPLAN ESTATE. FINE

RESIDENCE, STABLE AND ABOUT 19,426 SQUARE FEET OF LAND

AT NO. 26 PRINCETON STREET.

Disposing of my business in Lowell some time ago, and having opened a factory in Boston, with a branch in New York I feel that I should reside nearer my business; and save the unnecessary time and expense going to and from each day and am therefore about to take up my residence in Boston. I am fully cognizant of the sacrifice I must make by so doing, but it is my final decision.

The house is a two and one-half story building of 14 rooms, bath, pantry and summer kitchen; has slanted roof, lightning rods, large open piazza on the side; front, side and rear entrances, and is a substantially built and well constructed house in every respect, and is in perfect repair inside and out. On the first floor there is a large hall, drawing room, living room, den, dining room, kitchen, pantry and summer kitchen. On the second floor are two large, airy and well-lighted chambers, and two chambers on the next floor. The interior is in fine repair, is high-studded, has marble mantled fireplace in drawing room and living room, quartered oak floors in dining room and library; all open plumbing; first-class heating plant; excellent closet room; cemented cellar, and taken as a whole, is a spacious and conveniently laid out house.

The stable has two stalls, ample carriage room, coachman's room, and good loft with plenty of room for the storage of hay and grain; this property being situated on the southerly side of Princeton street, at the head of Princeton boulevard, adjoining the Butcher and J. L. Chalfoux residences. The house is set well back from the street, in about the center of the lot, and has driveway leading from the street to the stable.

The lot has a frontage of about 30 feet on Princeton street, runs about 240 feet deep, and contains about 19,426 square feet. There are three full grown maple trees in front of the lot, which afford excellent shade. There are also about 15 fruit-bearing trees of first quality, grape vines, shrubberries, etc. In the rear, making quite an orchard. Now then, this is a good prospect for someone looking for a home, and were it not that my business compels me to take up my residence in Boston, it would not be for sale at any price. So, on the premises, regardless of any conditions of the weather, on the day and time set apart, someone is bound to purchase an ideal home.

Terms: $650 must be paid to the auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off.

By order of JACOB KAPLAN.

IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE SALE OF THE RESIDENCE I shall offer for sale the furniture consisting of parlor suit, carpets, mirrors, iron beds, and general household furniture. Also one station wagon, one Concord wagon, and stable tools.
